A Time In Our Life

"To everything there is a season
And a time to every purpose . . ."
This quote from Holy Scripture
Applies to this important time
When we are students at Pulaski
Learning to live as young adults.
There is a time to enter these great halls,
A time to lose our way,
A time to use locker passes,
A time to forget the combination,
A time to join the crowd at Big Boy's,
A time to study alone at home,
A time to watch a stirring game,
A time to shout "We do so have spirit!,"
A time to read and ponder,
A time to cram in short moments,
A time to eat lunch and laugh,
A time to drop a tray in shame,
A time to snooze in a study hall,
A time to go "up the down staircase,"
A time to have wet hair from swim,
A time to dress up for Honor Day,
A time to be released for vacation, and
A time to leave to go our way.
These things and many more comprise
This very special "time in our life."

Moments – A Time to Share

For every student there were special moments
Brought this year to keep and to cherish, Moments revolving around Pulaski, its people and customs.

Each student at first was just an I.B.M. serial number.

Then, among a thousand faces
Students met old friends and made new friends.
All around a new world opened up,
A kaleidoscope of ideas and interests,
Reflecting Pulaski, each student's pride.
From the very beginning there was "never a dull moment."

The Lettermen's Kick-Off Dance was first on the list
Followed by many a spirit-filled football game.
More pep rallies, held in school and out,
Showed the new feelings of loyal Pulaskians.
Inty Minty still echoed through the halls
As "Marryin' Sam" made his first appearance at Sadie Hawkins.

Homerooms prepared huge baskets of food
Sending them to others in the Thanksgiving spirit.
Post bucket dances pleasantly wound up
Hard fought basketball games
As the class play showed another team effort
To entertain an audience of students, teachers, and parents.

As spring came, dresses were bought and tuxedos borrowed

Finishing the year elegantly with the classic prom.
These moments belong to each student
For this time and all time to remember.

Experiences Enrich Student Life

Student Life spiced the everyday routine of Pulaskians. Special social events such as the class play, the talent show, homecoming, and prom made the school year delectable instead of dull. Styles too were far from drab as students clad in a wide array of fashions could be seen everywhere taking an active part in the community.

Thunderous applause rewarded the many hours spent in rehearsals at the close of the Student Council Talent Show and the Senior Class Play. This year's talent show, called Ramblers Vaudeville '67, consisted of a variety of acts and skits displaying student ability. "The Mouse That Roared," the Senior Class Play, had the audience roaring with laughter right along with it for the entire performance.

No matter where they were seen in the community, whether delivering Thanksgiving baskets, caroling, or working in neighboring businesses, Pulaski students reflected their interest in others. They also showed interest in the latest fads. "Theoretically" there was always someone dressed in a flowered suit, paisley shirt, or fuzzy coat.

Highlighting the romantic events of the year were the homecoming and prom. The 12-0 victory over Bay View made the homecoming dance an appropriate end to a perfect day. Winding up the year, the Junior class disguised the gym as Central Park in keeping with the theme of their prom, "Springtime Carousel."

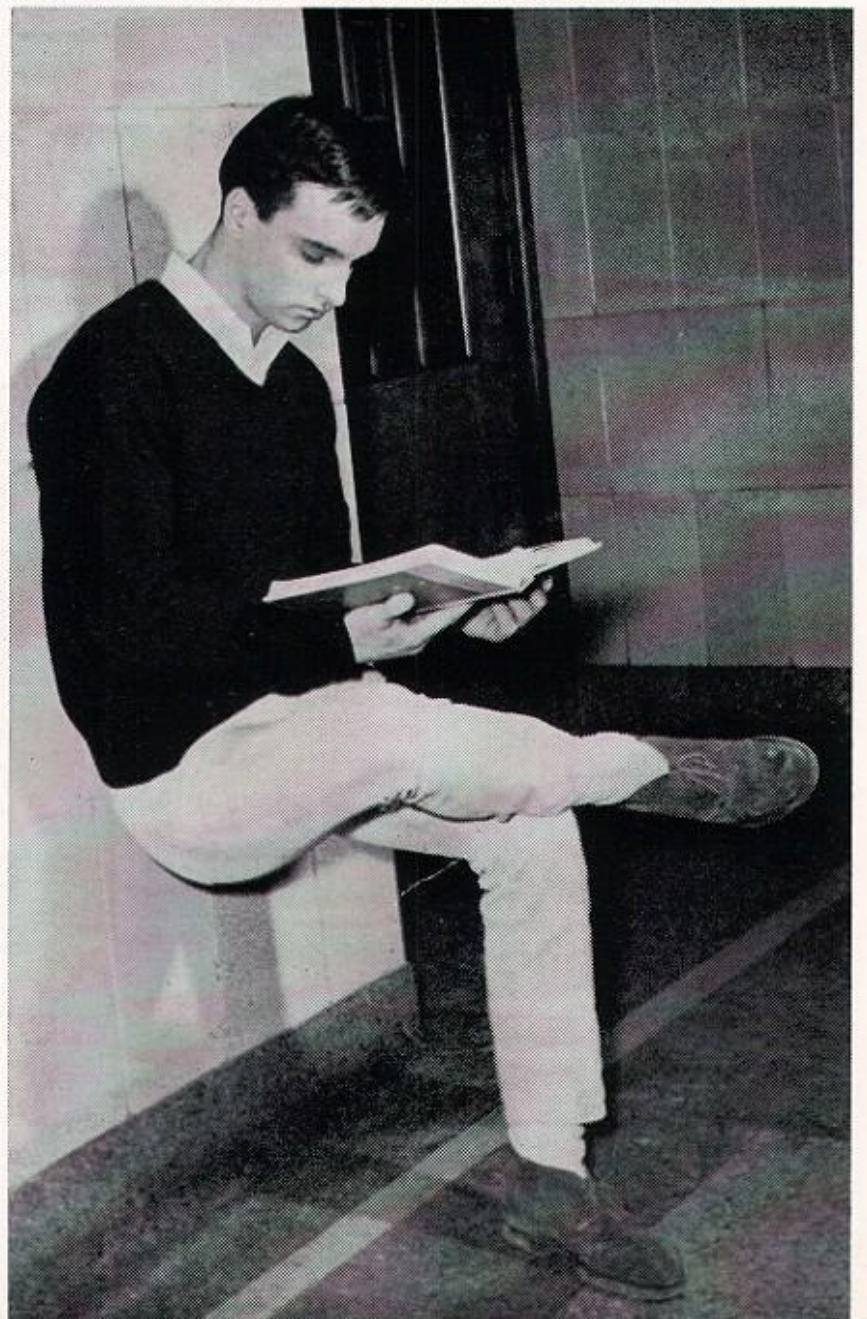

Getting in the Christmas spirit, Betsy Szyszko sprays green paint on a large wreath for the homeroom decorating contest.

Awaiting a surge of hungry Pulaskians at a basketball game, Vicki Chou, Sue Wege, and Mrs. Prushiek sell candy for the AFS.

Engrossed in The Idealist by O'Connor, monitor Tom Kelly proves his profound belief that material objects are all in the mind.

At Brill's, Mr. Malmon shows Steve Schaefer the techniques of arranging an attractive display of merchandise to draw customers.

On the annual Easter Tour, Pulaskians enjoy the towering buildings and exciting pace that are a part of life in New York.

Pulaskians had fun shopping for toys to fill friendship bags for the needy children of war-torn Vietnam.

Success Sweetens Homecoming

Homecoming royalty, Queen Donna Drobac and King Doug Czaplewski, reign over victoriously rejoicing Pulaskians.

Anticipation vibrated throughout Pulaski during the Homecoming week. Floats were built and skits practiced with an ever increasing momentum, while the Rams were busy perfecting old plays and learning new ones. "Jamming the gym" Pulaskians clad in red and blue radiated school spirit. This initial boost to Pulaski's spirits was strengthened by Mr. Harry Max's "Inty, Min'y, Tibbity fig" hex upon the Redcats.

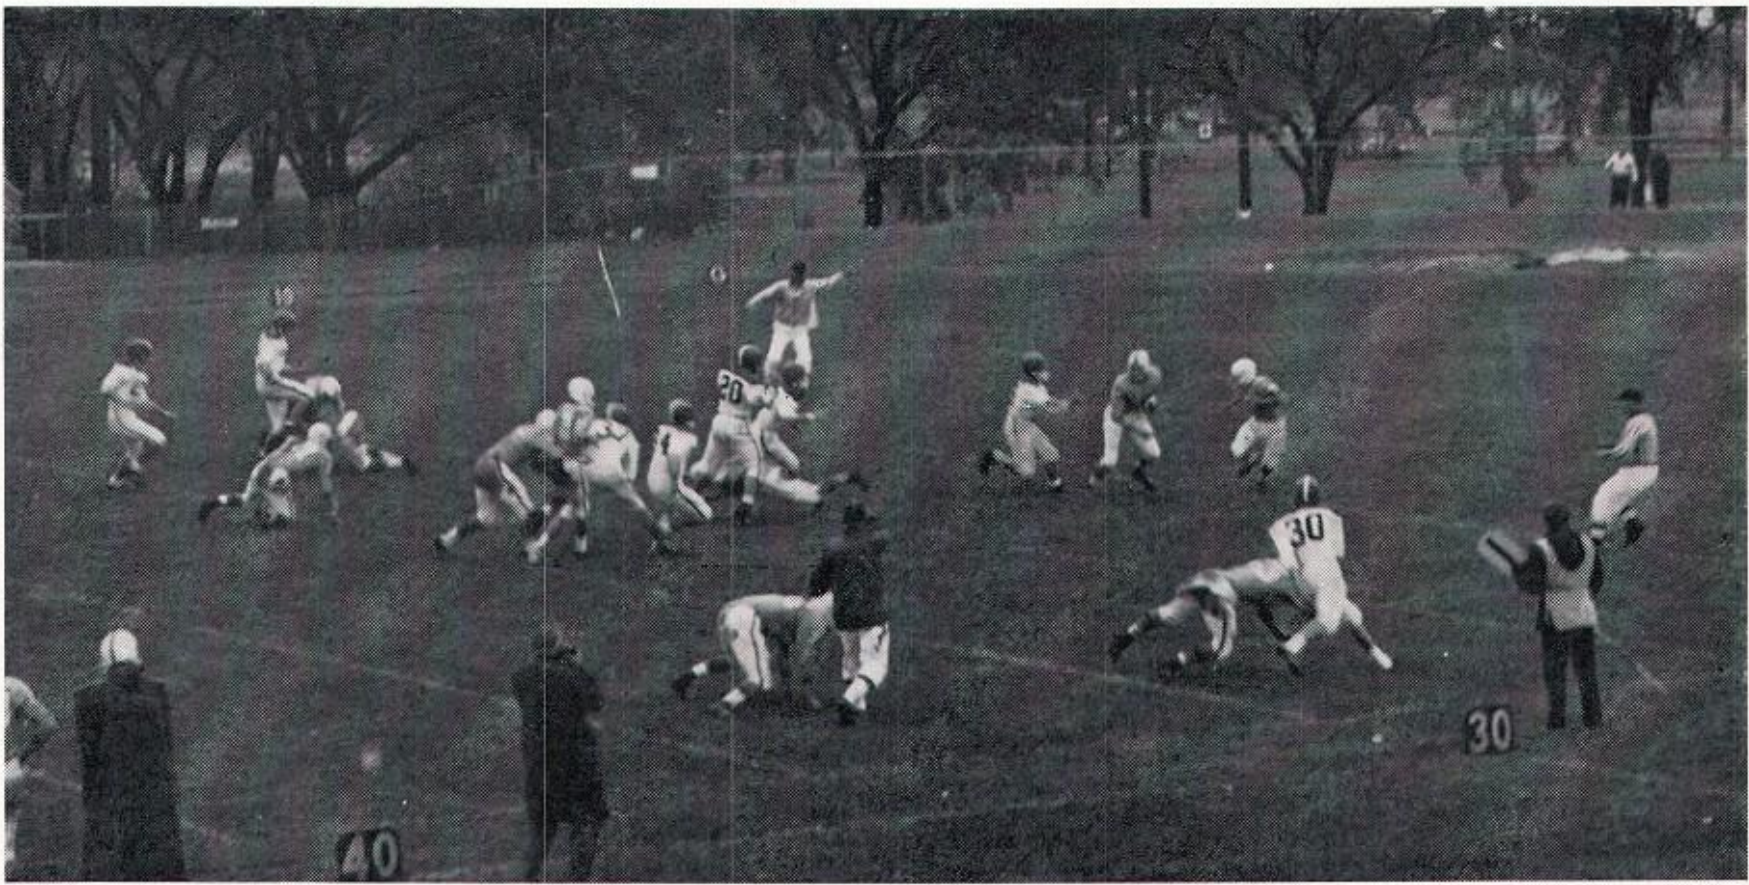

Enthusiasm born at the pep rally grew, and, by "the" day, it had reached a new height. Shakeroots, confetti, cheerleaders, and the senior girls wearing traditional mums added more excitement to the afternoon. To echoes of "Go Rams, beat Bay View," three junior girls escorted a live ram mascot around the field. The presentation of long stemmed roses to the court climaxed the half time program.

With the reality of a 12-0 victory over the Redcats, Pulaskians flooded the field to rip the decorations off the goal posts. As a result of this victory, Pulaski received the wooden football trophy, which has symbolized the friendly competition between the two schools since 1949, for another year.

The Homecoming dance was held Saturday evening. The royal couple, Doug Czaplewski and Donna Drobac, and the court added a regal air to the celebration. With the final strains of music, the Homecoming dance concluded a wonderful week to remember always.

Chris Fiene, Cindy Lee, and Margaret Brelsford parade the ram mascot before the enthusiastic fans at the football game.

Winning the top award for the best homecoming float, Homeroom 122 plus 2 display their creation, "Cream the Redcats."

Football captain of the week, Greg Youngs, receives hearty recognition from the Ram mascot at a pep rally.

Ooops! Gary Hansen takes an unexpected tumble at an early morning goal-post-decorating ceremony for the Homecoming game.

Pulaski Proves the

Mr. Max dons his red and blue cap to add color and enthusiasm to the pep rally by recalling the Spirit of Homecomings Past.

"Spirit of '67"

"Got the spirit? Let's hear it!" And boy we did! Matching the thundering beat of the Pulaski Band, thousands of loyal Pulaskians displayed the school colors of crimson red and navy blue as they participated in this year's many pep rallies, football and basketball games, and other sports and activities. Glorious shakeroos and miniature rams accented every sport event with streaks of colorful enthusiasm. Even those students who did not wear their colors provided plenty of red on their faces as they cheered on fellow Pulaskians.

Yet this school spirit did not appear overnight, nor did it exist just for the brief moments of a sport event. Early in the year, posters for various events popped up, thanks to the more artistic students. The color days gave everyone a chance to prove their loyalty and test their ability to completely enwrap themselves in the two colors. Pep rallies provided cheering practice, and the actual games were the outlet for their enthusiasm. And so, little by little, the Pulaski school spirit developed until it had the muscle to lick any other school. As in past years, this spirit grew from constant exercise—the same exercise that will make it strong for the many new years to come.

Barb Stempski may never win the game, but she does win cheers as she mimicks Coach Dufek at the homecoming pep rally.

As shakeroos wave frantically, a thunderous cheer explodes from loyal fans for another Ram touchdown.

Mr. "Napoleon" Kanitz commands his army of good will soldiers in the distribution of Thanksgiving baskets to needy families.

Pulaski Enters Community Life

Pulaski's young citizens played an important role in the community through their generosity and cooperation. Each homeroom collected and distributed Thanksgiving baskets to less fortunate families. Their appreciation was shown in grateful letters sent to the student body. The Junior Red Cross, too, spread good will by sponsoring a friendship bag drive to provide toys for Vietnamese children. The annual soap drive cheered invalids at the County Institution during Christmas when the choir visited there to distribute the soap as presents.

To further assist the community, twenty Pulaski students took part in the Civil Defense Drill intended to test the emergency facilities of Saint Luke's Hospital. The American Field Service Club started a new adult chapter of their organization which was opened to interested parents of A.F.S. members. The Business Education Department for the first time gave Office Education students a chance to practice what they were taught while again placing interested and capable Distributive Education students on the job with community merchants.

In Saint Luke's Hospital X-Ray Department, Mr. Cichon gives Barbara Derus instructions on typing a medical record.

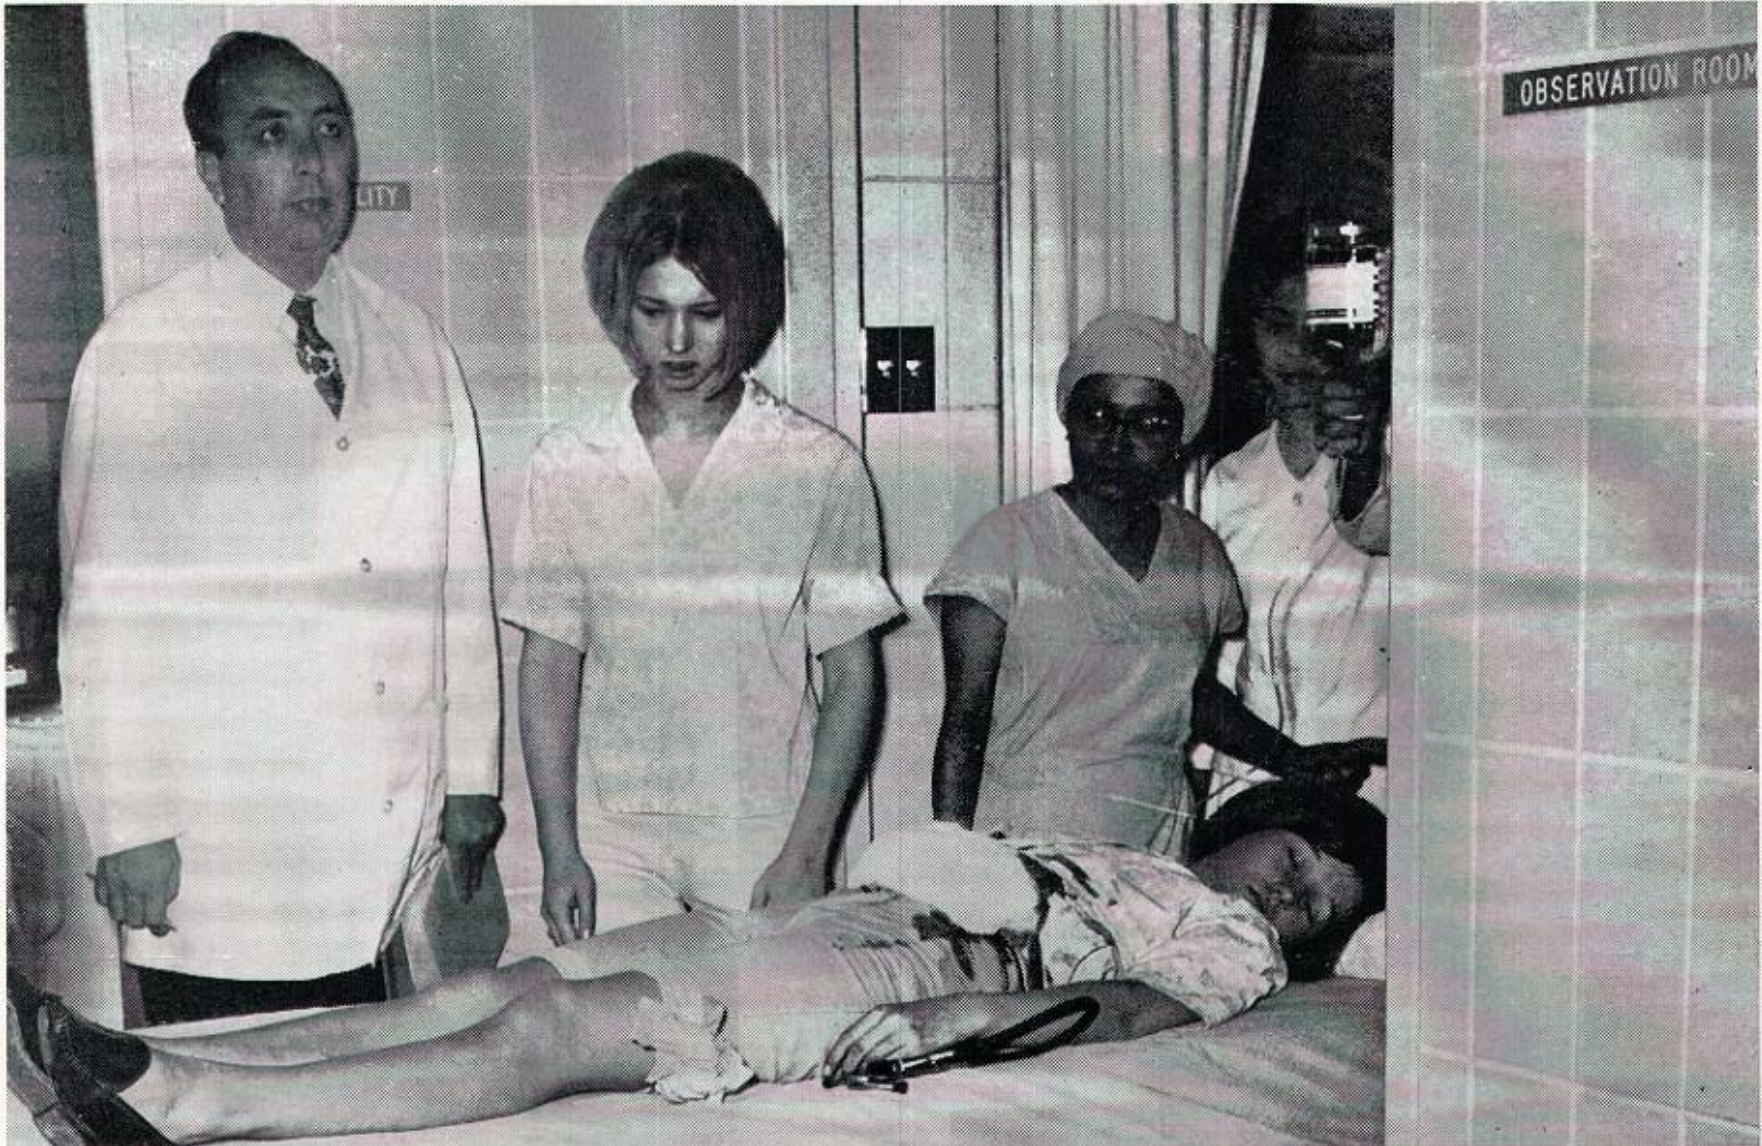

Mrs. Gau, Mrs. Wege, Mrs. Steinke, and Ute Walberg attend a meeting of the adult chapter of the American Field Service.

For members of the Junior Red Cross, Christmas is bringing joy to patients at County Hospital with bars of gaily wrapped soap.

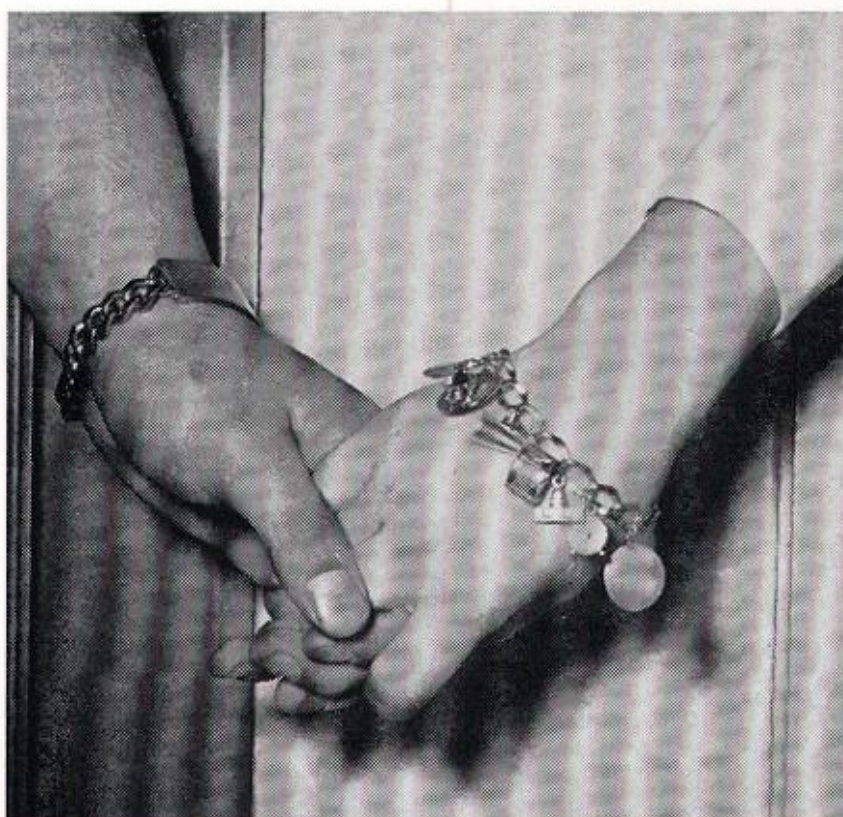

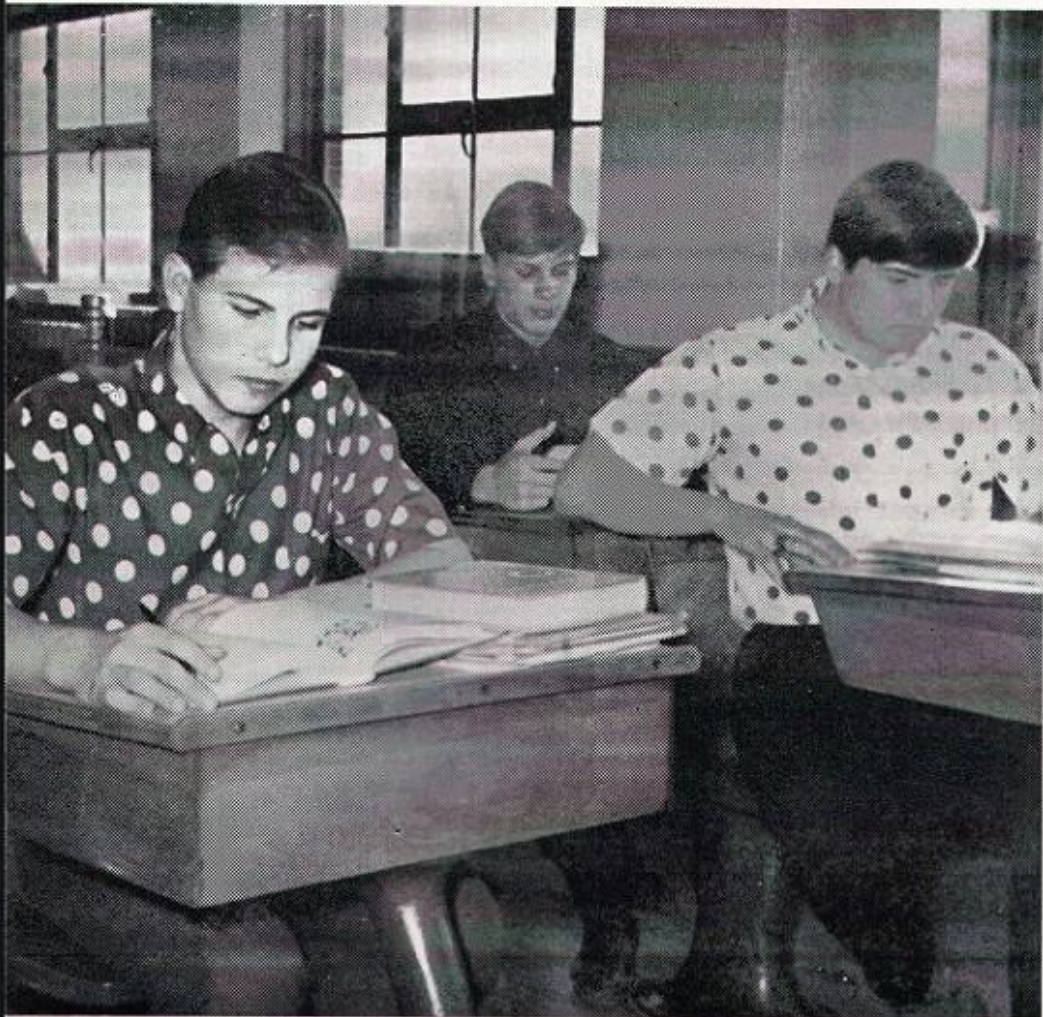

In an emergency drill at St. Luke's hospital, Marcia Danowski seems to have internal injuries as Jane Durski watches concernedly.

Clad in the latest fuzzy headwear, two "sno-bunnies" go to their lockers after a brisk bout with the weather.

Polka dot madness sweeps over the Pulaski campus capturing the fancy of students as evidenced in this classroom shot.

"Cherish is the word" that makes every charm and identification bracelet a symbol of treasured memories.

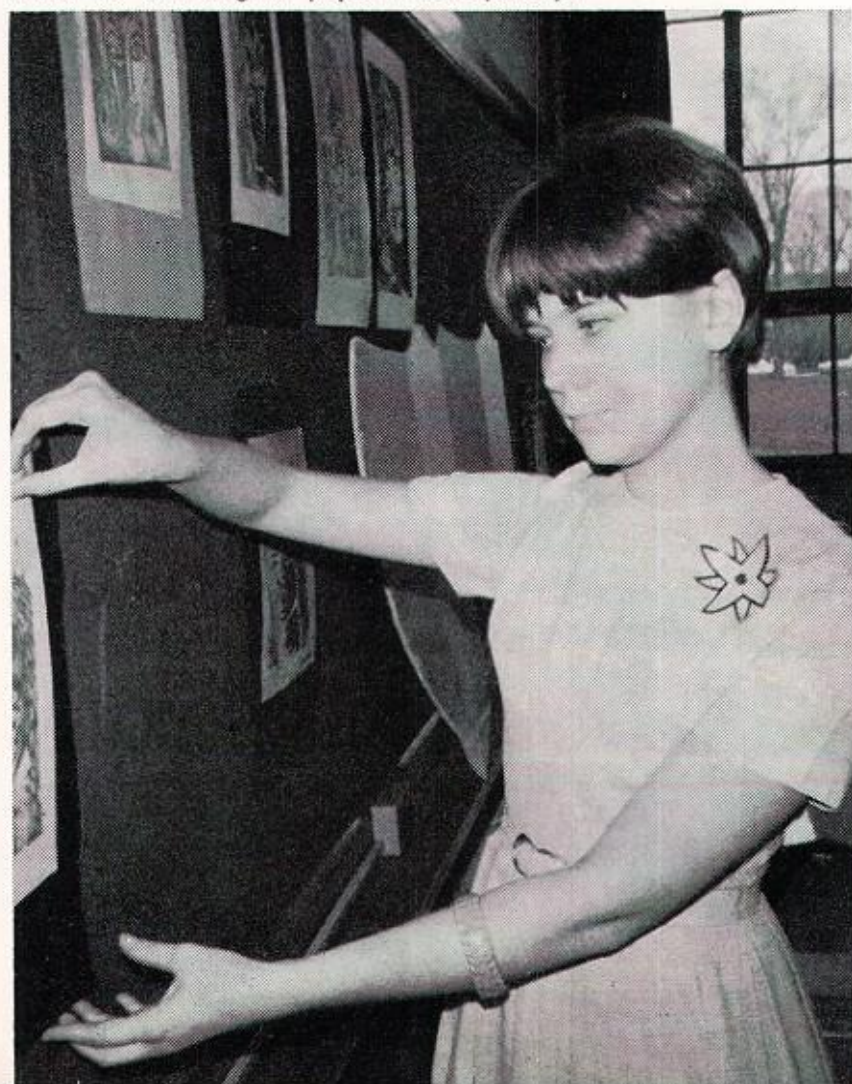

Ready to meet those "April showers," Julie Lindner steps out in the latest spring fashion: a vinyl raincoat and matching scarf.

Pulaski "Ins" Reflect Fads

These two fashion conscious sophomores know that their outfits aren't complete without swinging shoulder strap purses.

One of Pulaski's art students, Mary Richter, uses her artistic talent to create her own original papier mache jewelry.

Fads dictated the fashion picture at Pulaski this year from the football games to the classroom. "This is true!" While cheering the Rams from the stands, Pulaskians sported stylish pants suits, colorful panchos, or furry coats, depending on the weather. Facing another Wisconsin winter, students kept out the wind with fake-fur coats and sheepskin jackets while keeping their heads warm with furry hats and stocking caps, which could be pulled down over the face during extreme blizzards. With the advent of spring, students started to "think green" in an all-out conspiracy to drive the cold weather away. Refusing to let April showers dampen their spirits, they wore fashionable vinyl raincoats. Bright colors were back in the form of paisley or polka-dot shirts and tent dresses.

Pulaskians displayed artistry and individuality in their original creations of papier mache jewelry. Bracelets were "big" with both boys and girls. Boys wore I.D. bracelets while girls showed off keepsakes of happy memories on their charm bracelets. Rings and things like dangling earrings not only accented outfits but also opened lively conversations. Whatever the fad, they added variety to school life and gave a sense of belonging.

Straight from "Grandma Busha's" knitting needles come Christ Reimer's and Daniel Bednar's colorful stocking caps.

Seniors Roar Into Rave Reviews

To the audience's delight, the Senior Class chose "The Mouse That Roared" as their annual play. Adapted by Christopher Sergel from Leonard Wibberly's book, the play was an hilarious spoof of a tiny country which accidentally conquered the world. Mrs. Pauline Stanwitt screened and selected the cast, choosing Linda Nadolny and James Hybicki to play the main characters, Queen Gloriana and Tully Bascom. The cast and production staff spent two months innovating and creating costumes, scenery, and stage props to make the play professionally perfect. After the two evening performances on May 19 and 20, the cast of members felt that they were successful.

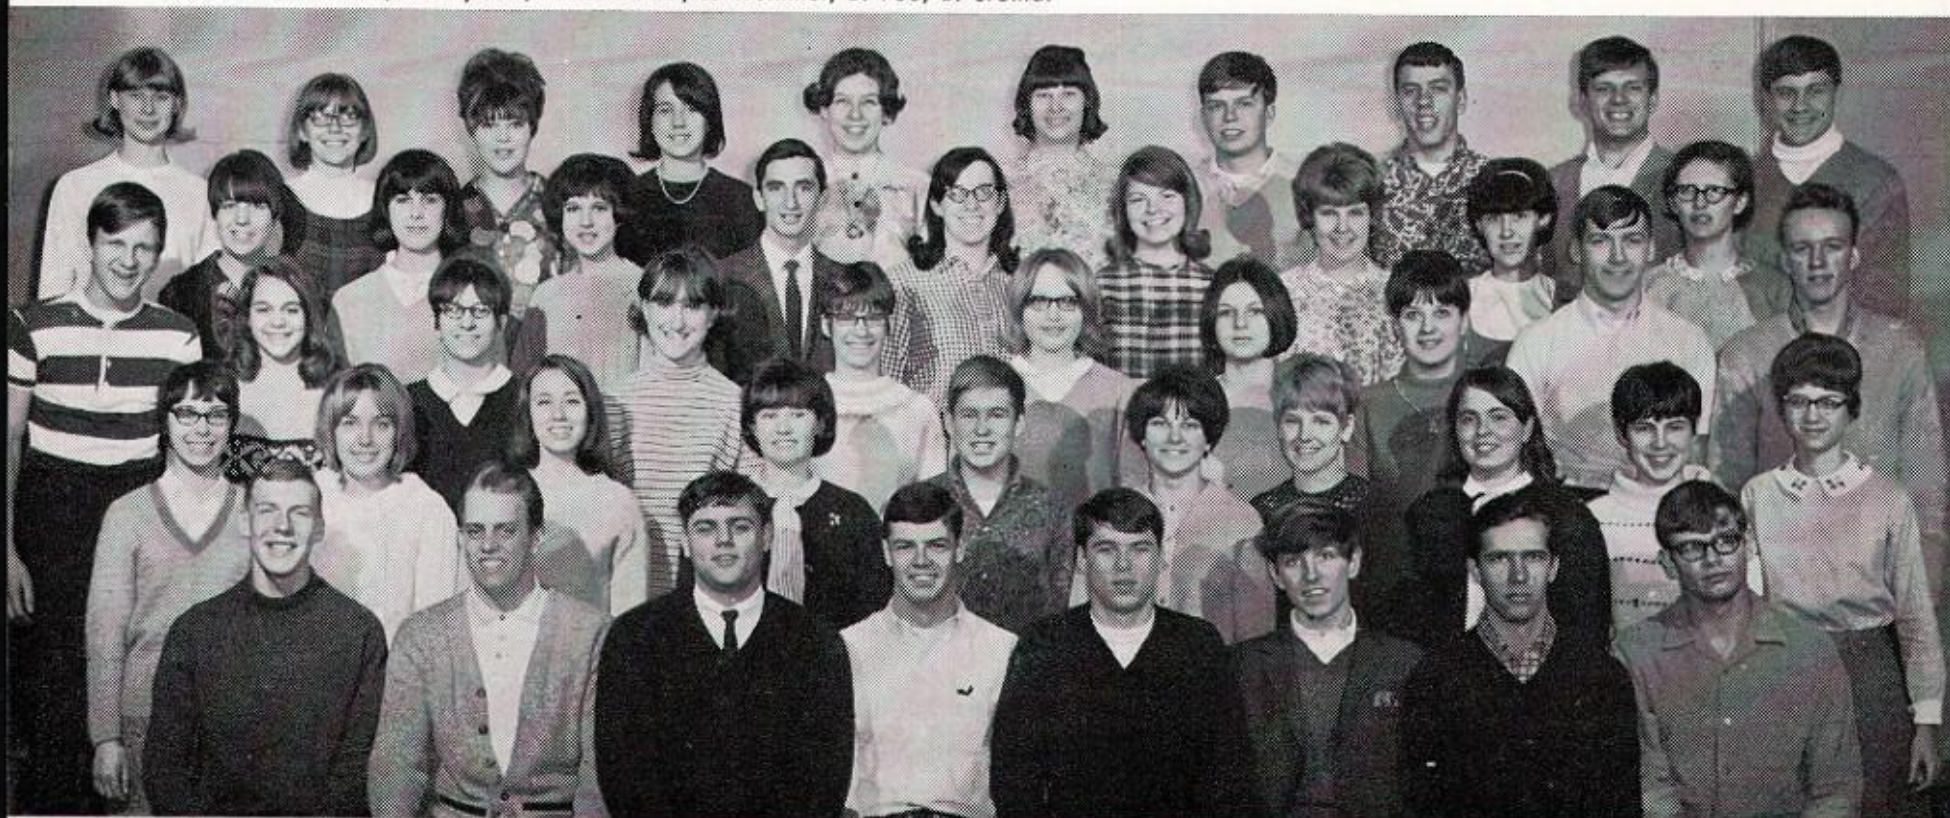

In addition to the hours of memorizing and rehearsing by the cast, much time was spent by the stage crew on lighting and sound effects. The make-up crew, while remaining behind the scenes and out of the limelight, did much to add to the reality of the characters portrayed.

Ramblers Display Hidden Talents

Spinning and twirling like a Whirling Dervish, Karen Casarz dances to delight the audience at the talent show.

The flame of Vaudeville was briefly rekindled on the night of April 15 when the Student Council staged their annual variety show. Via a runway, footlights, and various old time trappings the stage was transformed into a vaudeville theater of years past. Under the direction of Andie Grundmanis and Mr. Raymond Callenberg, hoofers, songstresses, and slapstick comics all paraded across the stage, giving the audience an ample sampling of entertainment from the nostalgic 20's.

The Variety Show was aptly named, for indeed the acts were greatly diversified. A barbershop quartet blended their voices in tribute to the songs grandpa loved best, while folksingers sang out tunes of inspiration to the accompaniment of strummed guitars. For the male segment of the audience an exotic dancer was provided complete with shimmering beads and snaky movements. The Rocking Rams, the Pulaski stage band, provided musical interludes throughout the show. For the younger generation it was a chance to experience the spirit of ragtime; for the old . . . a time to reminisce.

Papa should only know that little Georgene Trapp is up to one of her mischievous pranks hiding the bottom of his bucket.

Two Rocking Rams have learned to cope with the glaring lights of stardom. Hey guys, can you read the music through the shades?

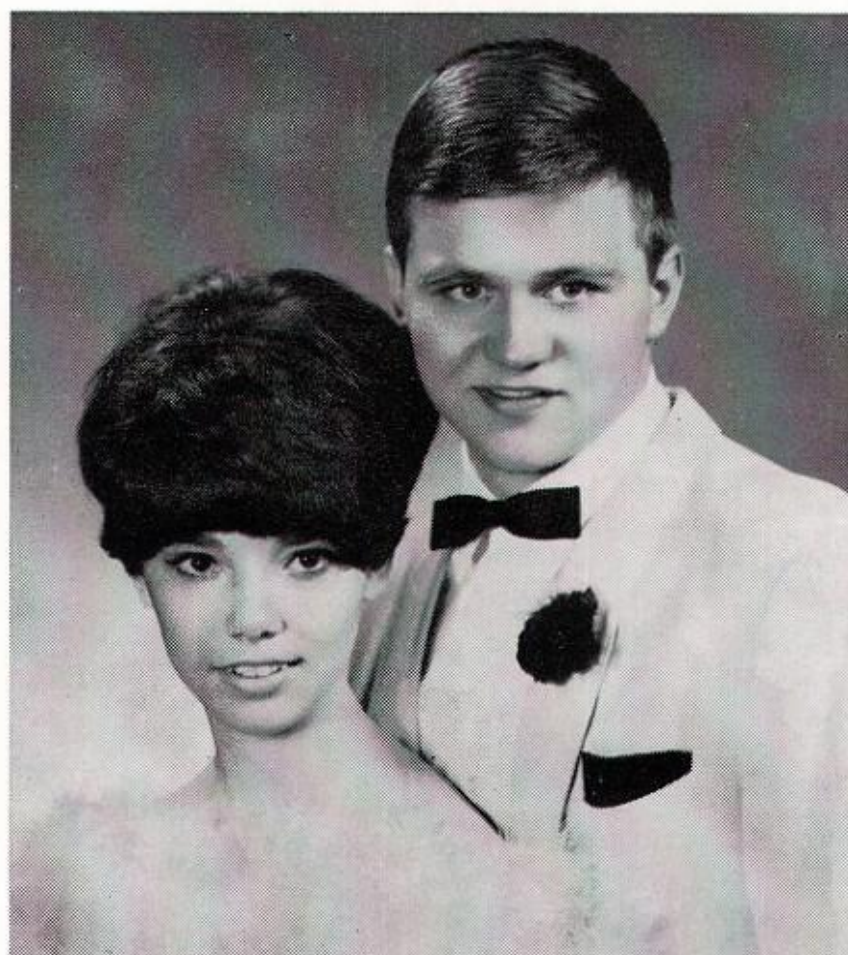

Putting other work aside, Andie Grundmanis, Mr. Calenberg, and Linda Saje confer on the production of the Variety Show.

"How Sweet It Is" as Ann Christ entrances the audience with her stunning rendition of "Our Day Will Come."

Hearts Spin in "Springtime Carousel"

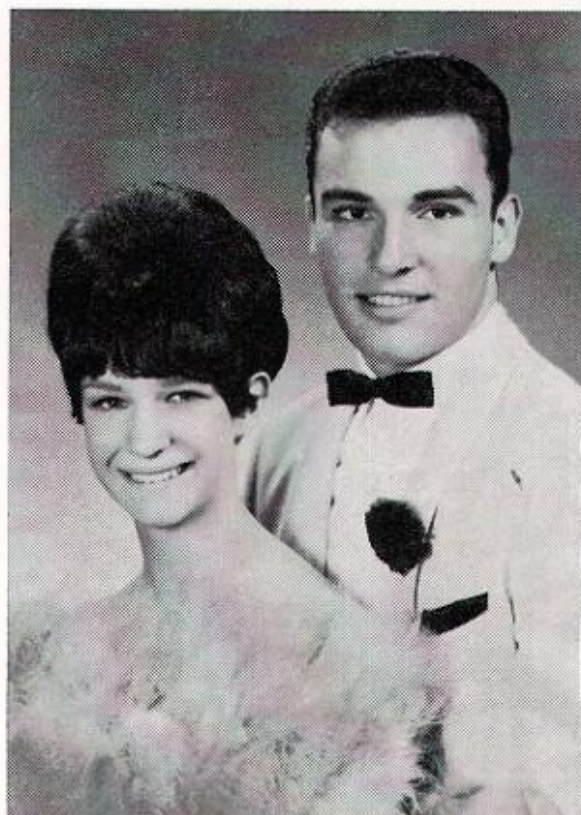

King John Wawrzonskowski
Queen Kathleen Kesich

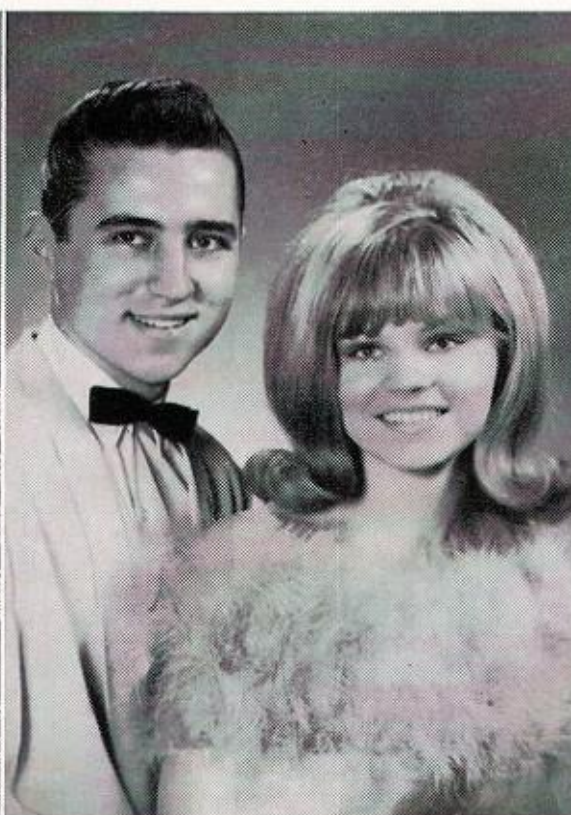

Bright colored balloons, grass, trees, and benches transformed the gym into a Gay '90's Park highlighted by a carousel. Under the direction of Mr. Emanuel Tomasello, Miss Suzan Braun, and the Junior Prom Planning Committee, Mr. Peter Boyajian, with able assistance of the Student Art League, furnished an outdoor motif complete with an old-fashioned band stand.

"Carousel" whirled merrily as couples danced upon the green and enjoyed refreshments. Suddenly, the air was filled with a buzzing of voices, and King John Wawrzonskowski was presented with his lady, Queen Kathleen Kesich, after which each royal couple was introduced in turn and participated in the Grand March through the park. The rolling cavalcade led this year to the post prom sponsored for the first time by Allen Bradley Co., where sleepy-eyed couples partook of still more entertainment, refreshments, and food. A fond good night was bade to all, with thought of beginning later the same morning and traveling to a choice spot to end the week-end with a picnic.

Underclass

Years – A Time to Unfold

Entering the long corridors for the first time
Was an exciting adventure.

Sophomores went on safaris for hidden rooms
While helpful Seniors offered them misinformation.

This was a time to learn a new way of life,
A time to accept high school life with all its confusions

And to be accepted as a person by teachers and friends.

This was also a time of great decisions:

Was it worthwhile to buy a bubbler pass?

Where is the best place to sit in the cafeteria?

Will two bathing caps keep hair dry from swim?

What clubs or sports are there to join?

Juniors who had already weathered sophomores' struggles

Were used to the fast pace of Pulaski

And ready to meet its challenges.

They were tested to see how they compared to other Juniors;

They were tested to see if they deserved National Merit,

And they were tested to see if they would be Seniors.

More difficult classes focused on developing their minds

As strenuous gym courses kept them physically fit.

Juniors willingly took time out to wait in long lines

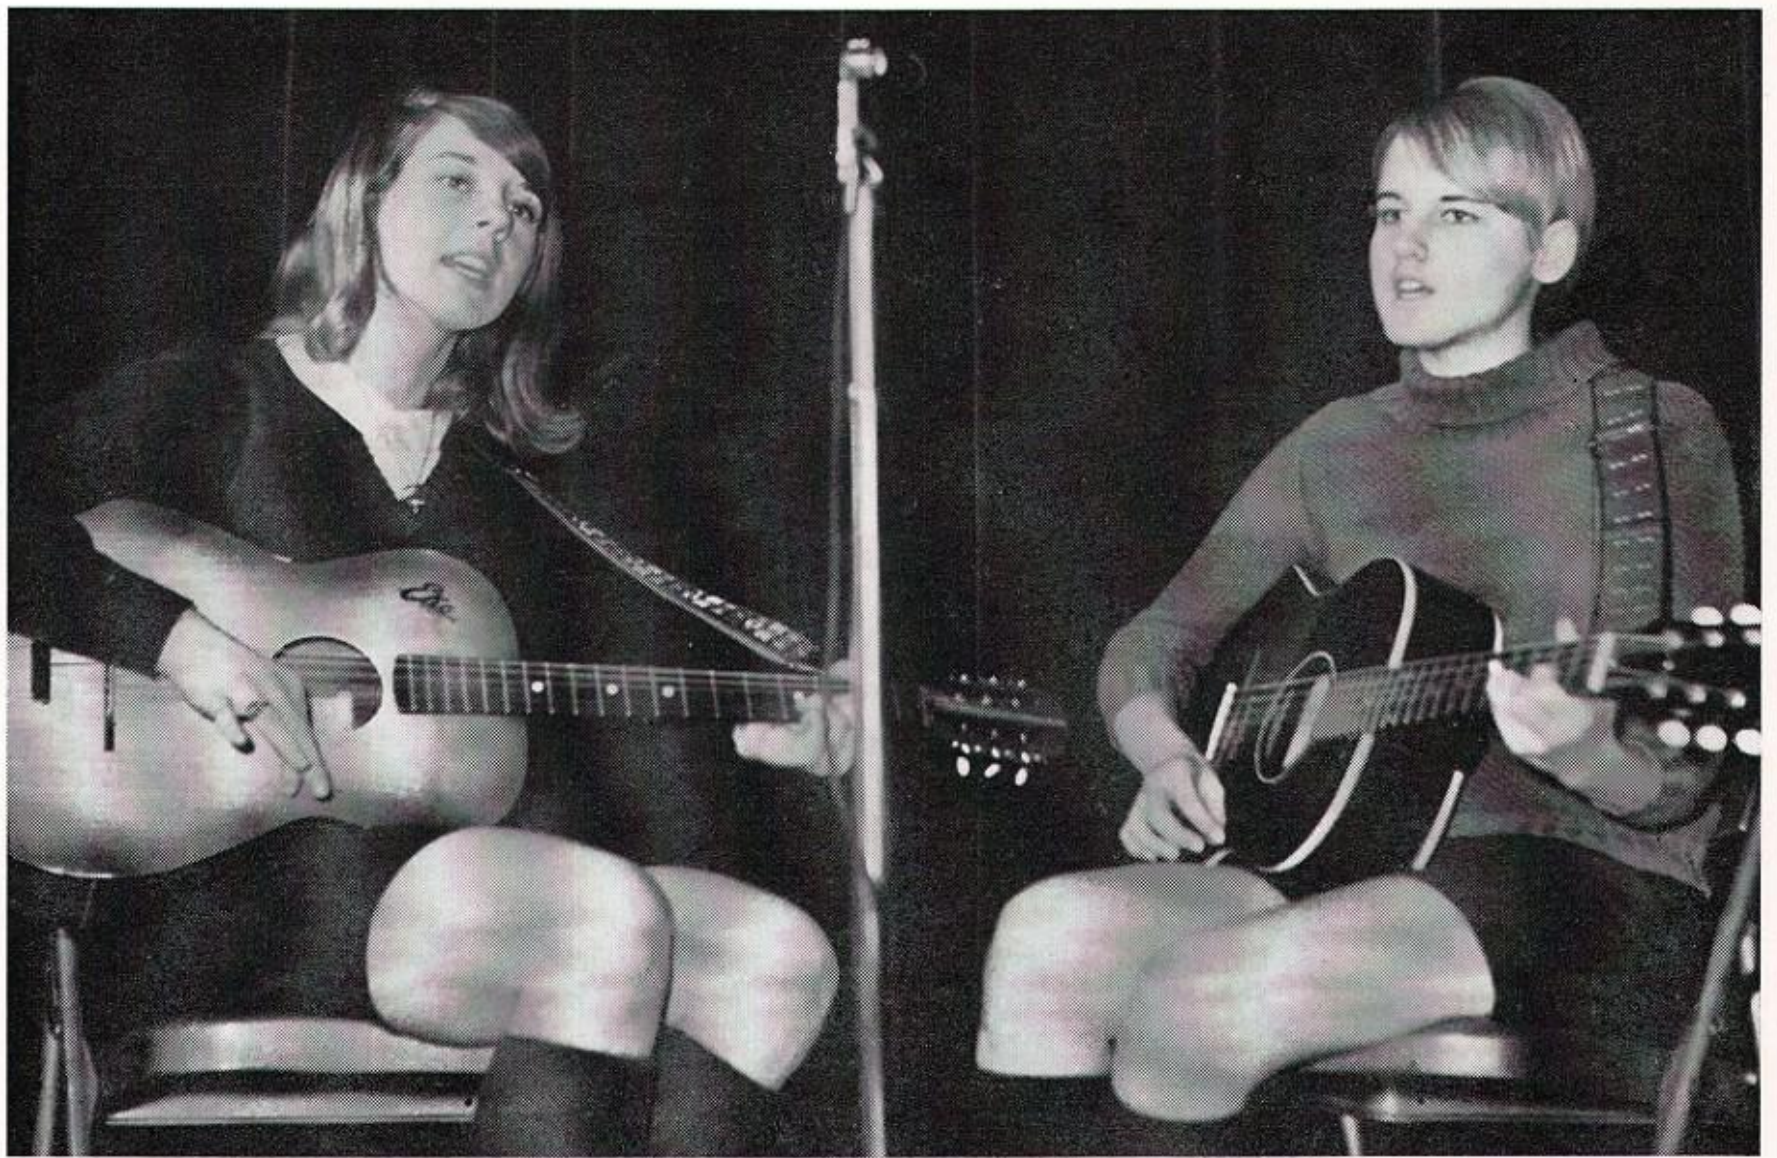

To receive their symbol of prestige, their class ring.

Junior year climaxed in a flutter of buttons and bows

With the prom they had planned and decorated themselves.

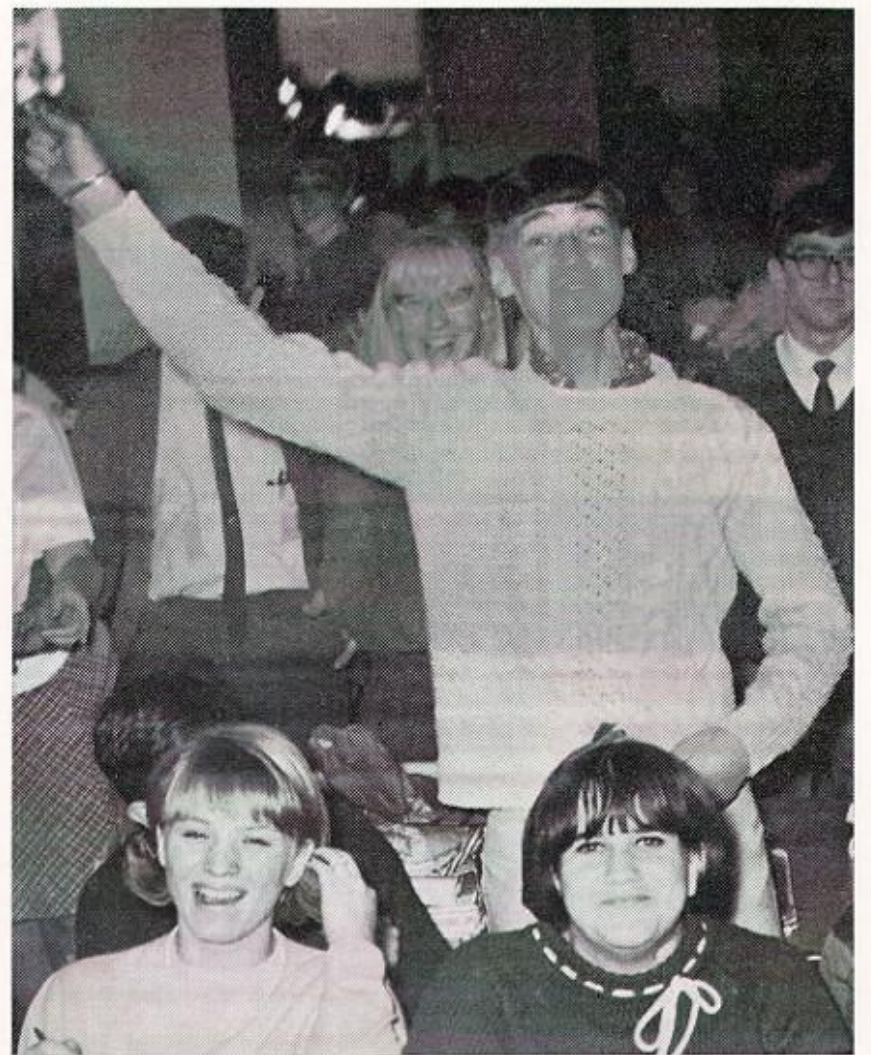

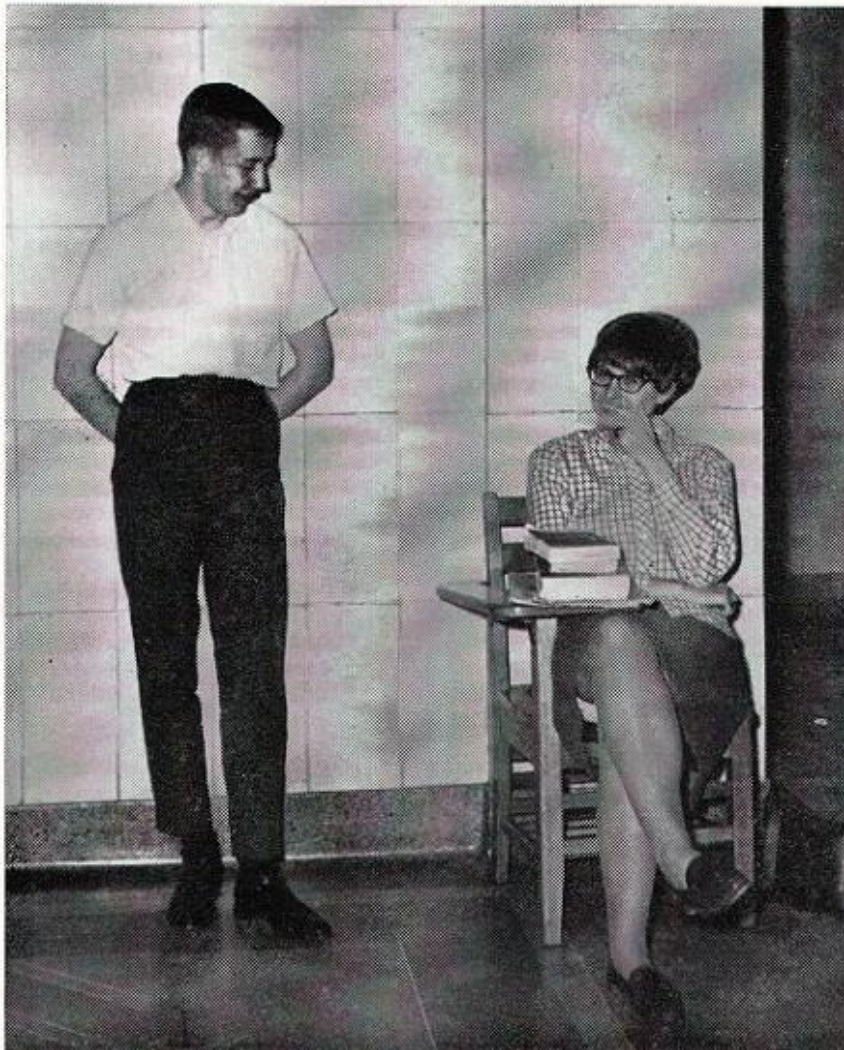

And so the time for final exams rolled around,

The time when Sophomores became Juniors and Juniors became Seniors.

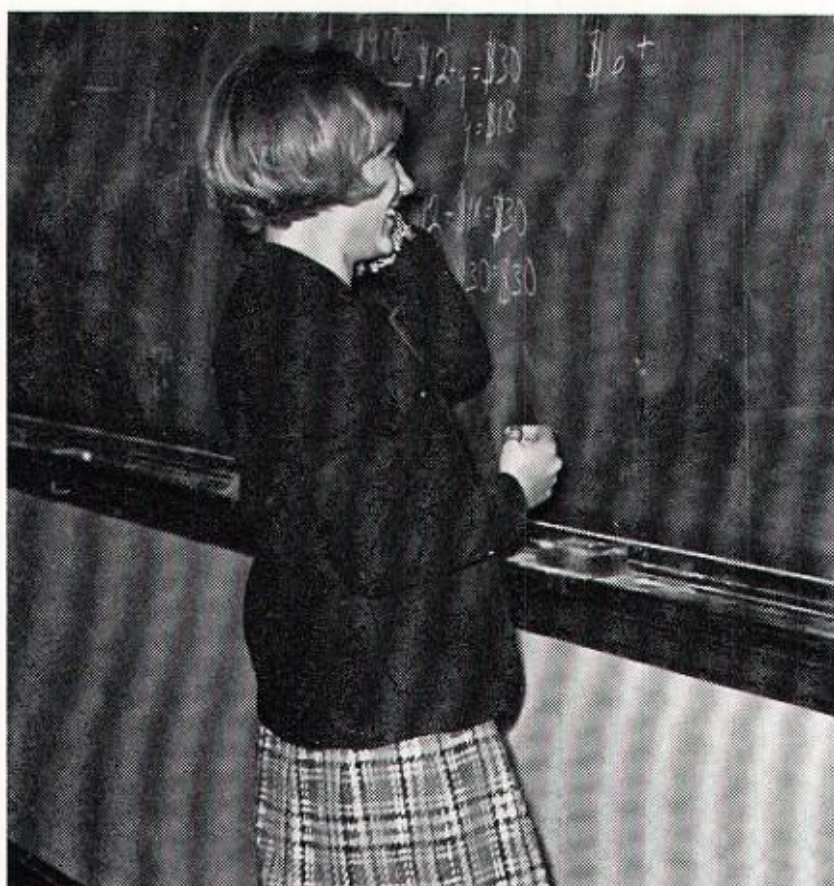

Beverly Hintz and Barbara Budislik perfect their version of "Bambo" before presenting it to the Variety Show audience.

Karen Lemberger and Jeff Luedke discuss their unsuccessful methods of avoiding the Cavalier's roving photographers.

His "Imperial Majesty" John Seebeck conquers the cafeteria in the name of anarchy with help from his giggling warriors.

Underclassmen Acquire Study Skills

A little effort times a lot of mathematical skill plus a good deal of confusion equals a problem for Deborah Schmitt.

The principal portion of Pulaski's student body, the underclassmen, strove mightily for two years to attain the status of seniors. They participated eagerly in school activities, acquired valuable experiences which they would put to use in the coming years, and learned both to accept and to delegate responsibility. Their judgment matured, and as the years progressed, they became fine prospects for future graduates.

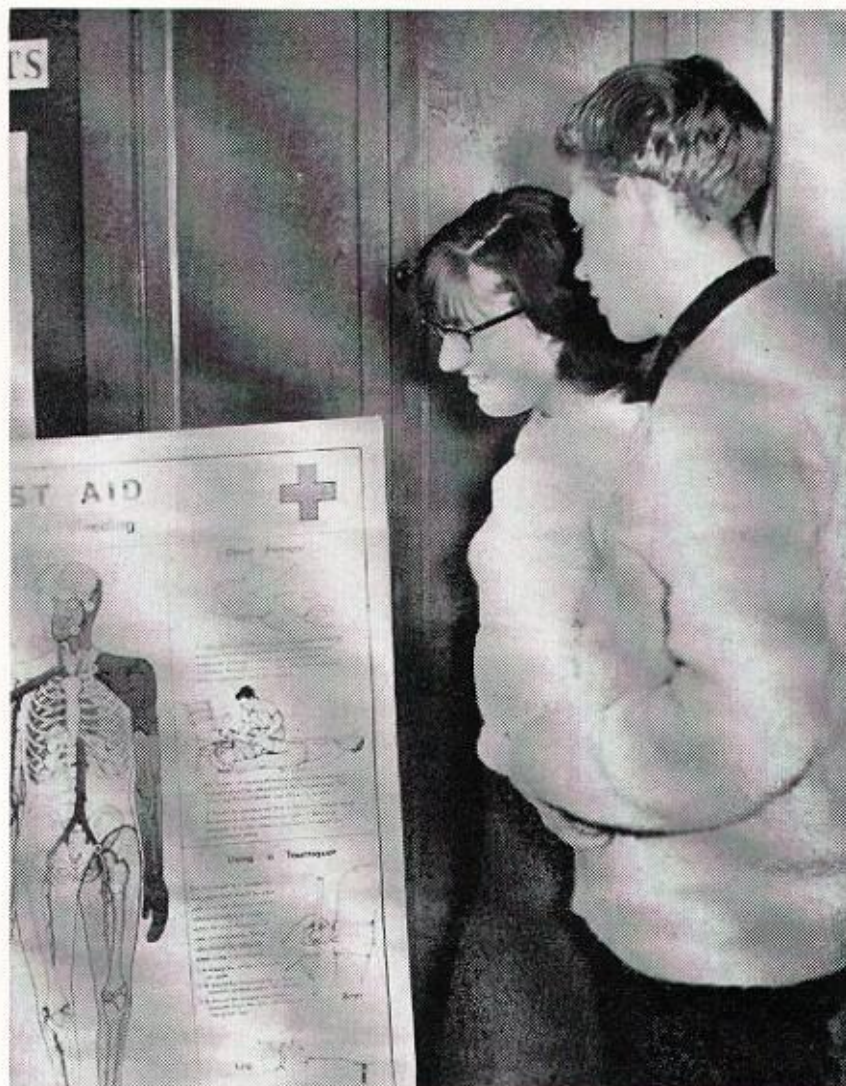

Identifying the "lowly Sophs" was no problem at all during the first few weeks of school. As they roamed the corridors searching for the right rooms, they were told "Only drink from white bubblers; don't step on the globe; and by all means don't use the center stairway because it's only for seniors and faculty!" However, they soon became accustomed to the practical jokes played on them by juniors and seniors and settled down to becoming "experienced" juniors.

The juniors with a whole year of school life behind them "lived for the day" when they, too, would be seniors. Symbols of prestige for them were their class ring and the prom. The work they did together on the prom, whether on the planning committee or by themselves, reflected their matured responsibility and the fact that they were, indeed, ready to become upperclassmen.

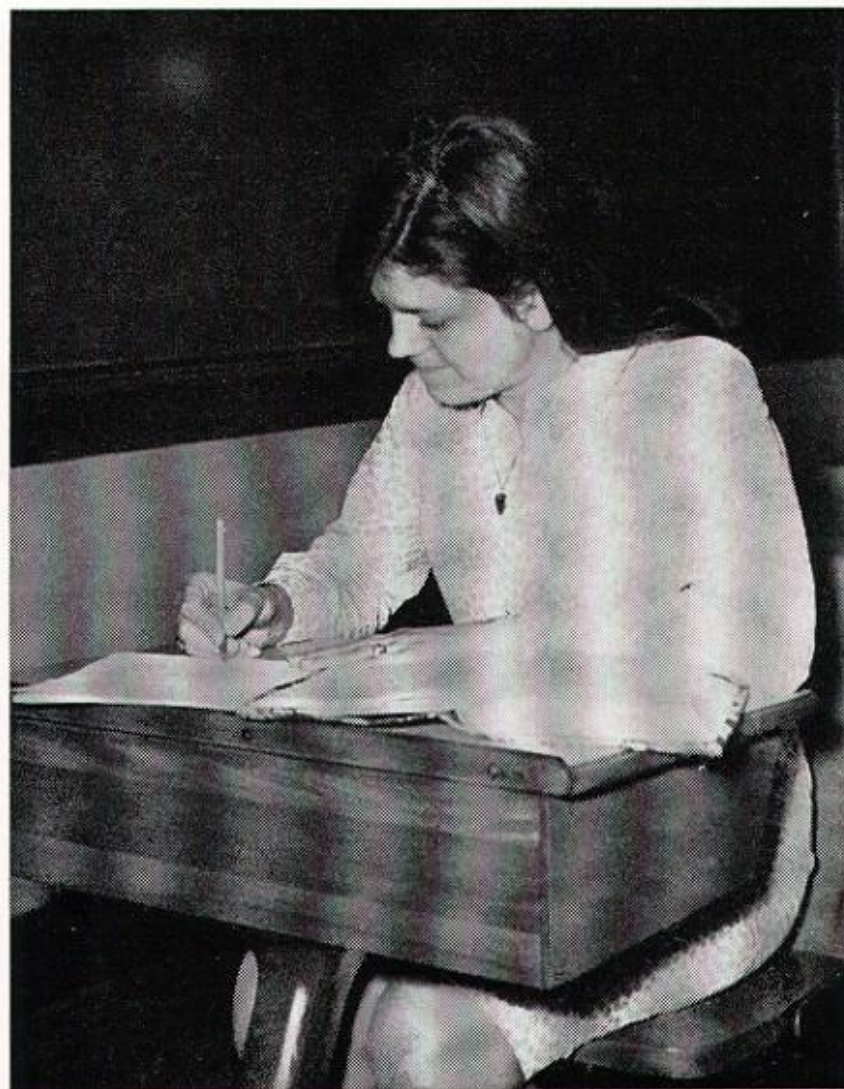

Tired and drained, Ken Price and Cheryl Schulz patiently observe blood smears to determine their blood types.

Sports

Seasons – A Time to Compete

"We need each and every boy to join a sport."

This was Mr. Max's theoretical formula

To insure our teams the best players,

To develop physical fitness,

And to keep academic standards high.

Many answered this imperative call

By devoting their spare time and energy

To their favorite sport.

The boys "got a lot of kicks" out of playing football

Bringing Pulaski to third place in the city.

Then passing the ball to the Cagers,

A new, and better, basketball season began.

Meanwhile, Harriers hurried across the campus

As the sounding of the gun signaled swimmers to start.

Grapplers floored many an opponent

Leaving minute precision to the gymnasts.

Golfers kept up to par on the green

Looking on as Trackmen scurried through the field.

Spring came and Simmons Field hosted the batmen

Hitting homeruns for the "old home team"

Just as the Tennis team racketed balls across the road.

Girls, too, kept in shape by sampling each sport

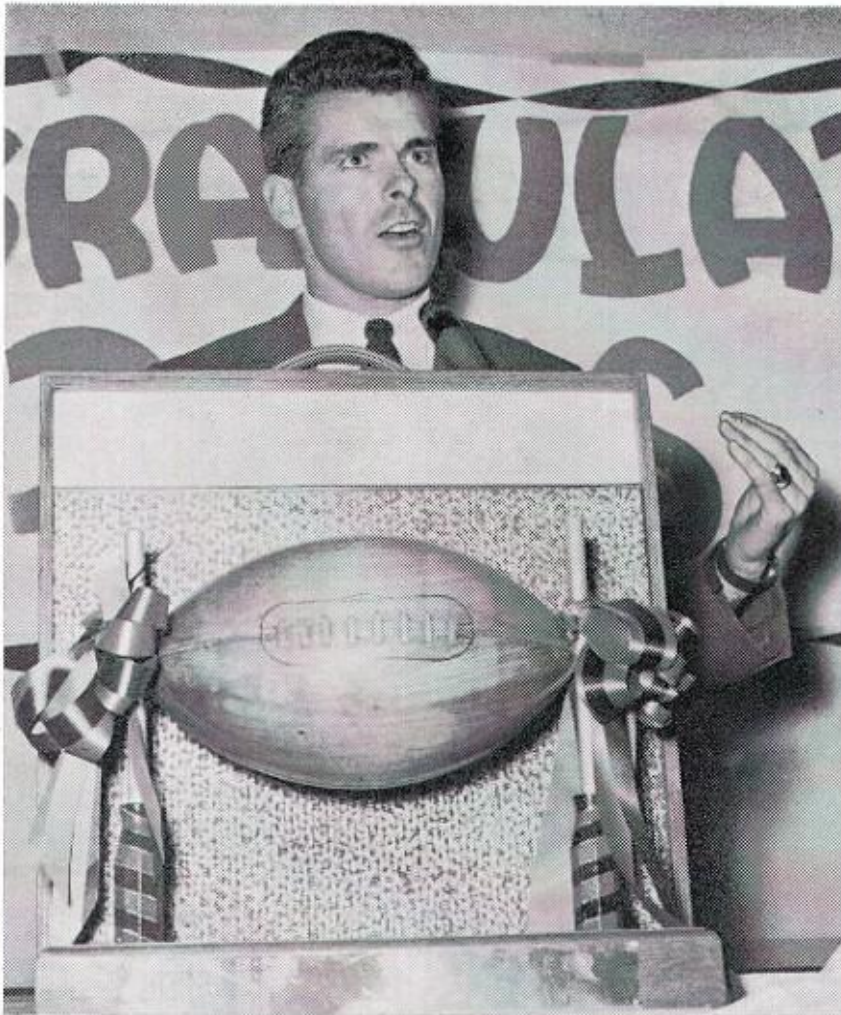

Through intramural games of the Girls Athletic Association.

Every enthusiast had a common goal

To play fair and win square

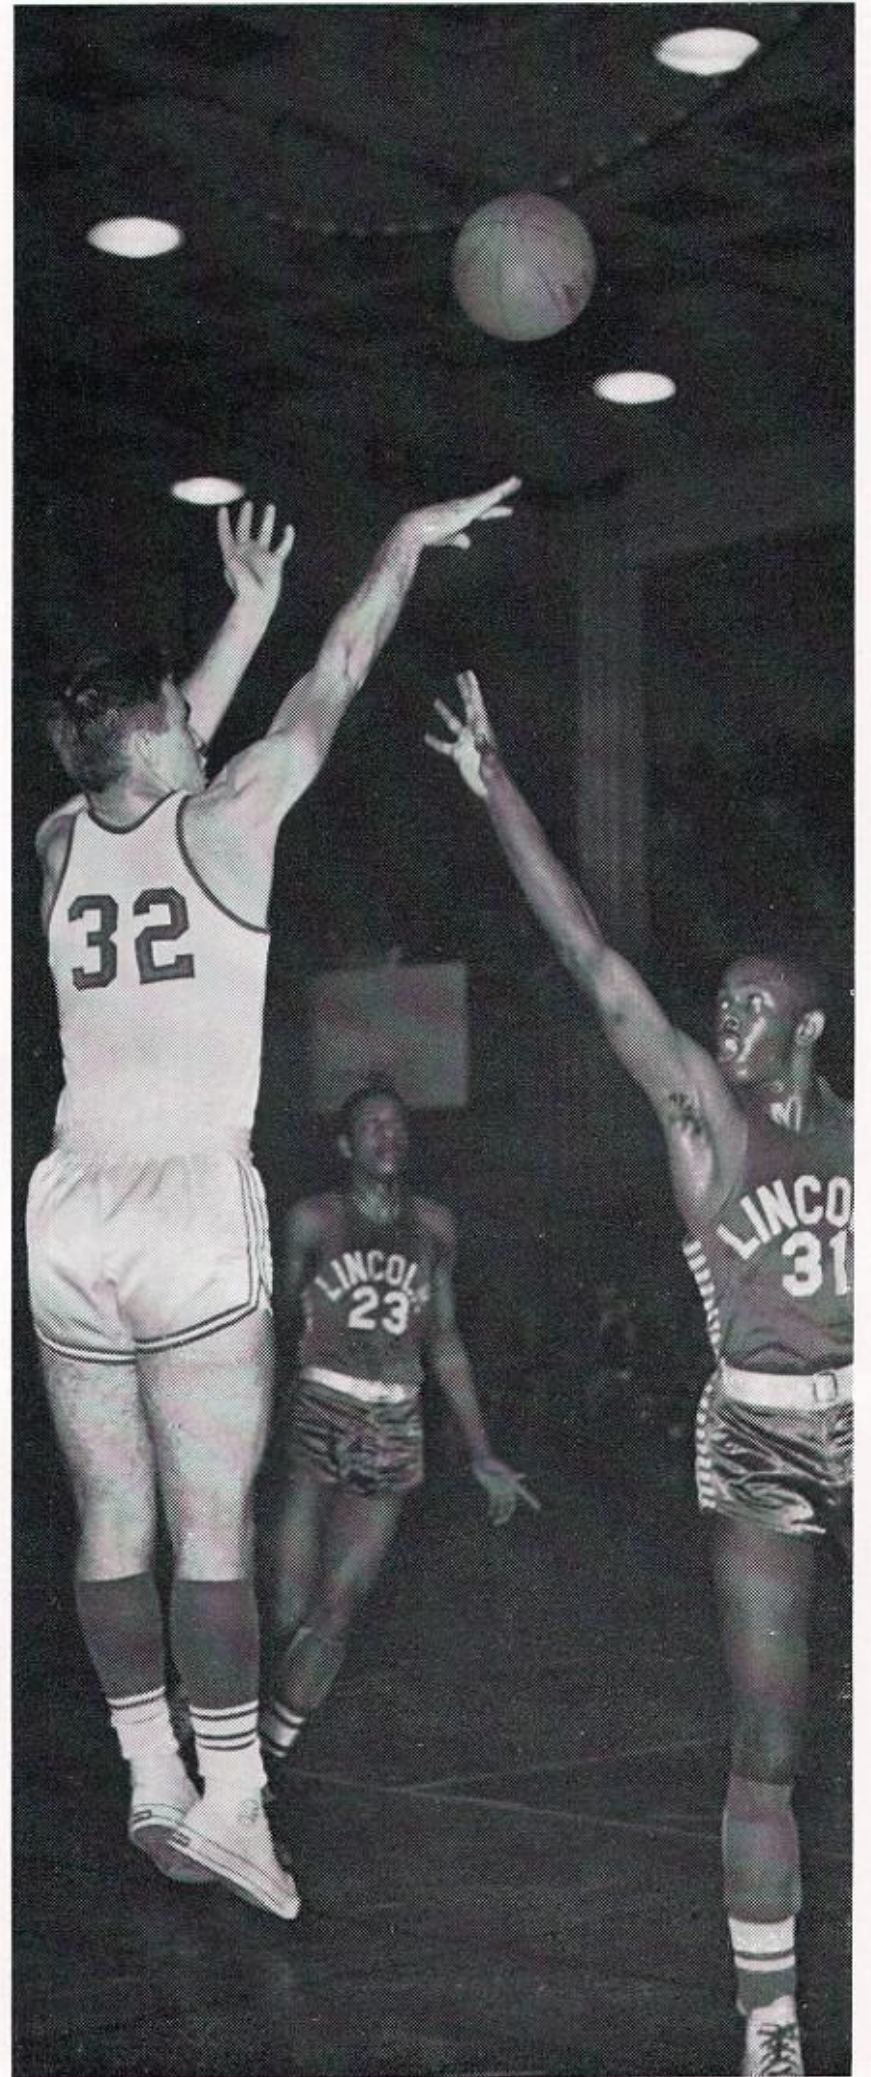

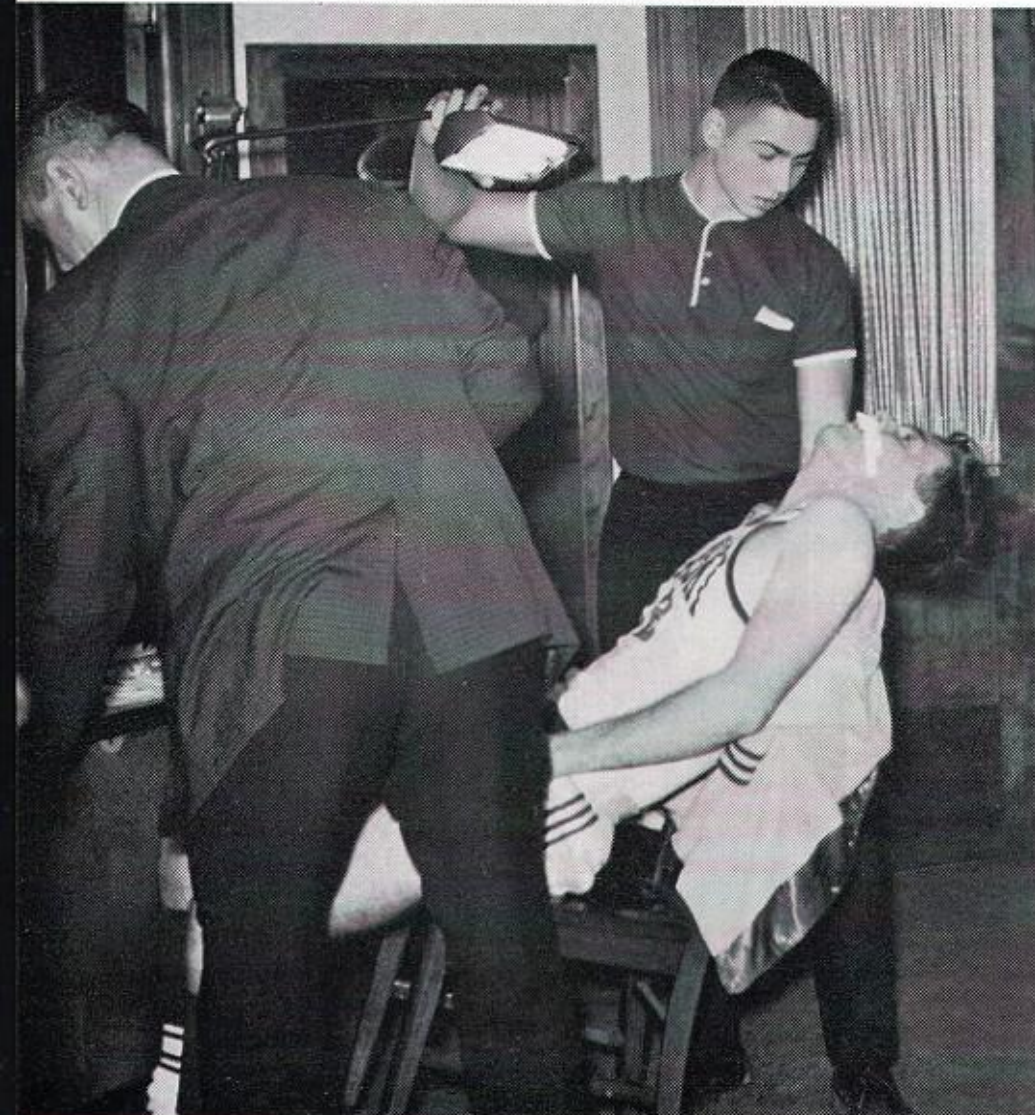

Each time in the name of the Rams.

United Action

John Coatta, head football coach of UW, told Pulaski athletes to "aim high" while speaking at the annual banquet.

Intense efforts on the athletic fields hold perils as well as glory, as shown by injured basketball star Terry Kotlarek.

Ram cager Terry Kotlarek springs high above the outstretched hands of a Lincoln opponent to net another basket.

Reaps Victories

Strength, stamina, and strategy pushed Pulaski's Rams to scoring victories throughout the city's rugged conference this year. Returning lettermen not only fortified the sporting events, but helped to train future athletes.

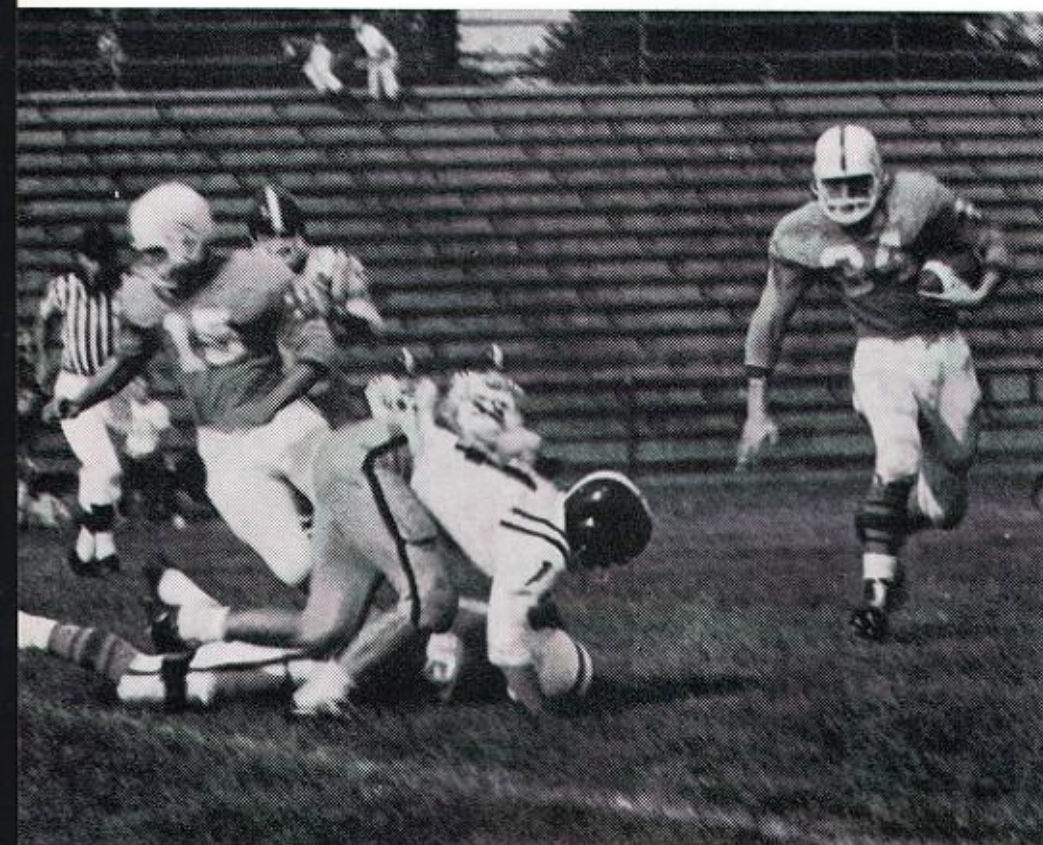

Pulaski Rams excelled this year in all individual events. Pulaskians may boast of their football record of only two losses the entire season. Winning the South Side Championship, the Gridders finished third in the City Conference. Due to injuries, the Harriers were slightly handicapped but still ranked tenth in the city. Led by Bob Polka, third highest scorer in the city, the Cagers compiled a 6 and 9 record. Coach Sonnenberg's Grapplers finished seventh in the city and sent two men to the State Wrestling Tournament. Tumbling and swinging, Pulaski's Gymnasts placed fourth in the City Gymnastic Meet and gathered a 3 to 5 record throughout the year. Swimmers propelled themselves to fourth in the city, which resulted in a chance in the State Meet at Madison. Spring came, bringing with it the usual hustle of preparation to get in shape for new competition. Trackmen plunged into the race and jumped, sprinted, and hurdled to get to the top. The Tennis team wacked many a ball across the net to gain points for Pulaski. Out on the campus lawn, Golfers practiced until they were up to par with Mr. Max. Running into summer, the Baseball team wound up the year with fans emitting a last cheer for the Rams.

Ken Witter strives to maintain a steady pace to keep his lead for the last half mile of a cross country race.

All-City football stars John Wawrzonkowski, Doug Czaplewski, Dick Kay, and Darryl Stearle form a winning combination.

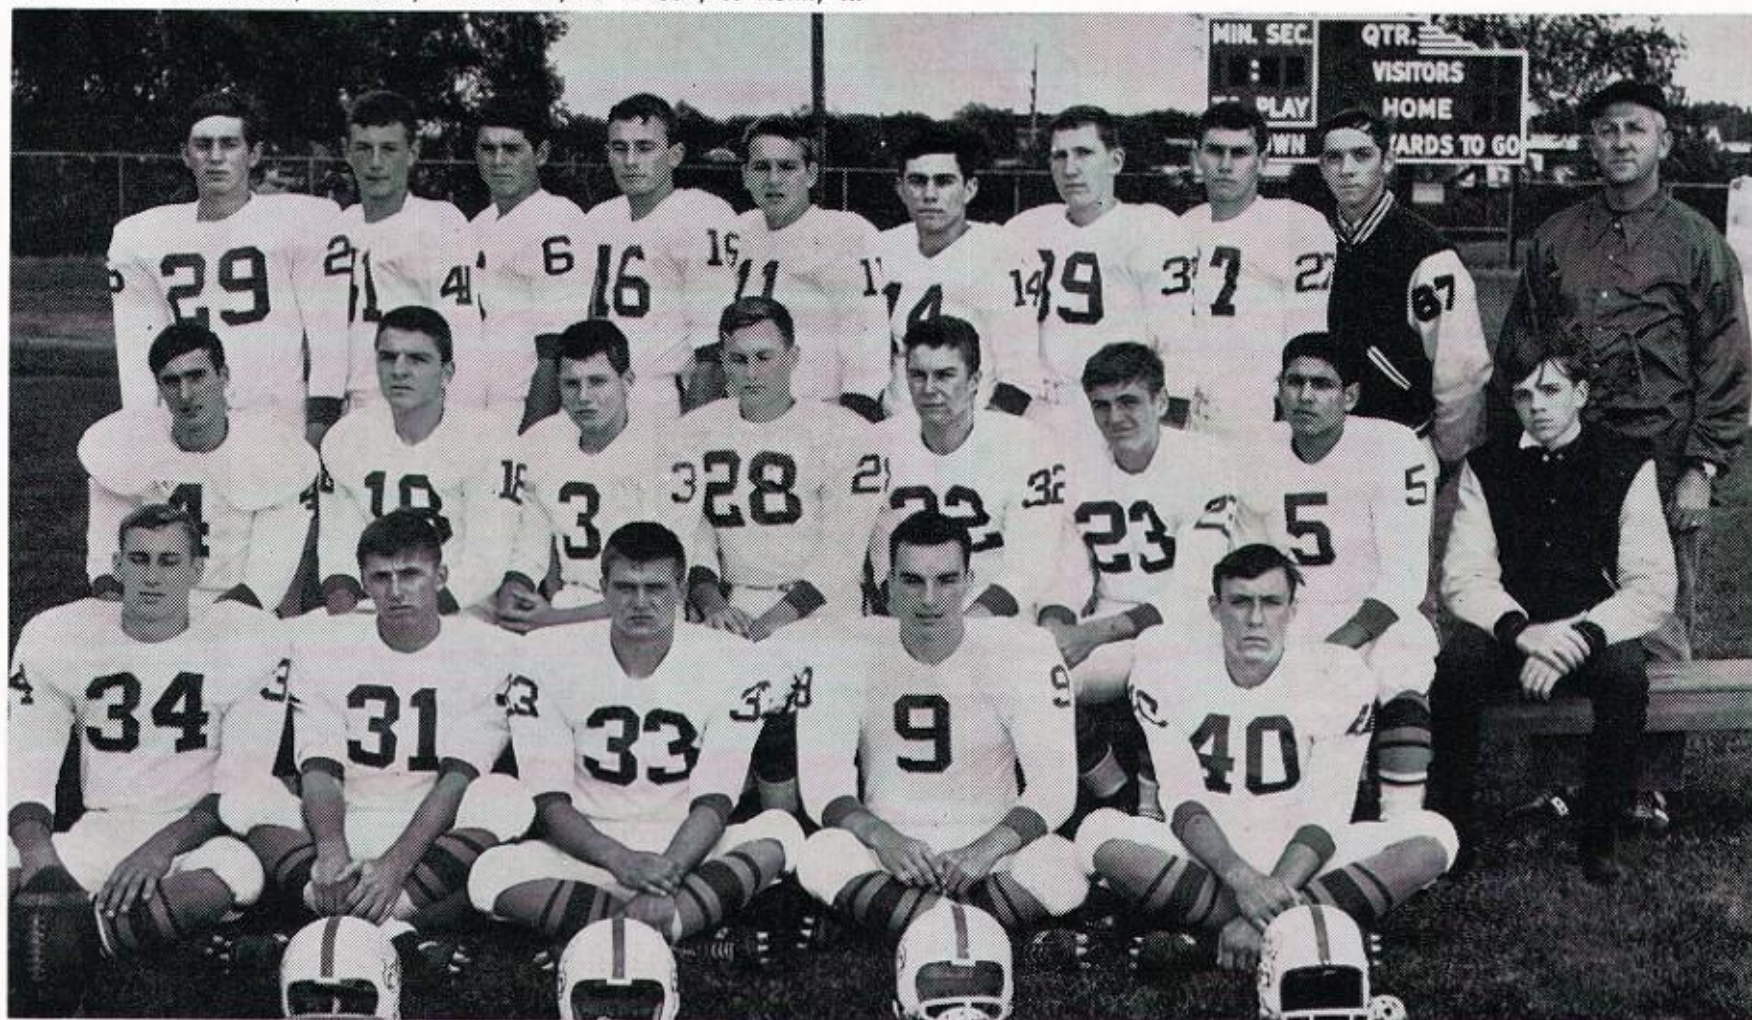

Dick Kay heads for the end line to pick up extra yardage while Bill Kirchen looks for another Juneau tackler.

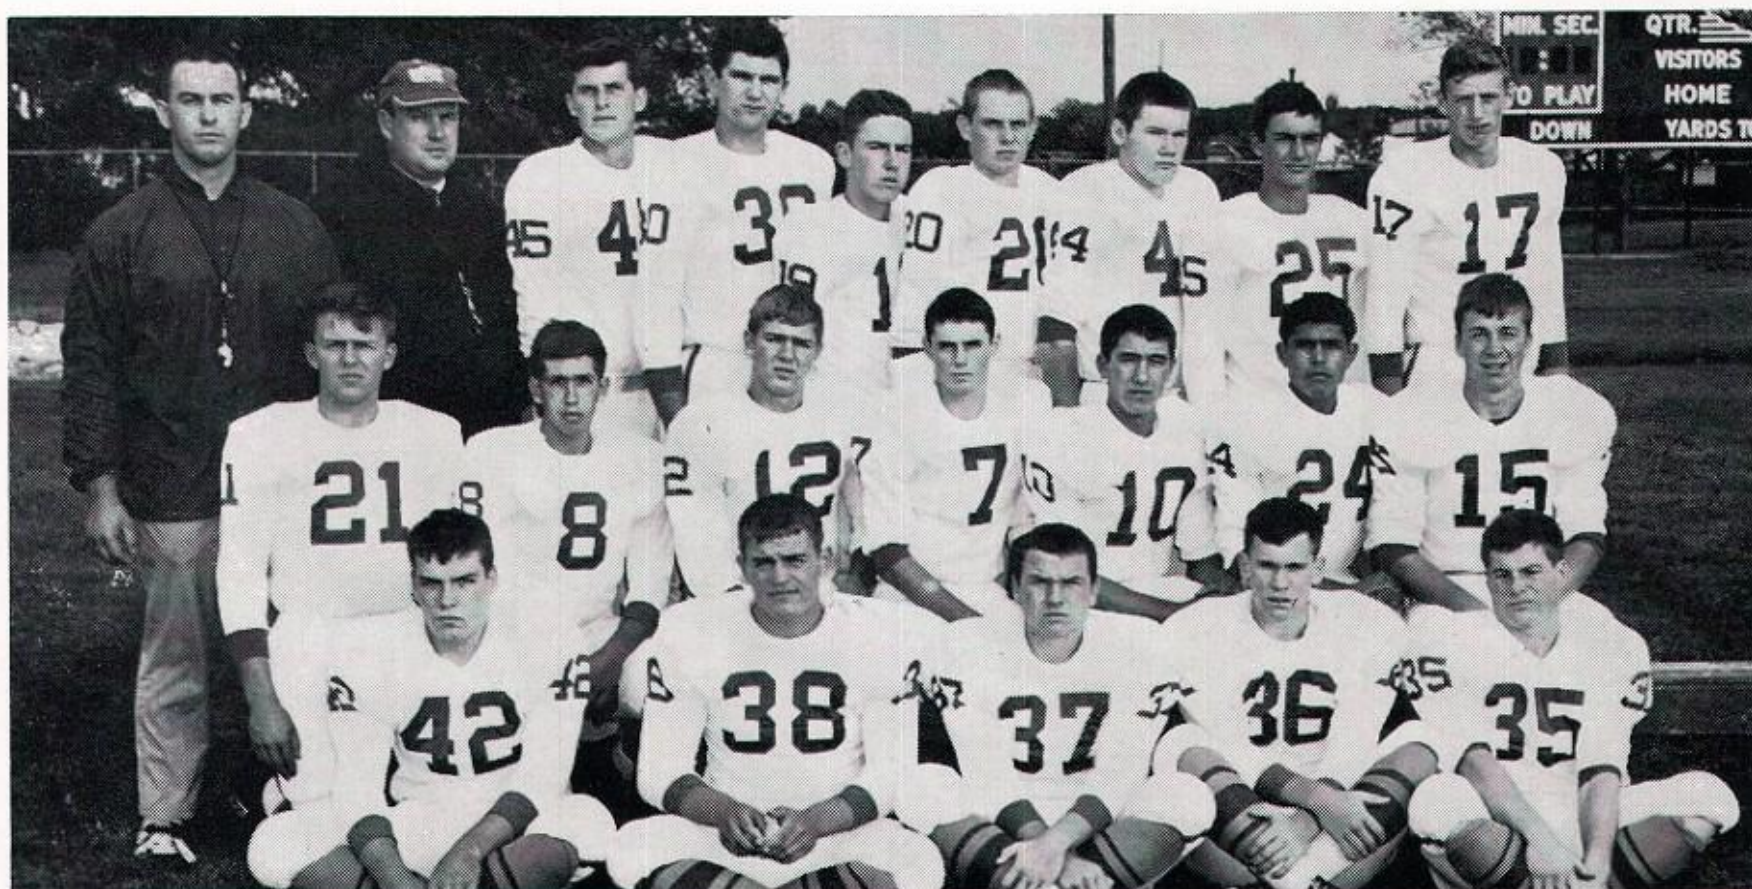

Free of defenders, John Wawrzonkowski hauls in a Doug Czaplewski pass on the Tech 20 in Pulaski's 20-19 upset victory.

Iron Men Transcend Expectations

With victory in his mind, Head Coach Gregg Dufek, helped by assistant coaches Neil Hoepfner and Chuck Levandowski, prepared for the season opener against Juneau. The boys had worked on their own throughout the summer conditioning themselves. Therefore, when the season opened, they concentrated entirely on the fundamentals and strategy of the game.

In the first game of the '66 season, the Pulaski eleven rammed their way to victory against Juneau. South Division was next to fall under their power. Then on a dark, rainy day the team literally fumbled the game away and suffered their first defeat, which was dealt to them by Custer. With vengeance in their hearts, the Rams belted a victory over the defending city champions and number one team in the state, Boys' Tech. For his efforts in this game the Associated Press picked John Wawrzonkowski as "back of the week" in the state of Wisconsin. Homecoming ended on a happy note with a win over Bay View. Pulaski defeats of Lincoln and East set the scene for the last game against Marshall.

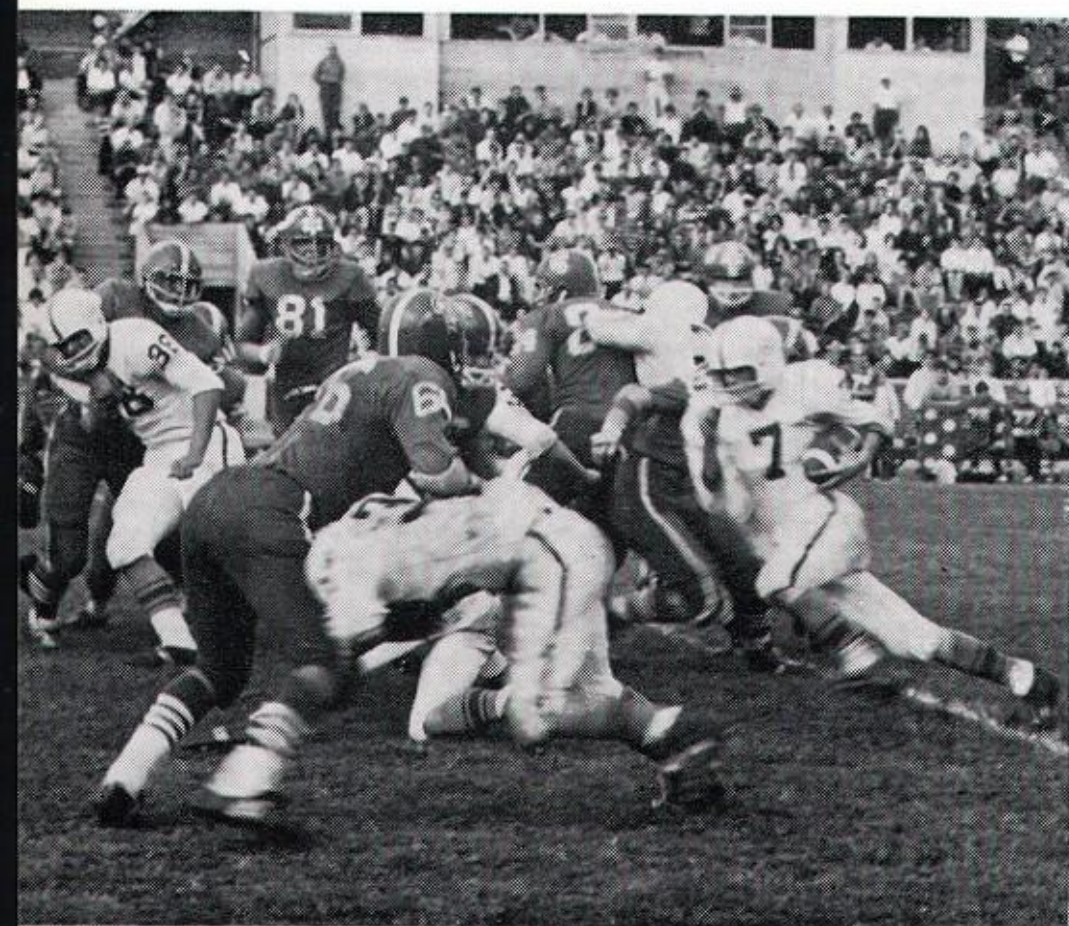

Marshall and Pulaski at this time were tied for first place in the city conference. The outcome of the contest would determine the city champions. In a bitterly fought game the Rams were defeated 21-13. In this loss of the city championship, there was, however, an element of victory. Even though not predicted a favorite at the beginning of the season, the boys proved the experts wrong and fought their way right up to the championship game.

The end of the season found three Rams, Darryl Stearle, Richard Kay, and Douglas Czaplewski, chosen for the Milwaukee Journal All City Team. Stearle was chosen tackle on the first team while Kay and Czaplewski were chosen halfback and quarterback respectively on the second team. Stearle was also chosen first team tackle by the Sentinel. In addition to Stearle, John Wawrzonkowski was selected second team halfback.

Sophomores Tackle City's Finest

The Ram sophomore football team compiled a record of five wins and no losses to finish in a tie for the sophomore city championship. The team, coached by Mr. James Coady and Mr. Edward Markunas, started out the season by defeating South Division with a score of 7 to 0. In the second game of the season the team rallied and defeated Lincoln 28 to 6. Every boy who made the trip saw action in this game. The season continued with a game against a strong Bay View team, and again the sophs were victorious. The game was much closer than the score of 19 to 7 indicated. Finally on the fourth outing of the season, the team got a chance to play at home against Hamilton and defeated them 28 to 0. In the final action of the season against Juneau, the Rams had a field day winning by 40 to 0 to complete an undefeated season. Every boy on the squad had a hand in every game. In Coach Coady's words, "No boy could be picked as outstanding, as these victories were strictly a team effort."

Harriers Stride Across Country

The Pulaski Cross Country team started its preparation for the '66 season early in September. The team showed great potential with returning lettermen Eric Herman and Ken Witter. Witter finished seventh in the '65 City Cross Country Meet. The team started out with good depth in track letterman George Dahlman and an unexpected spark from baseball letterman Bob Helminiak. John Matteson and Scott Wilson completed the lineup.

It looked as though Coach Richard Perez would have a fine, well balanced team to present in the city competition, but ankle injuries to the two middle runners left the team with a large gap. This brought two good but inexperienced B-team runners, Dave Leonard and Willy Weiss, to varsity.

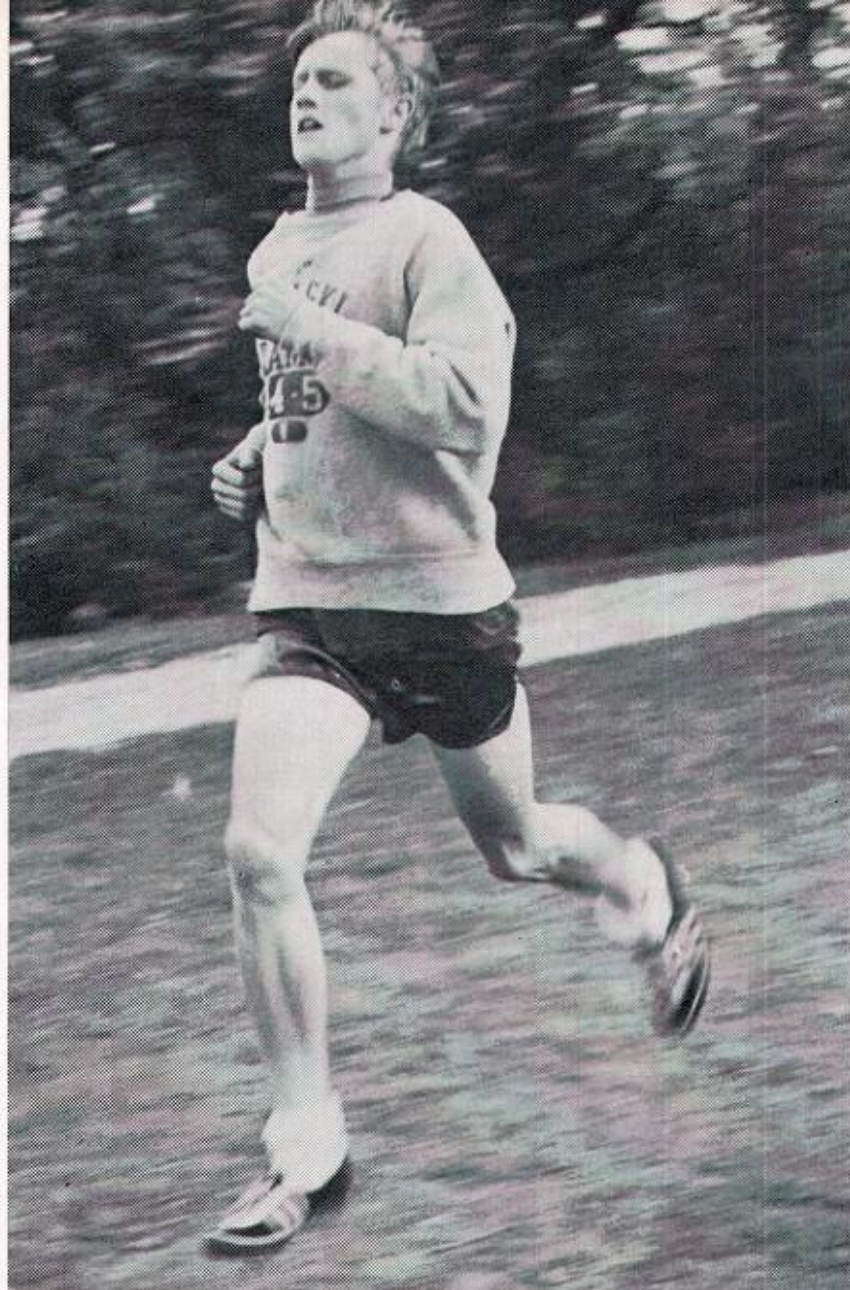

Despite this fact, the team put up a good fight and barely lost dual meets to South and East. Besides their regular scheduled games, the Harriers also participated in a nonconference meet against Marquette which they won 25 to 38. They also finished tenth in the city meet, beating arch-rival Bay View, and placed eleventh in the state sectionals.

Grapplers Rebuild to Fill Gaps

"The wrestling squad had a fine season this year," were the words of Coach Bruce Sonnenberg. Despite the loss of several members of the varsity due to injuries, the team still came up with a winning 6-5 dual meet record. Some of their victories were overwhelming defeats of North 48-5, of Hamilton 46-8, of West 33-15, of Juneau 35-9, and of Lincoln 34-9.

The squad also placed several wrestlers in this year's tournaments. In the sophomore tournament held at Hamilton, Pulaski was edged out of first place by only three points. However, Pulaski did have the most first place finishers with Pete Phillips, Marty Iczkowski, Greg Bissonette, and Gordon Malkowski. In the City Meet, held at Rufus King, Keith Kozickowski placed third in the 180 pound weight division, and John Surges placed fourth in the heavy weight class. In the regionals at Greenfield, Arvin Pyawasay, a sophomore, won the 103 pound division while John Surges took a second place in his class. Leo Nowak finished third in the 120 pound class, and Keith Kozickowski placed third again in the 180 pound weight class.

Agile Gymnasts Display Coordination

Continuous effort and individual stamina contributed greatly to the Rams' Gymnastic team. Coach Ronald Stram led the team to two consecutive wins against Washington. However, several injuries handicapped the Rams in their next few meets and resulted in defeats. The loss of January grads greatly affected the teams placing in the remaining meets which were held March 4th at Custer and March 11th at Menomonee Falls.

The squad consisted of Jerry Denk, Mike Swanson, and Jim Malak on the parallel bars and Frito Rivera, Tom Rux, and Jim Kachelmeyer on long horse. Chris Reimer and Jim Wittlieff on side horse and Frito Rivera and Duane Nimmer on high bar did consistently well throughout the season. Bob Brozowski and Jim Kachelmeyer, who composed the tumbling team, also specialized on free exercise along with Tom Rux while Duane Nimmer, Jerry Denk, and Mike Swanson worked on the still rings. Coach Stram felt that "throughout the semester the individual performances yielded a great deal to the team effort."

Swimmers Exhibit Power and Poise

Tom Williamson comes to the end of the third lap of the medley and strives for a better time on the return trip.

The mermen under Coach Scherr's watchful eye finished the swim season with a nine win and four loss record. Starting the season slowly with three losses, the Rams came back to action with wins over Washington and King. The triangular meets held a charm over the mermen as they walked off with all three. The upset of the year came when Pulaski beat Marshall to take second place in the City Relay Championships. The Ramblers met superior strength at the All City Championships but were still able to take fourth place.

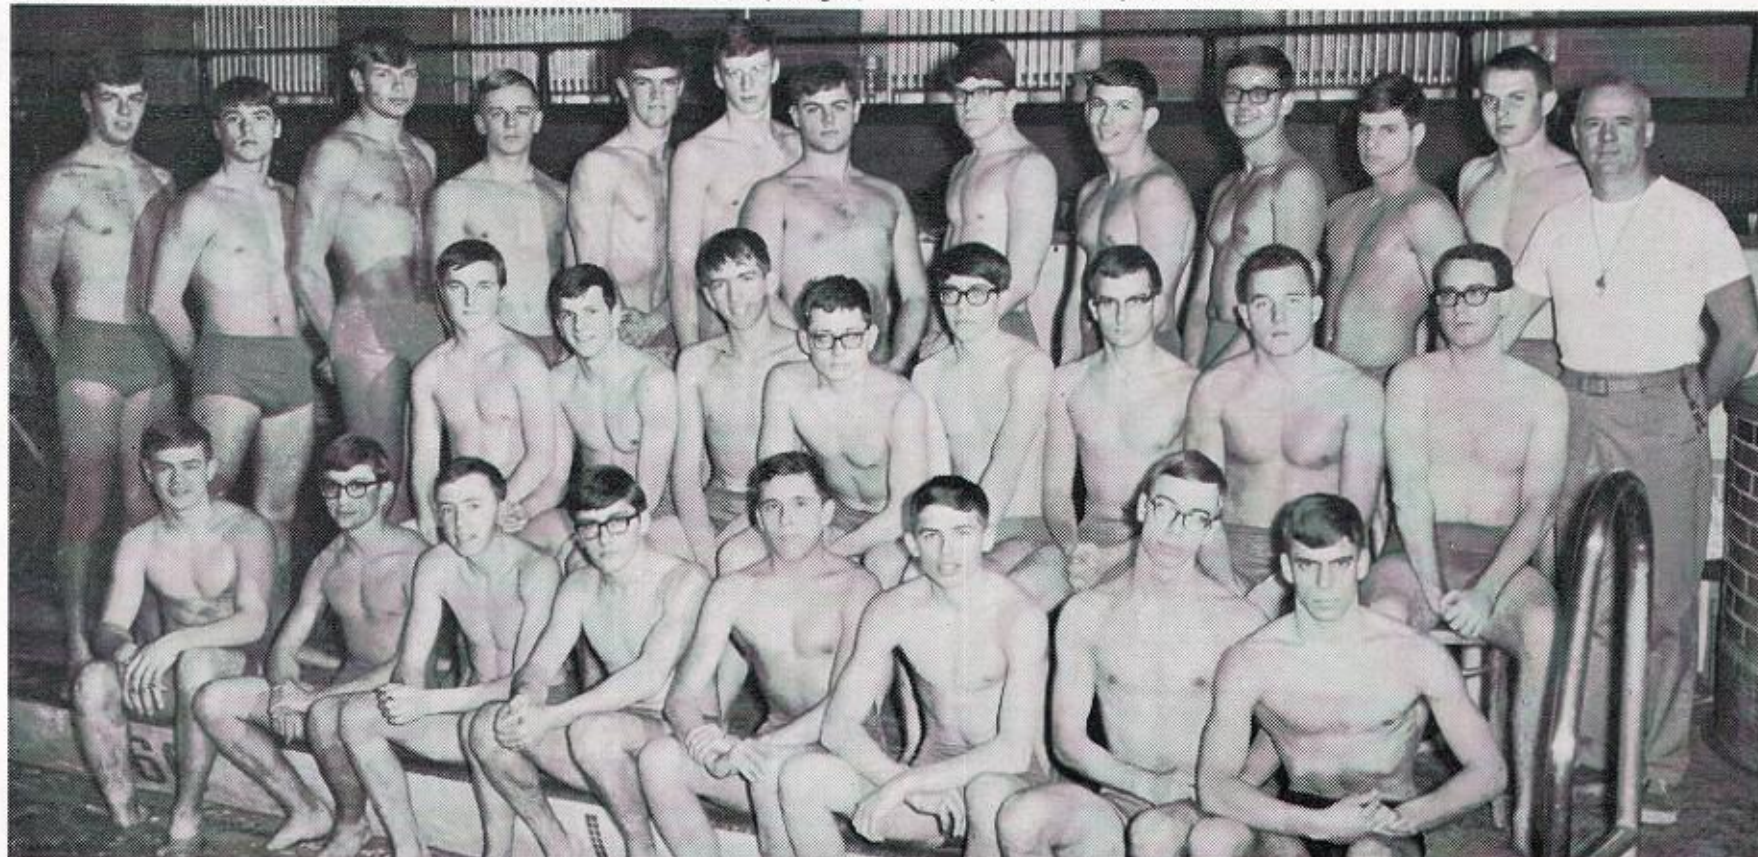

School records fell as Robert Otto swam the 200 yard free style in the record time of 2:06.4. Cy Nelson also broke the school record in the 100 yard free style with the time of :54.5. The relay team, consisting of Scott Spranger, Thomas Schaetzke, Robert Otto and Cy Nelson, broke the 400 yard free style with a time of 3:45.2 and also toppled the city 200 yard free style relay record with a time of 1:39.0. Girls Associate

Dismayed G.A.A. members look on as they think, "If only she had eaten two more Wheaties for breakfast this morning."

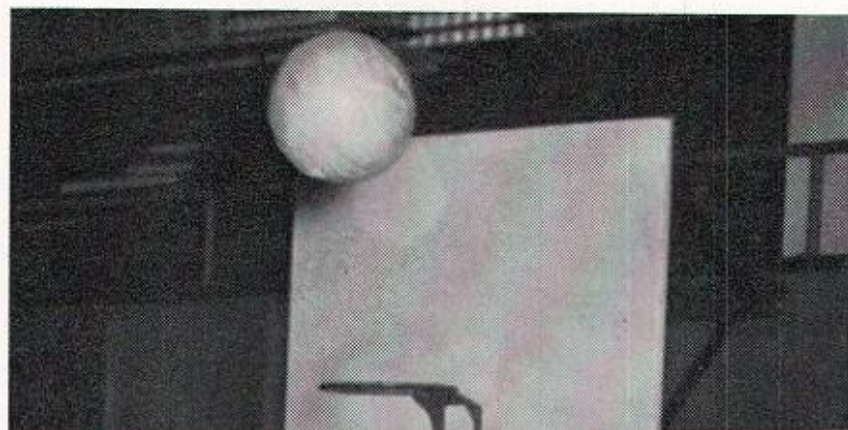

For the girls who wished to supplement their physical education program, the Girls' Athletic Association was the answer. The club promoted good sportsmanship and the ability to function well as a team and extended an invitation to any girl interested in sports. Mrs. LaVerne Dougherty issued the rules to be followed in all games and the curriculum of events to take place. This program was carried out by the club's officers, President Marlene Bielawski, Vice-president Katherine Lubner, and Secretary Victoria Kosharek who were elected by club members at the close of last year.

Girls participated in volleyball, badminton, baseball, basketball, and tennis tournaments throughout the year. The highlight was the girls' interclass swim meet. Seniors, Juniors, and Sophomores competed against each other in speed events, in long distance diving, and in novelty events such as the nightgown and innertube relays. All students were invited to watch this meet which took place during the seventh hour on May 17. The proceeds from these tickets went toward trophies and letters which were presented to winners of the tournaments at the annual spring banquet.

Cagers Pocket Strategic Shots

The Ram Cagers put in many long hours of practicing in order to perfect every shot, step, pass, and play. Coach Norman Gradecki worked continuously with the boys with the assistance of Coach Darwin Romberg many nights after school. The flashing limbs, the quick-moving bodies of the players racing up and down the floor, and the tense moment when a free throw was made were enthusiastically cheered on by loyal Pulaskian viewers. Although they experienced several close losses, the Rams scored 7 victories, putting them in eighth place in city standings. Leading the Rams in high scoring were Bob Polka, Doug Czaplewski, and Terry Kotlarek.

Regretfully, a valiant comeback fell just short as the Rams lost to King in the conference finale. Trailing by 17 at the half, the Rams charged forward cutting King's lead to only two in the second half, but that was as close as Pulaski got.

On the other hand, the Rams played their best game of the season against North. Defense, rebounding, and shooting were evidently favoring Pulaski as the Ram cagers jumped off quickly to an 18-8 lead. The Rams stayed out in front and were ahead at the half, 41-35. At the climax, free throws took their toll. Pulaski sank 12 in a row, eight by Bob Polka, to put the outstanding game out of North's reach. Doug Czaplewski was high scored with a 25 point total for the game.

Soph Cagers

Achieve Accuracy

The sophomore basketball team, under the leadership of Coach Edward Markunas, opened the season with two outstanding players, Jeff Cummisford and Wayne Pepper. Then in mid-semester, the team lost its two key high-scorers. They were drafted into the varsity squad. Although the team could have scored higher with them, the sophomores managed to come a long way. Other top performers, who are possible prospects for future Ram cagers, are John Voss, Jeff Lawnicki, George Suvaka, and Bob Johns. John Voss came out on top in scoring the most points for his team.

Coach Markunas worked with the boys in many long hours of practice and he was proud of their achievements. The sophomores took victories over Juneau, Washington, and South. In their first game with South, they were defeated by one point but scored a ten point win in the second game with them.

Cindermen Contend With Time

Pulaski's track team was off to a running start by placing seventh in the City Indoor Meet and winning their first dual meet against North. Led by Head Coach James Coady and assistant coaches Neil Hoepfner, Greg Dufek, and Ronald Stram, the boys began strenuous practice on timing and endurance early in February, improving as the weather got warmer.

With practice behind them, the cindermen built up their relay team. The nucleus of the team consisted of half-miler Eric Hermann, quarter-milers George Dahlman, Michael Dressler, Joe Maramonte, and Russell Waypa, sprinters Tom Kelly and Jose Rivera, and shot-putter John Wawrzonkowski. These runners were backed up by returning letterman John Surges in the shot-put, John Matteson in the two mile, Jerry Zlotowski, a promising sophomore, in the mile, and Robert Masinsky in the high jump and hurdles. Juniors and Sophomores formed the backbone of the team supporting Pulaski in the South Side Championship and the City Outdoor Meet.

Pulaski netmen, despite a diehard chill, oiled faulty returns and warmed up stiff rackets in the first days of the practice after the Easter recess. "A year of rebuilding" were the words of Coach Matthew Wielgosz when asked to describe this year's tennis squad. Rebuilding meant extra work on the part of the boys which was necessary since there were no returning lettermen, leaving the squad with a lack of depth and varsity experience. Returning Seniors who made up the hub of the squad were Tim Anderson, Chris Reimer, Robert Korytkowski, and Michael Ferenz working this season toward their major letters. Reinforcement came in the form of tall, swift-armed seniors James Wittlieff and Panait Aguayo. The squad also consisted of many promising Juniors and Sophomores.

Golfers Swing Out to Success

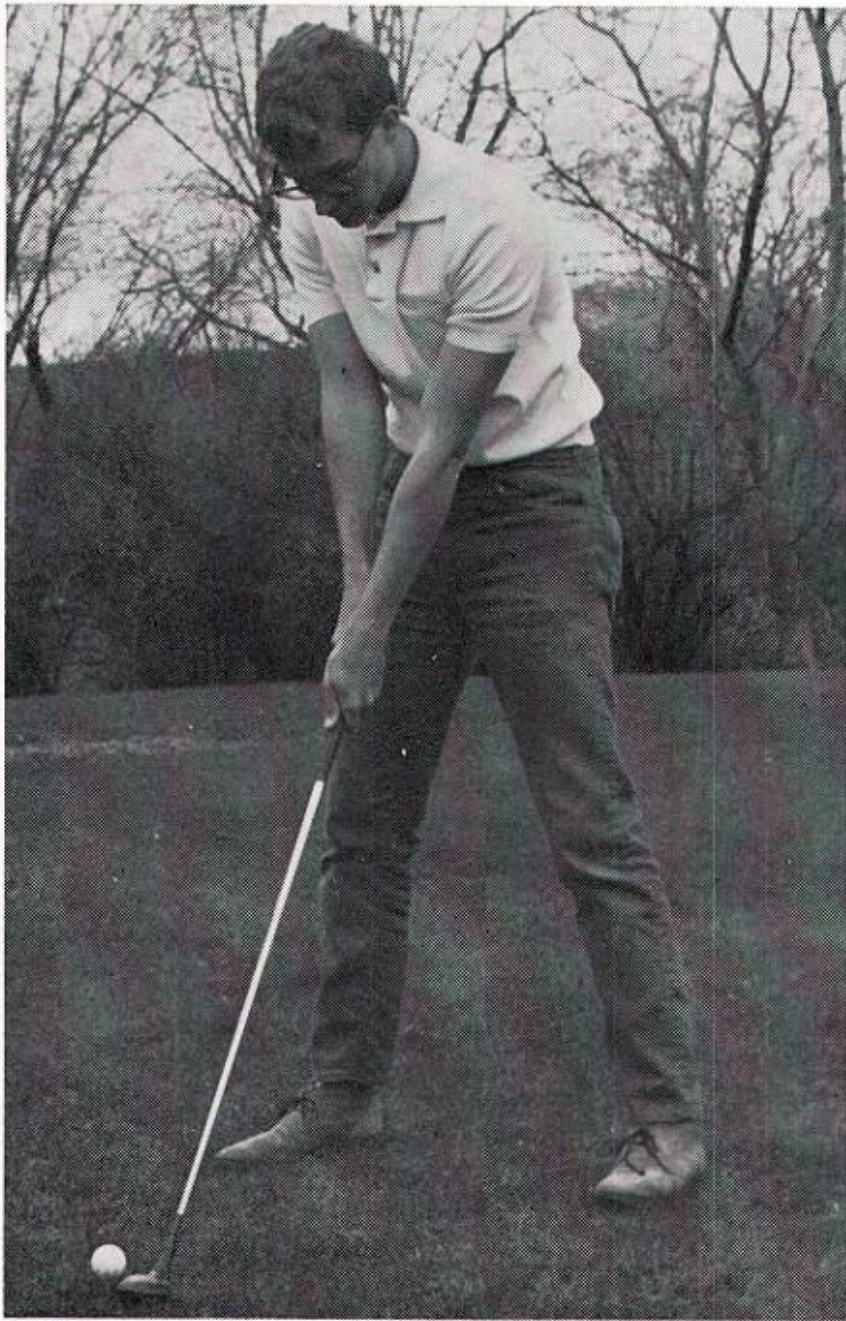

Practicing for a coming meet, two golfers work on developing a smooth stroke and an accurate distance shot.

Pulaski's golf team gave another consistently fine performance this year. Their confidence and ability together with their keen sense of competition caused Mr. Max to say, "We'll be tough to beat!" For the fifteenth time in the last sixteen years, the Pulaski golfers have either tied or won the title in the Round Robin series. This year they tied with Marshall, but in a dual meet the "Maxmen" beat Marshall with a final point score of $7\frac{1}{2}$ to $1\frac{1}{2}$.

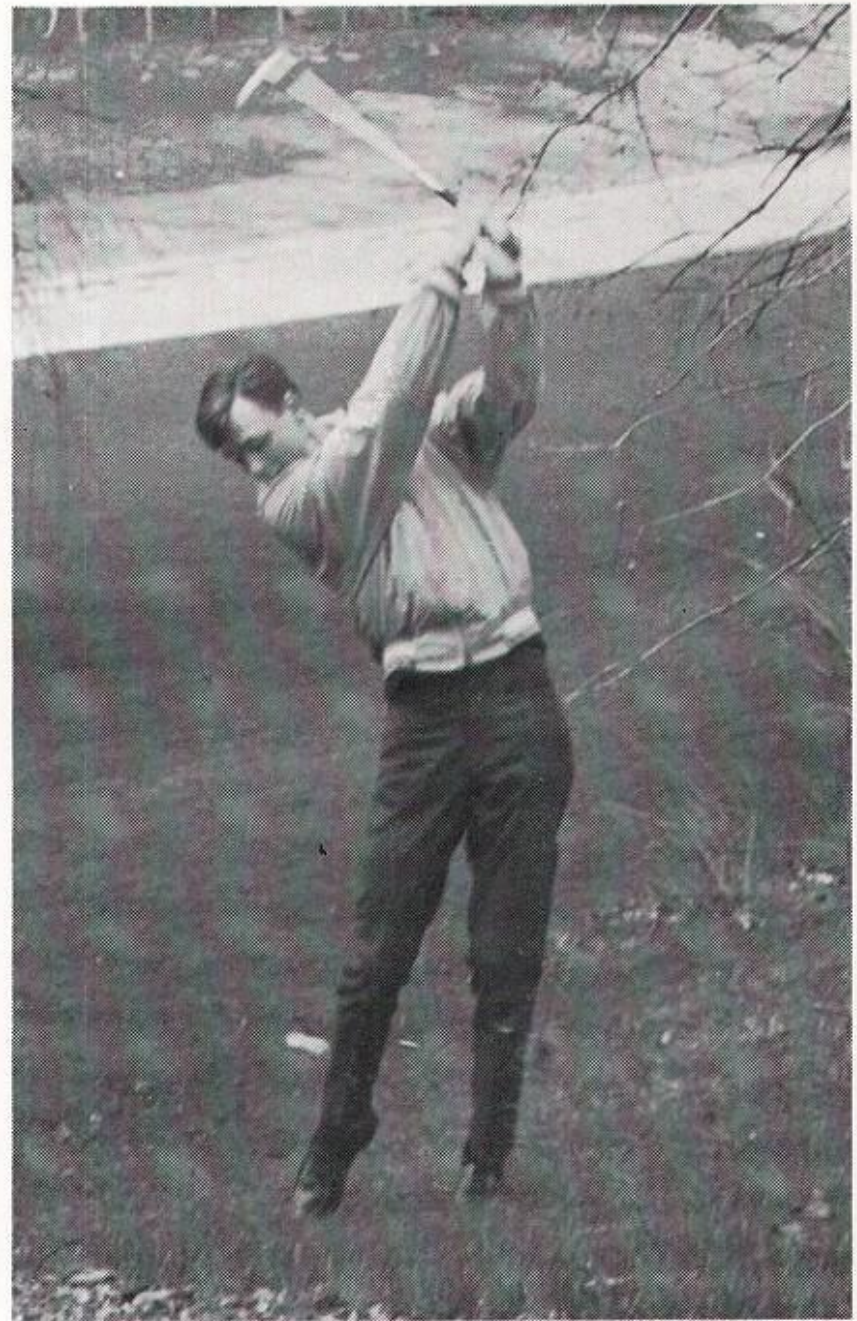

This is the second year that champions have been recognized in two different tournaments, the Round Robin series and another championship team in Medal Play. Pulaski placed third in the Medal Tournament for the varsity team, and the Pulaski B-Team swung into second place with Len Baldewicz receiving runner-up honors.

Basemen Bat at Whirling Sphere

By winning their last six games, the Pulaski baseball nine finished the season with a 16 and 8 mark, good enough for a third place finish in the City Conference race.

It was a good year for both team and individual efforts. Led by the powerful slugging of third baseman Jim Wolman (.329), pitcher Tony Roslawski (.328), outfielder Jeff Kohn (.372), and pitcher Terry Kotlarek (.305) the team led the circuit in team batting with a .266 average. Jeff Kohn's .372 placed him a strong sixth in individual batting honors. The team also placed second in the fielding department with .932 fielding percentage. Individual honors were bestowed upon three Pulaskians for exceptional playing. Jim Wolman was awarded a berth on the Journal All-City team and both Terry Kotlarek and Bob Helminiak were selected to the Sentinel All-City Second Team.

To quote Head Coach Calabresa: "It was a fine season; all the boys did a tremendous job. We are proud of each and every one of them."

Academic

Life – A Time to Discover

Inside every classroom were students,
Seven hours a day, five days a week;
This was their native environment.

Sometimes they were enthused, eager, and learned;

Sometimes they were tired, bored, and sluggish;

Other times they had a good laugh

Or maybe battled an opinion,

But whatever the situation,

It was always influenced by a special someone,

Their teacher.

The teacher was the commander of the classroom;

He was there to guide his students,

To test them, to correct them,

To talk with them, to inform them,

And most of all, to understand them.

The administration kept busy making the rules,

And enforcing them throughout the year

As anyone coming from Mr. Jankowski's office could tell.

Behind the scenes, but not unnoticed,

Were the men in green

Who were always just around the corner fixing things.

And each night after the corridors cleared

The ladies of the broom brigade set to work

Preparing each classroom for another day of study.

Thus, everyone worked together

To give each student a time to learn.

Academics Activate Intent Minds

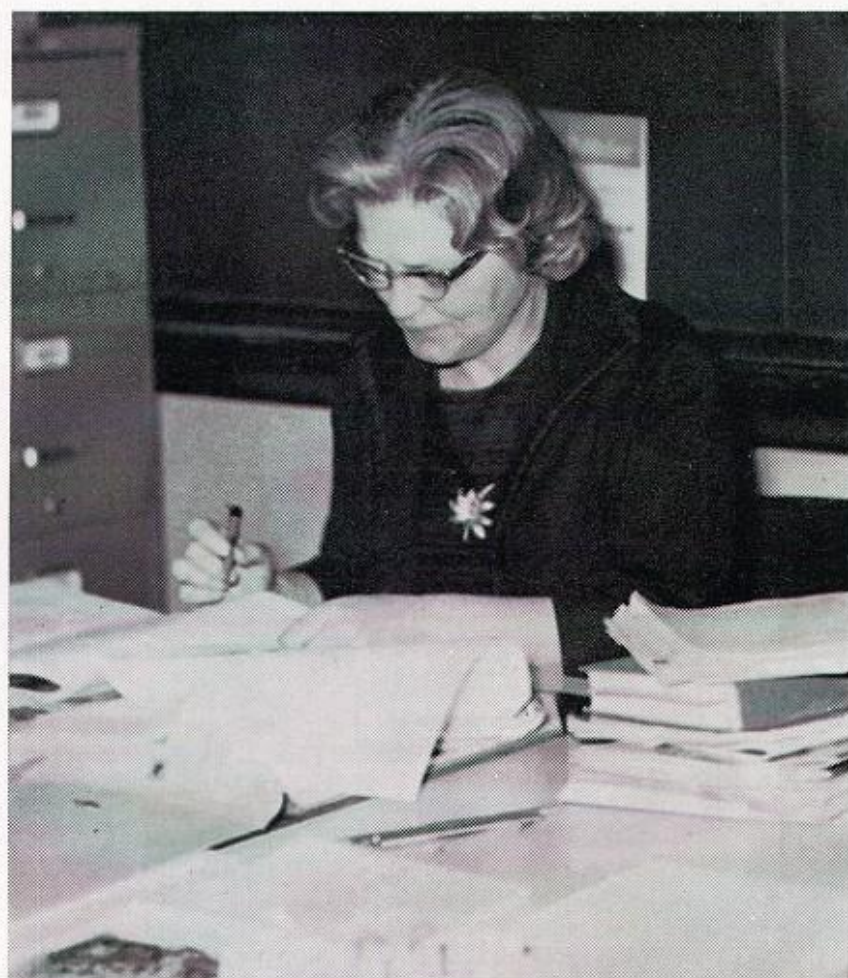

As a result of decreased enrollment, Pulaski teachers and students encountered a new seven hour day. This new schedule meant fifty-six minute periods instead of the shorter forty-eight minutes of the past years. New teaching methods, new courses, and new books enabled the faculty to put their best foot forward and trip students into learning. Trained guidance counselors were assigned for each grade level to help students cope with the arising problems of today's teens while homeroom teachers offered individual guidance in daily problems. In addition, many teachers worked with student teachers who would be receiving their licenses in the near future.

Besides their regular teaching schedule, faculty members supervised study halls, the cafeteria, and chaperoned dances. Without their help, special projects and clubs would not have existed. All extra-curricular activities had to have an advisor who devoted many hours before, during, and after school to make clubs and projects a success and to get the sports teams into top condition. Whenever a student ran into a problem or whenever they displayed extra talent in a subject, special help was cheerfully given.

Administrators Coordinate Learning

Under the guidance and leadership of principal, Mr. Edward C. DeBriac, Pulaski school life flowed smoothly again this year. His major responsibilities included supervising the faculty and maintaining an active relation with the surrounding community. In addition to these, Mr. DeBriac was in charge of special events and interscholastic activities and prepared Pulaski's school budget.

Surrounded by numerous jobs, Mr. Harold Jankowski was seen in a constant hustle. His daily activities centered around the enforcement of school disciplinary rules, the planning of teachers' and classroom schedules, and the coordinating of I.B.M. work. Mr. Jankowski also supervised the Civil Defense Program, and working in conjunction with Miss Runkel, he assisted with attendance problems.

A change occurred this year in the position of Assistant Principal. When Mr. William F. Tiernan retired in January, Mr. W. Mark Haight filled his office. He assumed the responsibilities of processing scholarship applications, programming new students, and supervising guidance.

English Cultivates Communication

Through new literature books and traditional grammar the English Department helped students improve their language and literature skills. Seniors viewed "merry old England" as they read everything from Malory's Arthurian tales to contemporary 20th Century English stories. Juniors studied American literature paralleling their United States History course; while the Sophomores took a general look at all types of literature. Grammar, however, still posed the problem of proper punctuation and sentence structure. Those students with a flare for writing elected advanced composition and creative writing.

To articulate effectively with a purpose was the object of speech classes. First semester concentrated on basic procedures of organizing a speech. Speech II acquainted students with debate, discussion, and speeches for special occasions. The drama class centered on dramatic skills, winding up the year with "The Mouse That Roared."

Linguistics Import Culture

Pulaski's Foreign Language Department forged ahead incorporating the newest in training guides. New and better films, recently revised text books, plus the use of the well equipped language lab were all a part of this extensive program. Films such as Cocteau's "Beauty and the Beast" and books, like Caesar's Gallic Wars, Le Petit Prince and Sal Y Sabor de Mexico, were successful because they were entertaining as well as informative. Along with the regular audio materials, students were able to hear tapes of everything from popular songs to sound tracks of movies including "The Umbrellas of Cherbourg."

Classes decreased in size due to the opening of Hamilton High School. This decrease made it possible for teachers to have smaller and mixed classes providing new experiences for both teachers and students.

Science Probes Nature's Secrets

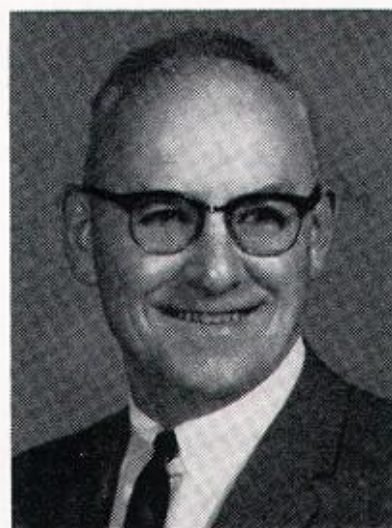

"Do you add acid to water or water to an acid?" wonders Richard Kay in the middle of a difficult experiment.

Amid the fumes of formaldehyde, a groan escaped from many a biology student, "Me, touch that frog!", and thus the traditional dissection began. These biology classes peered into all forms of life from the simplest to the most complex plants and animals. Students also became acquainted with the complicated study of the gene and the laws of heredity.

For the first time in Pulaski's history, a Chemistry III course was offered during the regular school year. This course, pioneered by Mr. Joseph Schmitz, featured many advanced experiments stressing qualitative analysis.

Senior physics students learned what makes the world go around besides love. Attention focused on heat, light, color, sound, radioactivity, and electricity.

Mathematics Equals Diligent Study

Mr. Edward Zielinski
Dept. Chairman, S.A. Math,
Adv. Math, Geometry

Miss Dorothea Baumann
Geometry

The ultimate in modern math books, Principles of Advanced Mathematics, brought the revision of our Mathematics Department to a close. Teachers crossed their fingers and hoped new students would find an interest in the challenging language of science, mathematics. Geometry courses cleared up reasoning powers within its scores of theorems, corollaries, and proofs. At the same time, algebra classes were confronted with balancing simple and quadratic equations and solving the many complexities of its word problems.

Real math enthusiasts were challenged to compete with college calculus and analytic geometry. Advanced math scholars succumbed to trigonometric functions, fractions, and factoring while others were mystified by sines, series, and slippery sliderules. In an attempt to keep pace with the demands of college chemistry and physics, the staff's program built foundations for future mathematicians.

Keeping in tune with progress, Pulaski's Music Department underwent minor changes this year. Although the student enrollment diminished, student interest in music increased. This interest crescendoed in everything from Music Appreciation, Girls' Glee, and A Cappella Choir, to harp lessons just introduced this year. To enhance listening experience, an extensive stereo system was installed with speakers in opposite corners of the music room.

Broadening its scope, the Art Department lessened its emphasis on painting, and instead, students extended their skills to making jewelry and pottery. For example, students indulged in silver casting for the first time this year. In addition, the art students and teachers devoted a great portion of their time to promoting school spirit by making elaborate decorations for concerts, dances, and the prom.

Social Studies Encompasses Globe

"He's got to be kidding!" whispers an American Government student in answer to one of Mr. Soucie's tricky questions.

All the world took shape before the eyes of social studies students this year. By the use of audio and visual aids, these students became a part of ages past and present and through their understanding learned to cope with the future.

History students explored the wilds of America and fought alongside Caesar in their quest for knowledge. American history, a requirement for graduation, helped students to appreciate their American heritage. Geography whisked pupils away on exciting trips to study our neighbors in distant lands. By means of actual classroom legislation, young citizens learned the true meaning of American government. Others delved into the problems of today's world by studying economics and sociology.

Physical Education Tones Muscles

Pulaski's physical education department strove to develop strong bodies, good sportsmanship, and alertness this past year.

All students took swim in their sophomore year and progressed according to their ability. The junior year was a year of choice. Boys and girls could further their swimming abilities by taking advanced swim for one semester and life saving for the next. Modern dance was another selection for junior girls. If none of these classes were chosen, juniors were automatically enrolled in gym class. In these classes basic rules of sports such as volleyball, basketball, and tumbling were taught. In their last year the seniors studied health. This less active but equally important course focused on ways to keep the body strong and in good physical condition.

Home Ec. Cooks Up Savory Ideas

The home Economics courses had formulated a recipe to yield American homemakers and parents. Following instructions, Pulaski's Home Economics Department added a pinch of changes to this year's curriculum. The ingredients included a schedule adapted to fewer foods and clothing classes and more classes in other fields of home economics such as home planning, consumer education, child care, and textile arts.

The filling of this concoction was a stress on the realities of homemaking. Sophomores prepared the first part of the recipe, gaining experience as they went shopping for reports, cooked meals, and cleaned the model home. Family Living, for both boys and girls, lit the fire in knowledge of family relations and family management. Interior decoration, buying, selling, and maintaining a home were the finishing touches added in Home Management.

Busy was the key word in the Business Education Department this year as they strove to teach academic as well as manipulative skills. With the help of comptometers, cash registers, typewriters, and adding machines, students gained experiences enabling them to go into the world of business.

The Vocational Education course was composed of two divisions, Office Education and Distributive Education. These two courses provided half-day classroom instruction with fifteen to twenty-eight hours a week of actual training experience with local business firms. Office Education just introduced to Pulaskians this fall had an enrollment of twenty-one trainees. It provided one credit for Coop Office Practice and one credit for work experience. The Distributive Education Program provided one credit for classroom instruction given in the junior and senior years and one credit for training experience during the senior year in marketing and distribution.

Industrial Arts Stress Vocations

Under the steady hum of the electric band saw, rough hewn edges are transformed into a finished product during a woodshop session.

The spinning lathe and the flying chips mark the successful beginning of another project in the woodworking shops.

Expansion and modernization highlighted this year's industrial arts program. In a hectic summer ceremony rooms 38 and 2 united to form one large workshop while carpentry magic transformed room 42 into an electronics lab. These changes provided better working conditions which resulted in better products with increased skill.

The Industrial Arts Department also announced the arrival of a new teaching program. Student teachers from Stout State University appeared in the industrial workshops for the first time, although student teachers have helped in academic subjects for years. Their assistance enabled the department to stress many new and different facets of industrial education.

Special Ed. Stresses Achievement

Planning their future, members of the Special Education classes spend part of the school year gathering information on various occupations.

Teaching academic subjects and promoting useful working skills were the objectives of the Special Education Department. Knowledge gained in the classroom was put to a practical test in the outside jobs. Undergraduates spent a half day in school earning academic credits, and the other half day on the job earning additional credits and valuable work experience. During their last semester, seniors worked full time receiving all of their credits on the recommendations of their employers.

To earn the Special Education Award, a student had to show outstanding achievement according to his capacity. This year's winner, Thomas Hudzinski, was the fourth to receive the award and a gold cord on Senior Honor Day. Throughout the entire year, high academic standards were maintained with emphasis on the education of the individual.

Office Staff Personifies Precision

Mr. Gable Nelson
School Accountant, Bookstore

Miss Marian Ericksen
Secretary to the Principal

The pulsating rhythms of typewriters, adding machines, telephones, and the switchboard could be heard as bewildered students, forlorn parents, and help seeking teachers entered the hub of the school, the office. Cheerfully the office staff performed the services essential to the operation of the school. During the school year the staff directed lost sophomores, checked on juniors, and handed out tons of materials for seniors to complete. With this ever increasing amount of "red tape", the staff eagerly accepted newly acquired equipment.

In his role as school accountant and manager of the bookstore, Mr. Gable Nelson also gave of his services this year. His job was to balance the school accounts and to see that the bookstore was always filled with supplies necessary to satisfy the constant demands of Pulaski's students.

Active

Hours – A Time to Participate

With a clang, a smile, and a sigh the 3:28 bell
shouted out

Ending the school day and beginning the "active hours."

Tucked away in many obscure corners

Or in the gym or pool or auditorium

Were an order of extra special students

Giving their extra energy and hours to Pulaski.

They were found hunting out their interests;

Detecting flaws in rehearsals before stage time,

Deciphering notes for news stories,

Calculating precision dance or swim movements,

Strategically planning checkmates,

Designing new student cheers,

Tuning in on the latest musical scores,

Guarding auditorium entrances with handfuls of programs,

Keeping tabs on absentees,

Patrolling the long lockered corridors,

Notifying carriers of overdue books,

Broadcasting the current school capers,

Or hiding in darkrooms during noon hour movies.

Each of these students were rewarded

Not just with a pin or a certificate,

But with a feeling of deep satisfaction,

A feeling lasting not only for an hour of school
time,

But for their posterity,

As a time when giving brought its own reward.

Activities Break Up Dreary Hours

Running, jumping, screaming, and shouting students engaged in extracurricular activities were constantly on the go. Their enthusiasm overflowed the classrooms and corridors transforming the school into a whirlwind of bustling activity.

One could hear the haunting harmony of the A Capella Choir and Girls Glee wafting through the air mixed with the lush sounds of the Orchestra rehearsing to entertain music lovers of all ages. At sporting events, the Band's pulsating rhythm set the tempo of action. The high stepping drill team also moved in with a beat on these occasions. Natate members frolicked in the pool to accompanying strains of music in presenting colorful water displays while Orchesis dancers graced the stage with their modern interpretation of dance forms. Devotees of the A.F.S. contributed their time to the support of the foreign exchange program. F.T.A. members were busy learning and training for their future teaching careers. Various monitors abounded in the library, bookstore, office, and halls regulating traffic and maintaining peace. On the third floor Cavalier annual and newspaper staffs scurried compiling information and data for their publications.

On the intellectual side, there were a host of clubs challenging students' abilities. These included the Chess Club, Science Club, Stamp Club, and Astronomy Club. For the glib of tongue, there was the Debate Team. Whatever the activity, students both enjoyed and enlightened themselves by their participation.

"With a little bit of luck," stage crew architects construct paper pillars to lend a classical air to the Orchesis number, "Patch of Blue."

Band members rehearse a precision drill, coordinating their movements to the rhythm for a football half-time ceremony.

Cavalier newspaper staff members, Steve Lutomski and Donna Buchmann, relax between deadlines by folding the papers for delivery.

Varsity cheerleaders show that the exhaustion after a game is minor compared to the exhilaration of cheering the team on to victory.

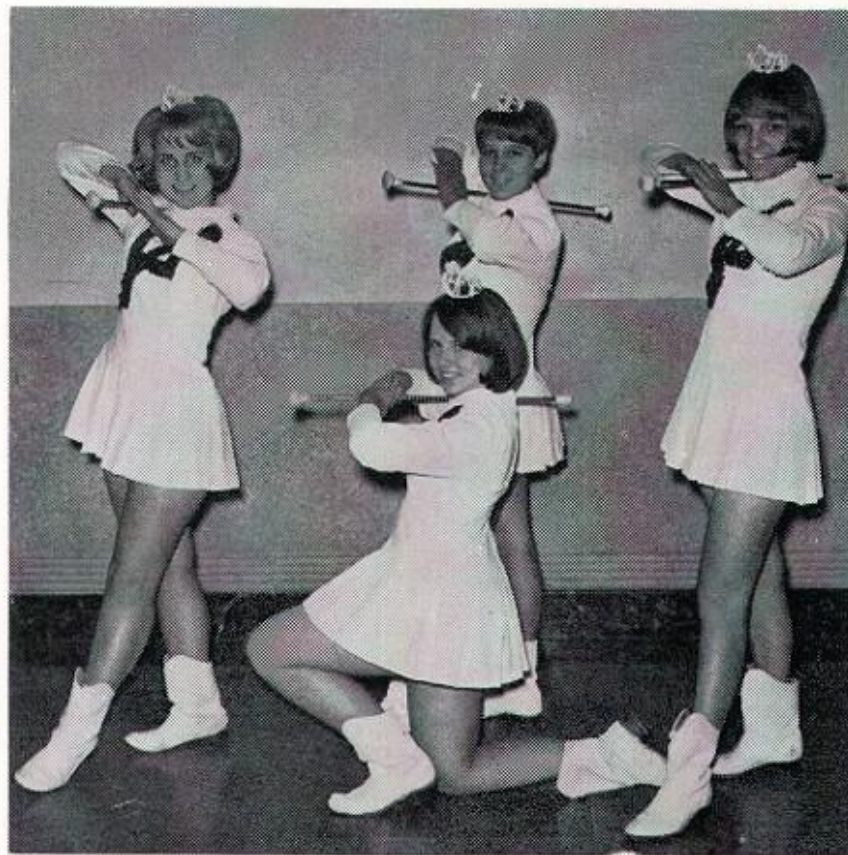

"Roll Out the Barrel" resound in the cafeteria as versatile band members such as Virginia Bleiweiss give a Dixieland concert.

Braving the cold, windy weather of March, drill team members represent Pulaski in the St. Patrick's Day Parade downtown.

Band "Saints" Perform in Concert

Majorettes: STANDING: Christine Malak, Jackie Bigalke, Karen Kroll. KNEELING: Karen Obremski.

The band, under the direction of Mr. Ronald De Villers, had a record year for performances. They started out the year last September with 7:15 A.M. band practices in preparation for the football season. The members not only entertained during half times at home games, but they also faithfully followed the team all over the city and to Racine for a night game. On Fridays before games, they added effervescence to the pep rallies as they did to the opening ceremonies at the new Southgate Post Office. In an effort to recruit members for future years, Sholes Junior High School was the scene of a sample concert. Pulaski and Bay View tried something new this past year by exchanging bands for an afternoon concert.

However, the high point of their year was the second annual band review. Having no special theme, the show was divided into two parts. The first part consisted of concert music while the second part featured modern music beginning with a Glen Miller medley and ending with a Dixieland band. Songs from different lands were also played with native hats used to add effect.

Throughout the year, wherever the band was, one was certain to hear strains of "When the Saints Go Marching In," which was their unofficial theme song.

Orchestra Notes Musical Prowess

Each day many varying sounds were heard from "the music corner", room 101, as students tuned their instruments. Perfection, or else, led orchestra members to try, try again in fear of being squashed under Mr. Raccoli's "powder puff." They practiced before school at early morning rehearsals, during school at regular class sessions, and independently at home. Their finished products were finally presented to parents, teachers, and friends at several programs.

The first of these programs was the Christmas Concert. In it difficult pieces such as "Prayer and Pantomime" from Hansel and Gretel and "Christmas Carol Fantasy" were preformed. Shortly after Christmas, the orchestra was again in need to play "Autumn Leaves" as a final tribute to the January graduates. The group's next appearance came in the form of a "command performance" at Sholes Junior High to encourage future Pulaskians to study music. Their year was rounded out by the Spring Concert, Musi-crama. The elegance provided by the formally dressed members and the heavenly strains of harp music cast a dreamy glow over this fitting end to a very productive year.

Choir Harmonizes – A Cappella

Attired in their traditional red and blue robes, Pulaski's A Cappella Choir members created angelic sounds at the annual Christmas and Spring concerts. Daily third-hour rehearsal under the direction of Mr. Alfred Niefer, were often supplemented by early morning sectionals, especially near performance time. These moments were spent in an honest effort to perfect the pitch and rhythm of every arrangement.

The choir's heavenly tones were heard throughout the year. A special honor was bestowed on the choir when it was requested to perform at the annual Pearl Harbor Day memorial services at the Memorial Center on December 6. Members gave a deeper meaning to Christmas by echoing traditional carols through the halls at school. An ensemble performed a service to their community by sharing its cheer with the patients at County Hospital during the holiday season. Several selections were also performed at January graduation. The eighty select voices took time out from their busy schedules to join other city high school choirs in singing at the All-City Biennial Music Festival in May. In June all music was put away but not forgotten by choir members or their audiences.

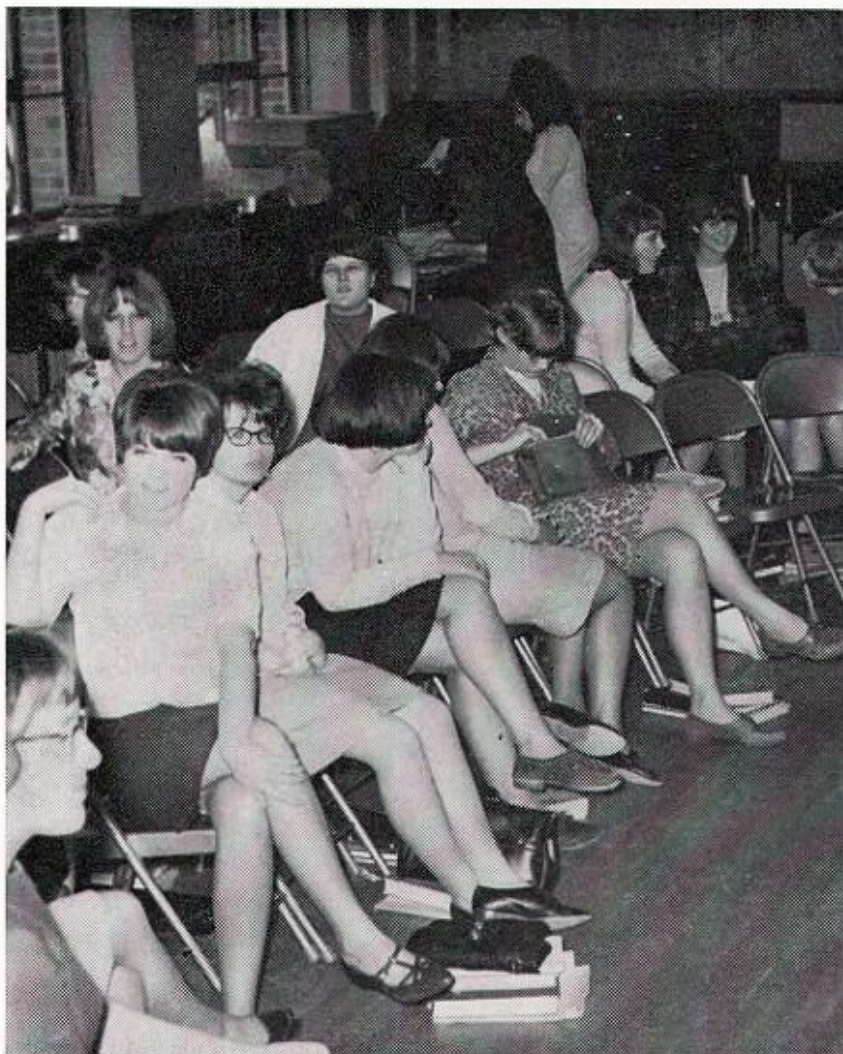

In preparation for Pulaski's spring concert, "Music-Rama," the A Cappella Choir harmonizes through another daily practice.

Girls Join in Gleeful Unison

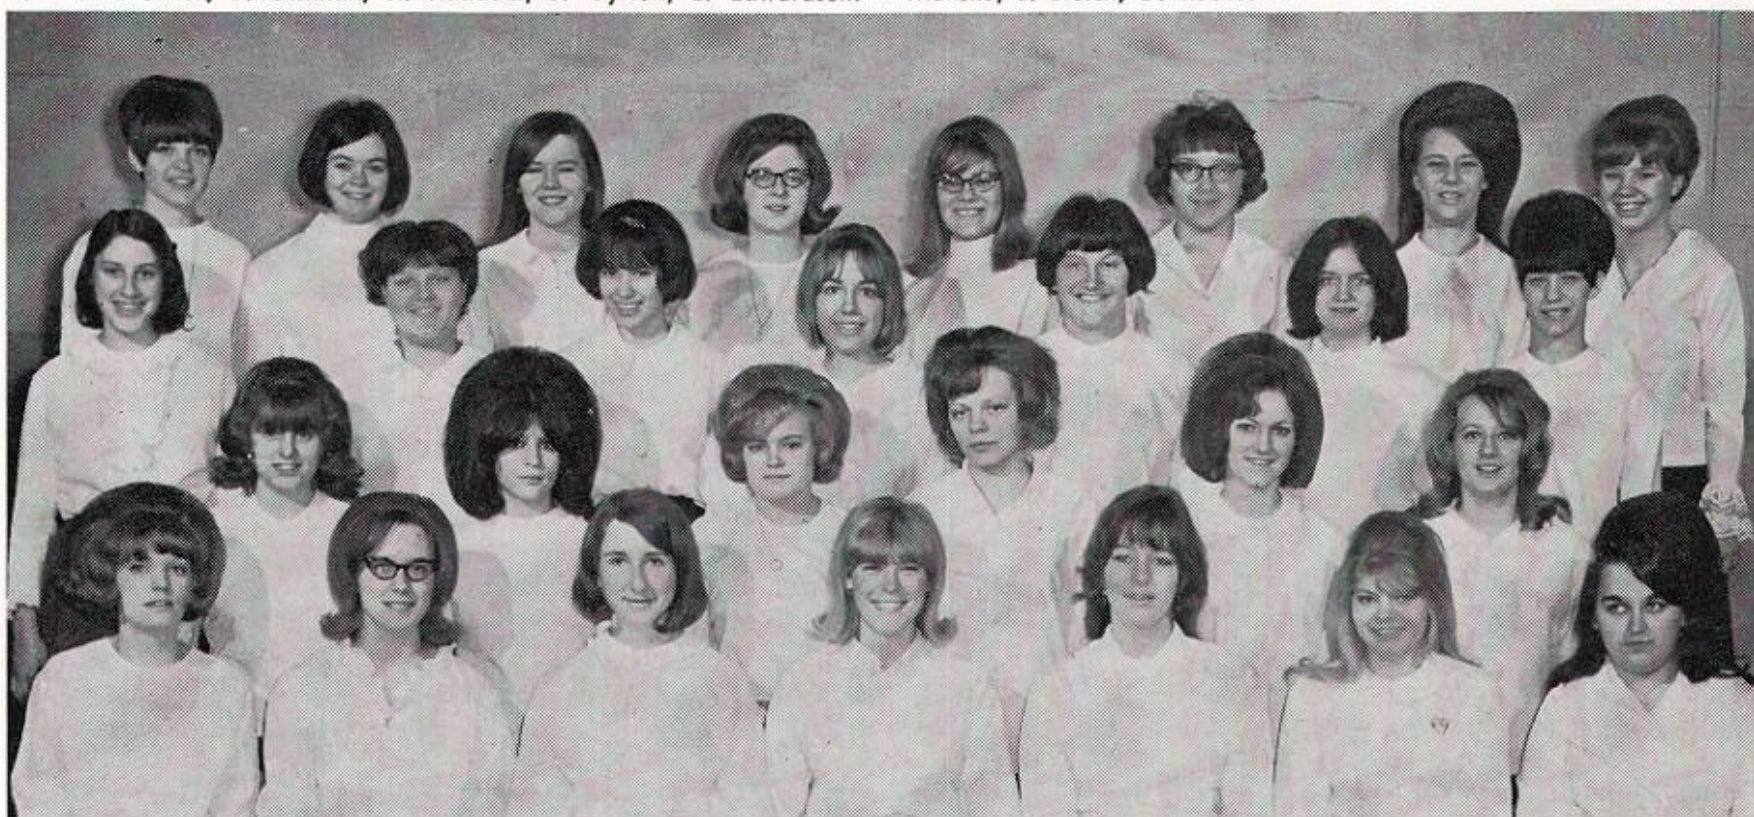

During a short interlude in class, Girls' Glee members rest their vocal chords with a bit of light conversation.

The blended voices of the Girls' Glee proved to be one of the assets of Pulaski's Music Department this year. It was an elective course open to all girls interested in singing and performing. Throughout both semesters, they practiced in class each day to develop tone quality and harmony and to memorize songs. During the final weeks before their performances, the entire group came to early morning rehearsals to perfect their songs. Mr. Arthur Racoli and Mr. Alfred Neifer directed the girls both at the rehearsals and at the concerts.

At the Christmas concert, they began the show with the traditional procession of lights into the darkened auditorium singing "O Come All Ye Faithful." They joined in the joyous, festive spirit of the holiday season by singing such numbers as the popular "White Christmas" and "The Gift of Love," which was accompanied by the orchestra. The girls performed a variety of songs at the spring concert. Their cheery voices and pastel formals were in harmony with the happy feeling of spring.

Cheerleaders Chant With Spirit

Enthusiastic cheerleader, Pat Mroz, urges students to shout, "A little bit louder now! What do you say? Hey!"

The dictionary is likely to define cheerleaders as some of the most active people alive; Pulaski's cheerleaders were no exception. These ten peppy girls displayed zealous energy throughout the football and basketball seasons. Wearing oversized red pullover sweaters and blue flared skirts, they led enthused crowds in loud chants of encouragement for the Rams.

Mrs. Angeline Newman supervised the girls as they held their practices to perfect old cheers and to invent new, fresh ones. Each week the girls changed the captain so that new ideas could be brought into the games. Besides practicing, the girls painted victory signs which they carried around the field to the applause of fans. At homecoming time the girls constructed their own float. To accommodate the indoor conditions, they sewed their own red vests to which they attached their personalized cloth megaphone. The megaphones were also worn on the girls' letter sweaters, a first for Pulaski's cheerleaders. The year closed with tryouts for the coming season and encouraging words from graduating cheerleaders.

Believing that practice makes perfect, Miss Braun watches the drill team practice a new formation for a basketball game.

Concentrating on the rhythm, Cavalierettes begin an intricate precision drill as part of their contribution to a pep rally.

Drill Team Struts in Cadence

Cavalierettes' Captain, Mary Carlson, drills on precision first before taking the girls into more intricate routines.

"Mark time—march!" echoed throughout the basement hall as Pulaski's Cavalierettes practiced to the call of the Sergeant at Arms for exhibitions during the year. Meeting on Tuesday and Thursday for an hour after school, the Drill Team, under the supervision of Miss Suzan Braun, rehearsed the "P," zig-zag, circular, and royal step formations. Clad in navy blue skirts and red sweaters which were accented by blue plumes, the Cavalierettes performed for school as well as public events.

Putting their best foot forward, the drill team marched in the Saint Patrick, Memorial and Armed Forces Day Parades. In addition, the thirty-two member corps performed for half-time programs during the football and basketball seasons. To highlight their performances, the Drill Team manipulated six foot long red and blue twirls in time with the song "Winchester Cathedral."

Tryouts for new sophomore or junior members were held in September. The only membership requirements were the willingness to devote a majority of free time to Drill Team rehearsals and the maintenance of "C" grades.

Natare Sculls in Colorful Fantasy

Natare members work enthusiastically to prepare the decorations that will set the scene for "Fantasy in Color."

Clyde Peschl, Rita Bleiweiss, Beverly Hart, and Frito Rivera form a fascinating hallucination in "Colored by LSD."

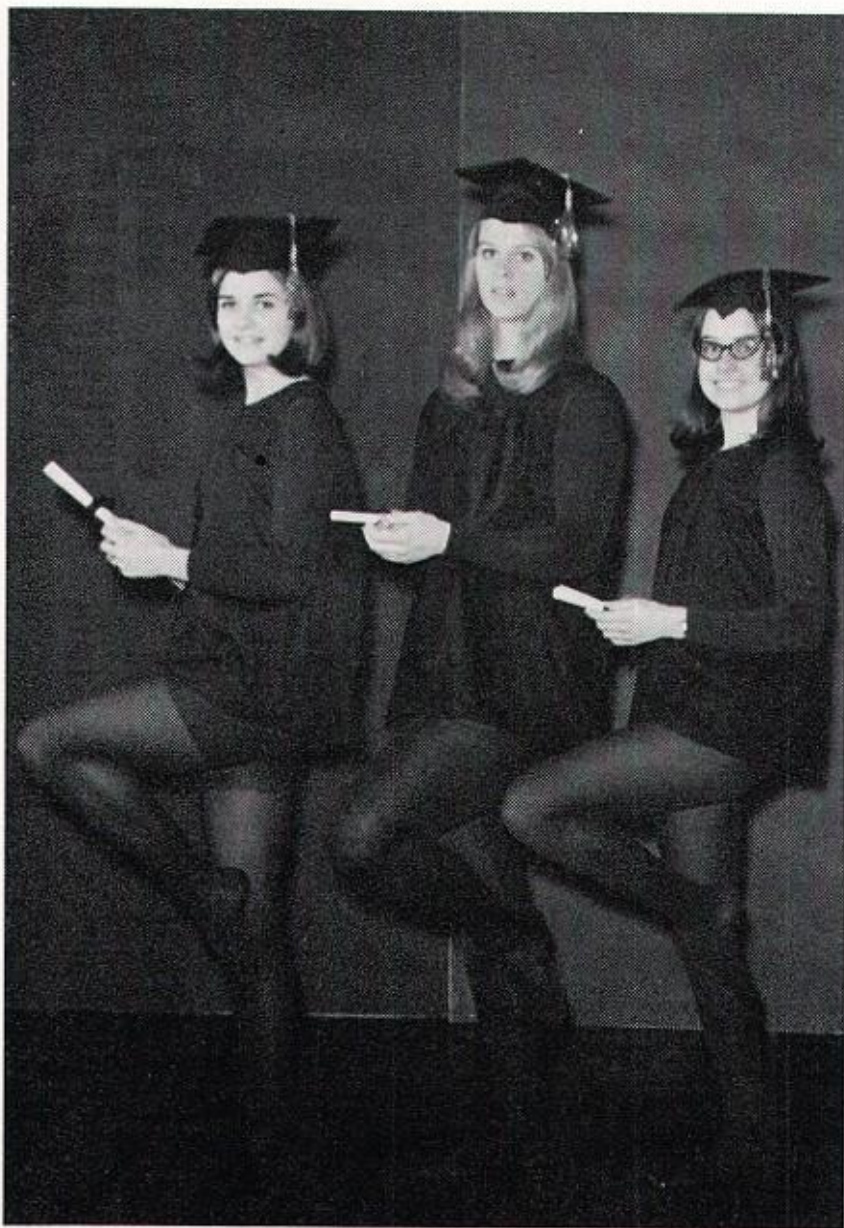

"To swim," the Latin meaning of Natare, characterized the activity of the swim club. The girls spent countless hours originating and synchronizing their swimming skits. Besides this they worked to organize their annual show and to prepare their costumes which were all made by the Natare-ites themselves. The show, under the direction of Mrs. LaVerne Dougherty, had several new twists this year. For one, there was the addition of two mer-men, Frito Rivera and Clyde Peschl, to the otherwise all-girl show. Secondly, the theme, "Fantasy in Color," furnished greater opportunities for color and lighting of which the club took full advantage. Kaleidoscopic brilliance was displayed in such numbers as "Red Devils," "Emeralds," and "Colored by L.S.D." The Milwaukee Journal boosted publicity for the show by featuring a full color picture of the Natare club in costume.

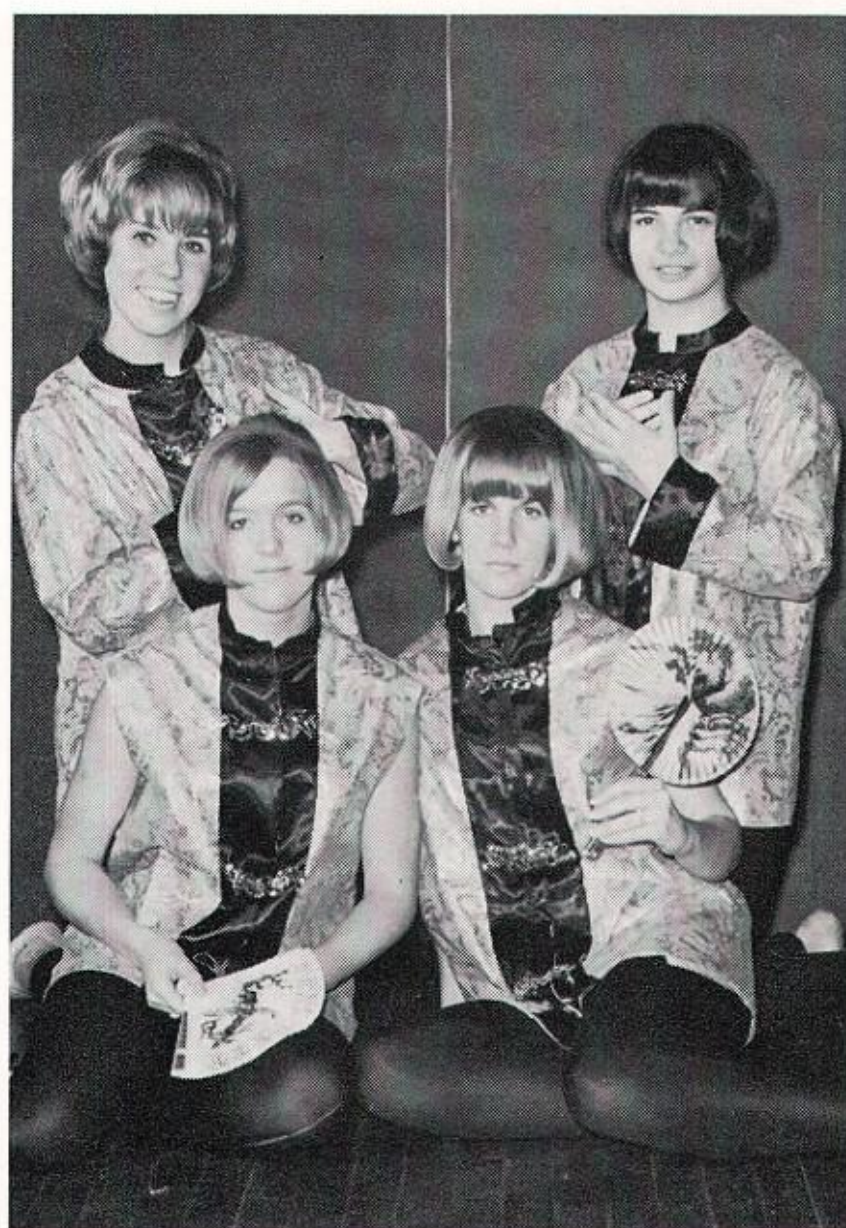

Natare conducted its tryouts in fall after several clinics to teach prospective mermaids the fundamentals of precision swimming. Mrs. Dougherty and the club officers, President Peggy Muelver, Vice-president Cathy Shevey, and Secretary Kathy Flesch, judged the swimmers and chose the new members.

Orchesis Illustrates Literature

This year Orchesis danced through the wide world of literature. The show, under the direction of Mrs. Angeline Newman, was rightly called "Literary World." In it Orchesis members interpreted various book, poem, and magazine titles. "Good Housekeeping" set the scene for the evening, while lively numbers such as "Blackboard Jungle" and "The Invaders" sparked the audience with enthusiasm. "Scarecrows" featured the Club's President Marjorie Hughes, Vice-president Nancy Steinke, and Secretary Stephanie Gukich. Gymnast James Kachelmeyer demonstrated his versatility in "Tumble Weed" while Frito Rivera sculpted a living statue of Marjorie Hughes in "With These Hands I Create." The closing number, "One Little Candle," sung by all the girls in the Orchesis Club, topped the well rounded performance.

In spring Orchesis held a clinic for all girls interested in trying out for the club. These girls were taught the correct posture, grace, and the movements basic to modern dance. After the fundamentals, they were given a word to interpret in a short dance routine. Mrs. Newman and Senior offices, acting as judges, chose the new members.

"Through the Looking Glass" Vice-president, Nancy Steinke is a perfect reflection of the movements of Secretary Stevie Gukich.

Orchesis president, Margie Hughes, expresses the emotions of a Grecian statue in her solo number, "With These Hands I Create."

Orchesis members add a touch of brightness to their Literary World in this scene from "A Patch of Blue."

Demonstrating the art of good housekeeping, Orchesis members cleaned the stage in the opening number of their show.

Learn Now; In Turn to Teach

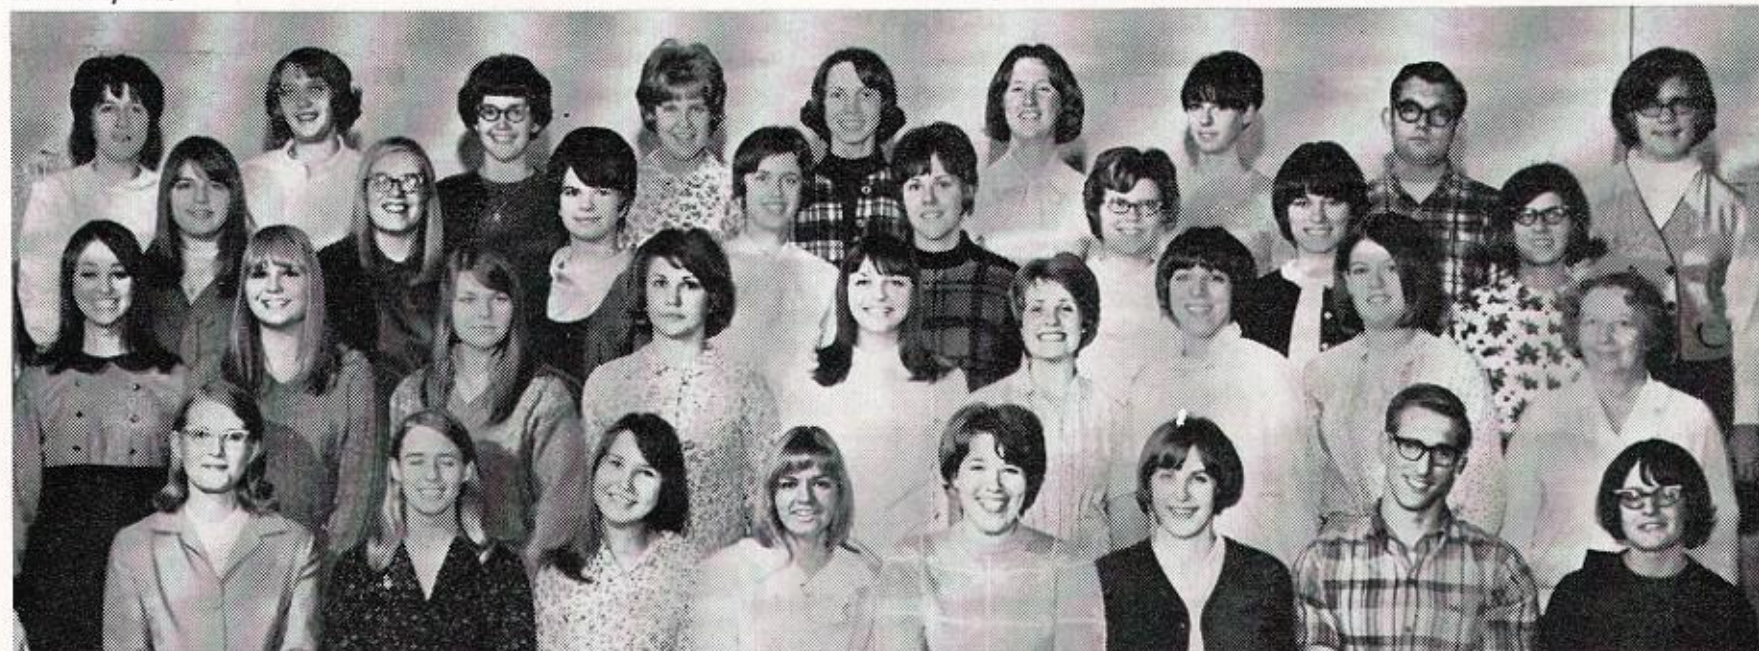

Somewhere among the files, Marilyn Mecha and Christine Prescott hope to find hints for bettering their annual candy sale.

Books and blackboards were the tools of Pulaski's Future Teachers of America. By tutoring students and assisting teachers, the members learned both the fundamentals and responsibilities of the teaching profession. Miss Asimont advised the club's officers, President Jean Helsinger, Vice-president Marilyn Mecha, Secretary Elizabeth Szyszko, and Treasurer Christine Prescott, in all the club's projects. Besides helping around school, activities included speakers from different phases of teaching, a tour of Oklahoma Avenue Elementary School, and a lecture and tea at UWM. The final outing was the F.T.A. State Convention held at James Madison High School.

The club raised money for the book scholarship fund and apple merit pins by the sale of holly sprigs during the Christmas season and the annual candy sale. These awards were given out at the F.T.A. spring banquet.

A.F.S. Promotes World Friendship

Participating in a group picnic at Jackson Park, Americans Abroad candidates try their hand at toasting marshmallows.

The sale of brownies and cupcakes, Alfonse stickers, carnations, and Christmas cards marked a year of progress for the American Field Service Club. The club endeavored to strengthen international friendship through foreign exchange students. Through projects sponsored last year, exchange student Ute Walberg arrived in Milwaukee from Goslar, Germany, to live with the Steinke family and to attend Pulaski during the 1966-1967 school year.

Mrs. Susan Hackl supervised the A.F.S. Club's wide variety of activities which were highlighted by an A.F.S. Day. On April 26 foreign exchange students from different suburban schools visited Pulaski and spoke during a morning assembly. This was a part of A.F.S. Day which gave Pulaski students an opportunity to learn of the customs and interests of teenagers from other countries. Carnations and more carnations ended the club's projects, springing up for sale on May 1, Pulaski's A.F.S. May Day.

Beginning in September, all students interested in the Americans Abroad Program underwent interviews and group discussions. As a result of months of screening, Junior Audrey Daines was selected as a finalist by the New York Chapter to represent Pulaski in a foreign country in the Northern Hemisphere. Thus the club succeeded to promote international ideas by receiving an exchange student and also by having a Pulaski student as a finalist in the A.A. Program.

Room 328 was the scene of bustling activity as the editors and assistants on the Cavalier Annual staff gathered information to provide an accurate record of the events of the 1966-67 school year at Pulaski. Planning began during the summer vacation and work continued until the last page had been sent to the printer in spring. "A Time in Our Lives" was chosen as the theme to show the importance of high school years in a person's life.

The advisors, Mr. Albert Jelinek and Mrs. Mary Sorensen, supervised all work and made suggestions and corrections. Editor-in-Chief Carlen Schenk and Assistant Editor Elizabeth Szyszko organized the book, made assignments of duties, cropped pictures, and checked copy. Photographers captured all important events as well as many unprepared students and teachers on film. Other staff members planned page layouts, gathered information, organized the index, and wrote articles, cutlines, and headlines always remembering that "Deadlines are sacred."

Mr. Marvin Alexander directed the Annual Business and Sales Staff. The girls on the staff took orders from the homeroom representatives, collected money, and distributed the Annuals at the end of the year.

Year of Editorial Focuses Print

Mrs. Pope reviews a story for the Cavalier while Steve Lutomski, Copy Editor, and Sue Johnson, Cartoonist, offer suggestions.

Editorials, sports coverage, feature stories, and student activity news demonstrated writing skills in every issue of the Cavalier newspaper. Cooperating with their advisor, Mrs. Luella Pope, and editor-in-chief, Beatrice Callery, staff members hunted out news in all fields of school life. Pulaski published its first eight page issue, which included a picture page, in the homecoming edition of the Cavalier.

Staff members were active journalists outside of Pulaski as well as within the newspaper room 310. Beatrice Callery acted as an officer in the Greater Milwaukee Conference of High School Journalists while Marlene Fritz won the Governor's Cup for Journalism at the workshop held at Madison. Steven Lutomski also showed his writing ability by winning the Second Annual Associated Press High School Journalism Contest for his editorial on Miss Doring. In April, Lincoln High School held a training session for all Milwaukee high school newspapers. After this preparation, Juniors took charge of the last two issues of the Cavalier with Seniors giving experienced advice.

Council Unites Student Body

Work, work, work symbolized this year's Student Service Council under the supervision of Mr. Raymond Calenberg and Mr. W. Mark Haight. Through the Council, Pulaskians received a taste of democracy and parliamentary procedure. Each semester, every homeroom elected a representative and an alternate to attend weekly meetings. In an effort to boost school spirit, the Council staged dances, pep rallies, an all school dress-up day, and color days throughout the year. The Thanksgiving Day Basket Drive, which furnished the less fortunate with a balanced meal, plus a Vocation Day and College Day, which let students consider their futures, were among the products of the year's activities. Student car registration and the lost and found service showed the Council's effort to keep order in school life. Without the help of the students who volunteered, these projects would never have been completed.

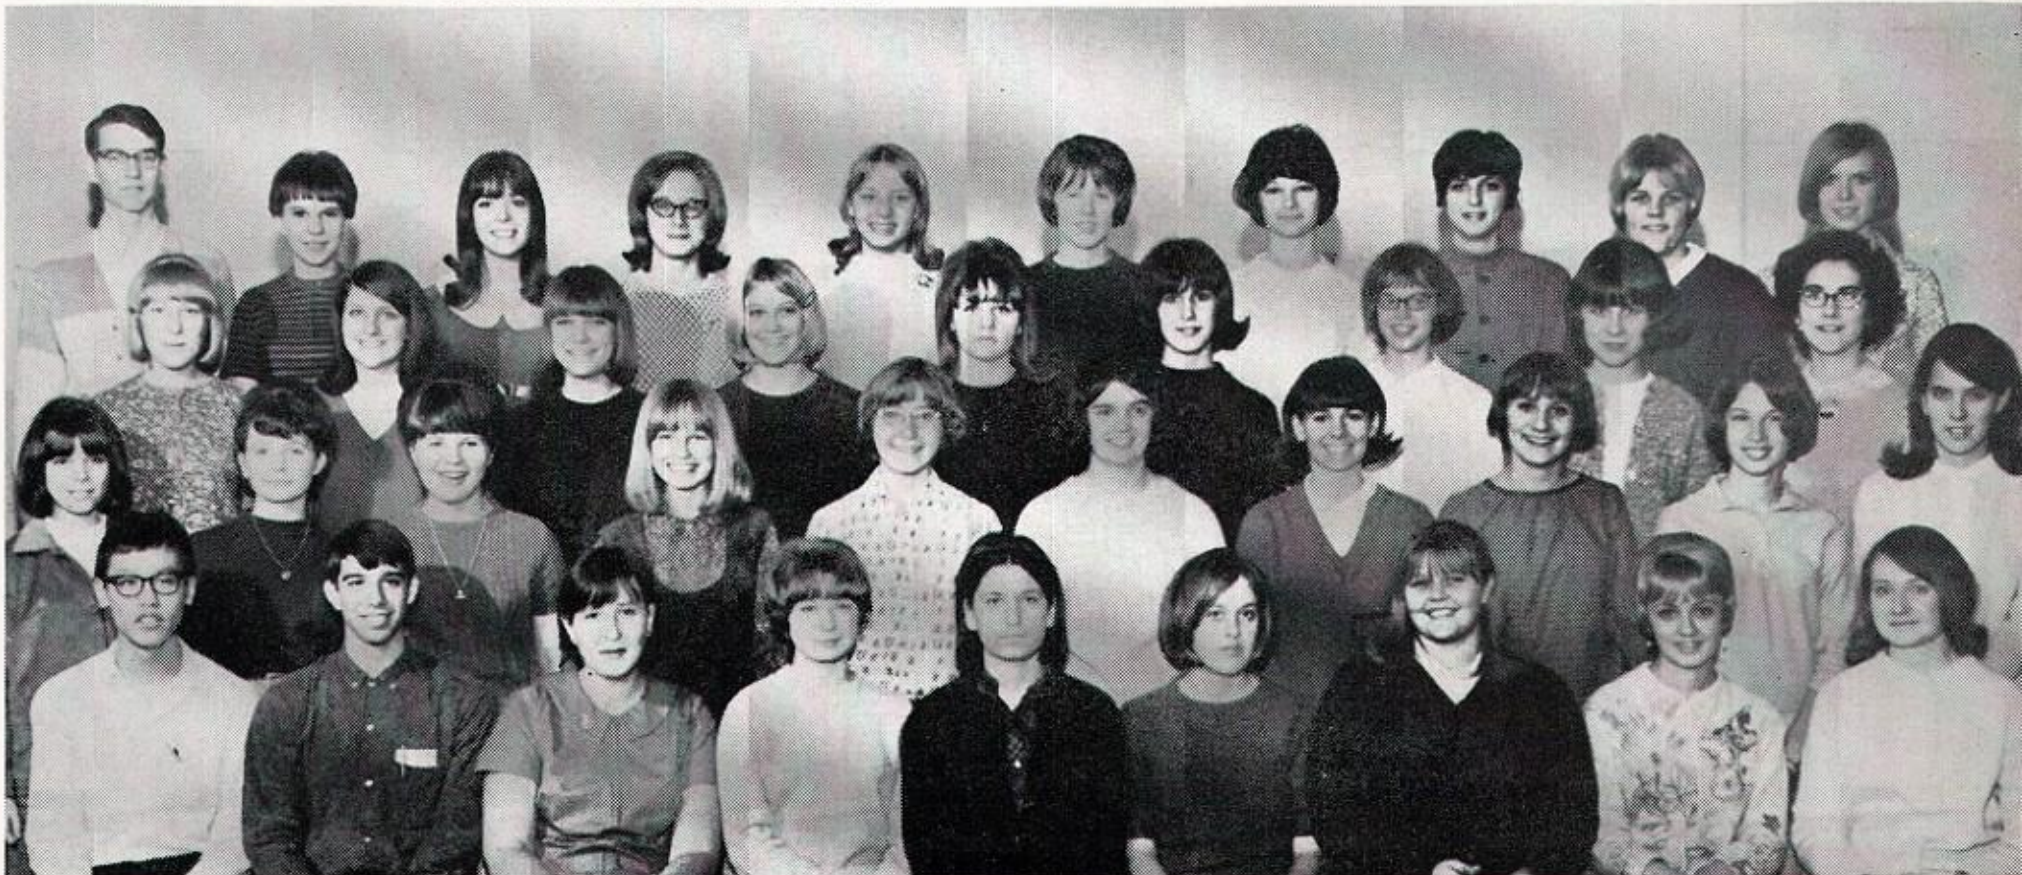

Fashion-minded students modeled clothes from Singers at the Council's style show called "Spring Fever." The profits supplemented the scholarship fund which had dwindled since the cancellation of noon hour movies. The grand finale of the year was the second annual talent show, "Ramblers' Vaudeville '67."

Glass Menagerie Enthralls Audience

Cast: TOP: Geraldine Klatt, John Ruder. BOTTOM: Peggy Muelver, Tom Johnson.

The Blue Masque Players, under the direction of Mrs. Pauline Stanwitt, presented Tennessee Williams' "The Glass Menagerie" on Friday, December 2, and Saturday, December 3. In order to avoid interference with other special events, the play was scheduled earlier in the year than usual. The cast included Peggy Muelver as Laura Wingfield, John Ruder as Tom Wingfield, the narrator of the story, Tom Johnson as the gentleman caller, and Geraldine Klatt as Amanda, the mother. This controversial play concerned a mother who, living in the glory of her past romances, attempted to influence the lives of her children. As a result, both of the children tried to escape reality, one by drinking and the other by collecting a glass menagerie.

For their fine performances, an Honor Recognition Day was held for the cast and production crew after school on Friday, December 16. Special honors were awarded to each cast member by Mr. Edward DeBriac. Mr. Harold Jankowski gave special recognition to the production crew for their effective assistance behind the stage. During the program, Miss Theoret presented each of the four dramatists with a play memory book assembled by Mary Antross in pictorial form.

Activities Arouse Imagination

Pulaski's first outings group, the WAYFARERS CLUB, was organized this year. The purpose of the club was to go on fieldtrips and outings for fun and enjoyment. With the assistance of Miss Suzan Braun, Wayfarers started the year with a hike and picnic at Whitnall Park. As autumn progressed, a bowling party and hayride made the scene. Winter and snow meant the highlight of the year—a day of skiing at "Little Switzerland." Unfortunately, a second skiing trip was called off for lack of snow. The Wayfarers Club was open to all Pulaskians interested in good, wholesome fun.

Under the guidance of Mr. Richard Lynch, the DISTRIBUTIVE EDUCATION CLUB offered opportunities for students to see what the business world was like. Open to seniors, members attended classes in the morning and left for on-the-job training in the afternoon. Students were employed by firms in the Milwaukee area, gaining valuable experience while earning scholastic credit. Raising money by two bake sales during the year, DECA was able to send its members to the state convention where they won several honors in competition with other schools.

Students Assist in School Action

With the help of the school librarian, Mrs. Edith Yankee, the LIBRARY AIDES assisted students and teachers in their quest for literary knowledge. Stocking shelves and stamping out books were library aide specialties. Through their varied jobs, aides gained a better appreciation of the work required to run a library.

Navy blue skirts and white blouses were the official uniform of Pulaski's USHER CORPS. Under the watchful eyes of Mr. Joseph Schmitz, the ushers served at concerts, plays, and shows by collecting tickets and giving out programs with a courteous smile.

Each morning students were informed of the day's happenings by the perky voices of the P.A. ANNOUNCERS. Often Mr. DeBriac's office rang in song or echoed skiis by students announcing coming activities. Announcers were selected after being auditioned by a committee of the Student Council.

PROJECTIONISTS, after a short training period with Mr. Duane Allman, gave up their study halls to run movie equipment for classroom teachers. Room 109 and Room 3 bustled with activity as projectors, recorders, and screens were made ready for use throughout the building.

The ring of the cash register marked the flow of money as BOOKSTORE MONITORS made their sales. These efficient girls, under the supervision of Mr. Gable Nelson, school accountant, kept Pulaski students adequately supplied with needed school materials.

Bookstore monitors Kathie Polites and Kathie Van Veghel are kept busy by students scurrying to buy last minute supplies.

Involvement Means Achievement

January Planning Committee: TOP: N. Haefner, M. Mussa, D. Napieralski, BOTTOM: C. Snartemo, N. Abbott, C. Konczal.

Preparing seniors for graduation was the work of the January and June SENIOR PLANNING COMMITTEES. A representative and alternate from each homeroom met regularly with class officers and sponsors. Together they worked out details for the baccalaureate services, senior banquets, and commencement exercises.

ATTENDANCE MONITORS assisted Mrs. Evelyn Troglia in keeping tabs on the large student body. They computed records of absences, tardiness, and period absences.

With brushes and poster paints, the STUDENT ART LEAGUE stroked through another busy year as art consultants for Pulaski. With the assistance of Mr. Peter Boyajian, the members painted giant posters for all school activities. As prom time rolled around, they supervised and gave suggestions to the prom decorating committee.

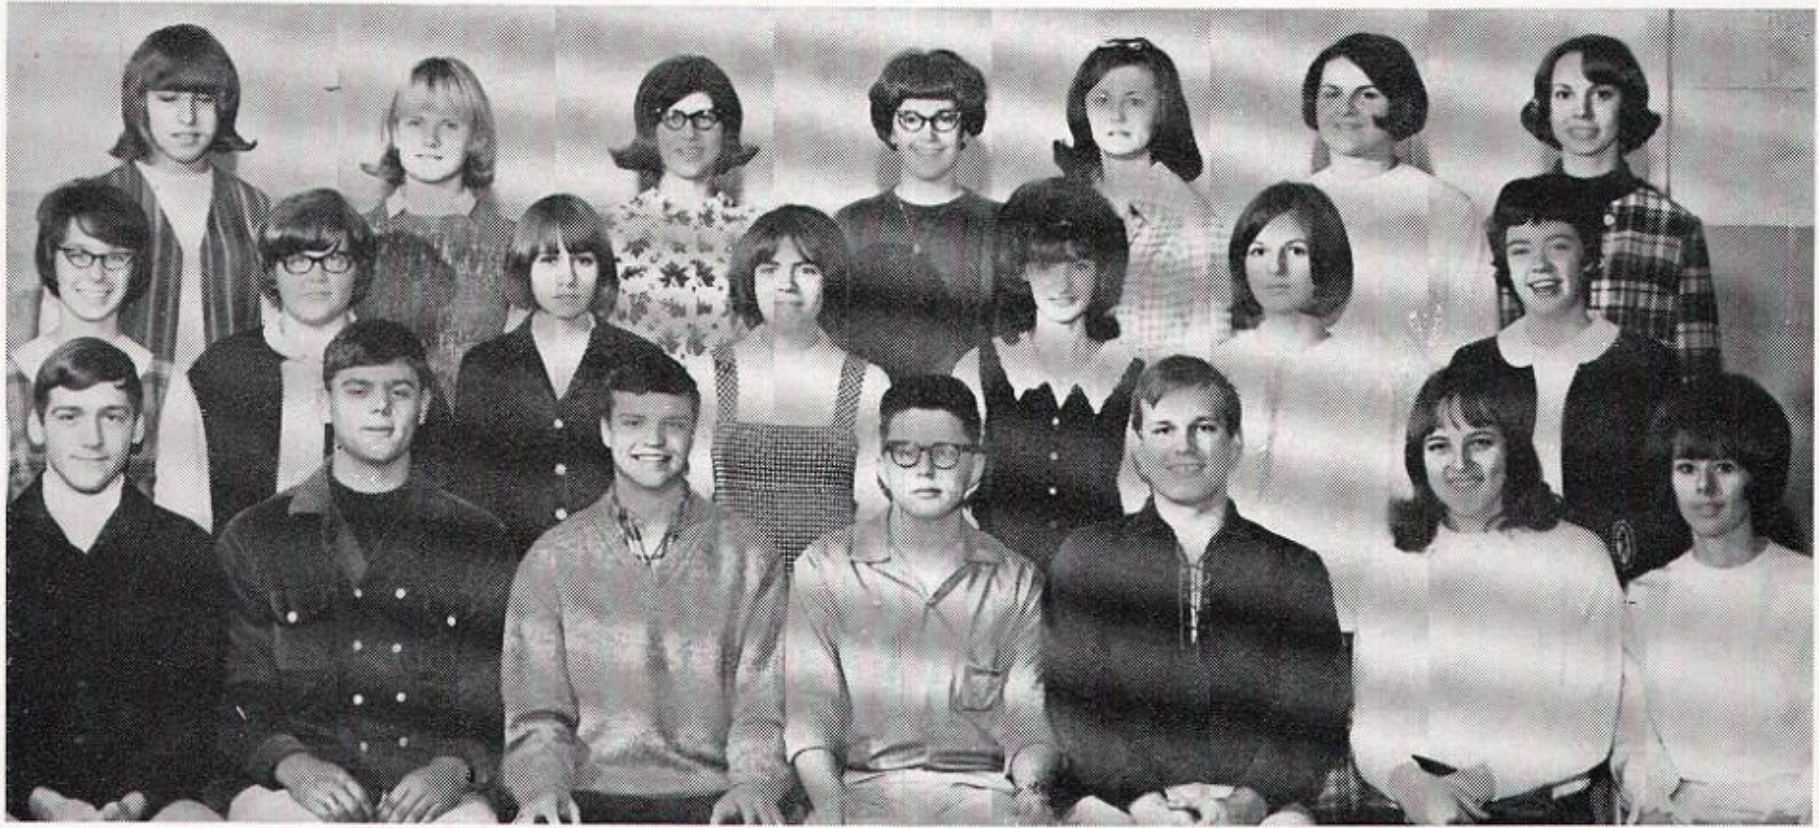

Specializing in behind-the-scenes work, the STAGE CREW, under the direction of Mr. Raymond Calenberg, worked with lighting, curtains, and different sets. They were a necessity to the production of all Pulaski's plays and shows.

Keeping the school running was the favorite pastime of the OFFICE MONITORS. This versatile group of girls gave up study hall time to answer phones, run errands, work at the switchboard, and type office forms.

Clubs Offer Learning and Discovery

Panait Aguayo and Mr. Allman examine a large telescope lens used for star gazing by the members of the Astronomy Club.

All heads turned up to the sky, as the ASTRONOMY CLUB delved into the wonders of the heavens. With the help of Mr. Duane Allman, members learned the uses of various telescopes and astronomical equipment.

Mrs. Woodlock encouraged every homeroom to have a representative in the JUNIOR RED CROSS. These girls were in charge of spreading good will by sponsoring the annual Christmas Soap Drive and the filling of friendship bags with toys for Vietnamese children.

Pulaski girls were familiar faces in neighboring businesses through their participation in COOPERATIVE OFFICE EDUCATION CLUB. Working in such places as St. Luke's Hospital and Mueller Climatrol, the girls prepared for their future secretarial careers.

Newly formed last year, the HOME EC. CLUB furthered the development and practices of good home-making ideas. Displaying their culinary skills, the club served a luncheon to all faculty members first semester.

Intellectual as well as vocal exercise was enjoyed by the members of the DEBATE CLUB. In its third year at Pulaski, the club profited by having experienced speakers as the heart of the club.

The AUDIO VISUAL CREW had a busy year as they ran sight and sound equipment for all productions at Pulaski. They coordinated spotlights, ran tape recorders, and set up microphones to give performances better effects.

Senior

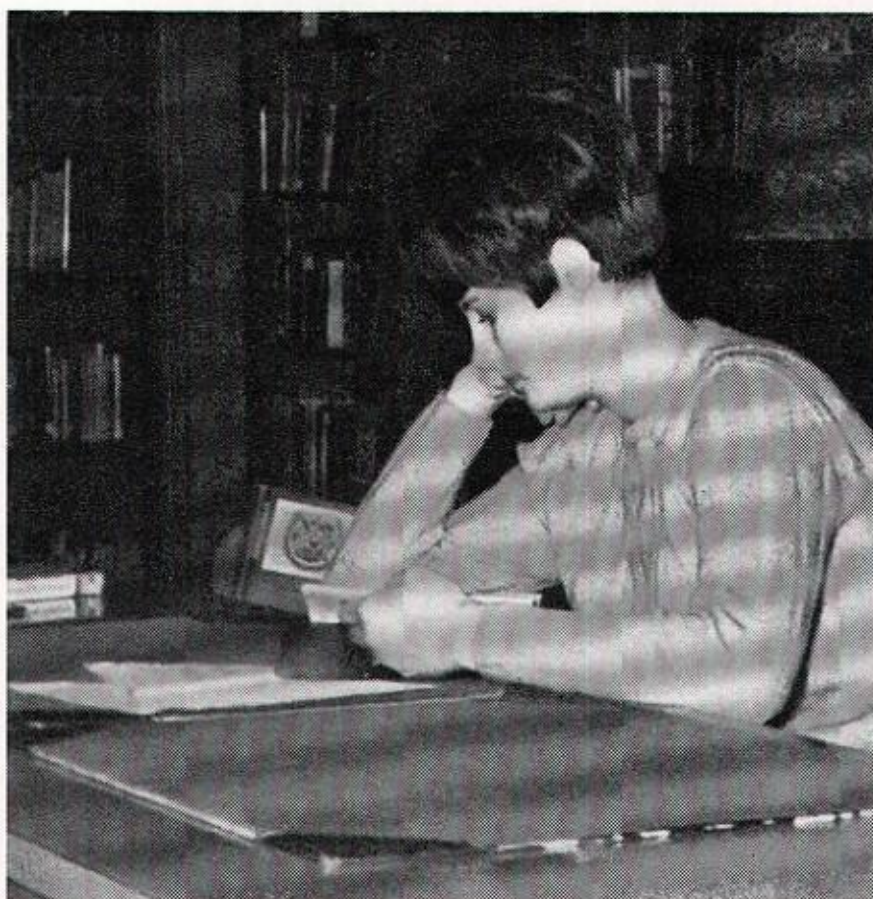

Days – A Time to Reflect

With wobbly knees and trembling hands
Each Senior walked across the stage,
Accepting the diploma, then turning,
Giving a nervous smile to parents and friends,
And heading into a new time, the future.
Reflecting, somewhat misty eyed,
Seniors realized all that Pulaski meant to them.
Since their first days as Sophomores
Pulaski gave them a chance to belong.
They were accepted, trained, and matured,
Not mechanically but through timeless concern.
Seeing the challenges of high school activities,
Seniors took the initiative to lead underclassmen.
They spent much of their time working with others
To materialize their ideas for improvements.
Yet, they knew advice was needed too,
So many Seniors could always be found
In counselors' offices asking questions.
This was the time to decide to enter college
Or to face the work-a-day world,
Both of which took preparation and thought.
On the lighter side, Seniors knew how to have fun.
They outcheered everyone at ball games,
Decorated goal posts, and spread school spirit.
Young enough to giggle, yet old enough to think
Seniors had the time of their lives.

Seniors Work, Worry, and Enjoy Glory

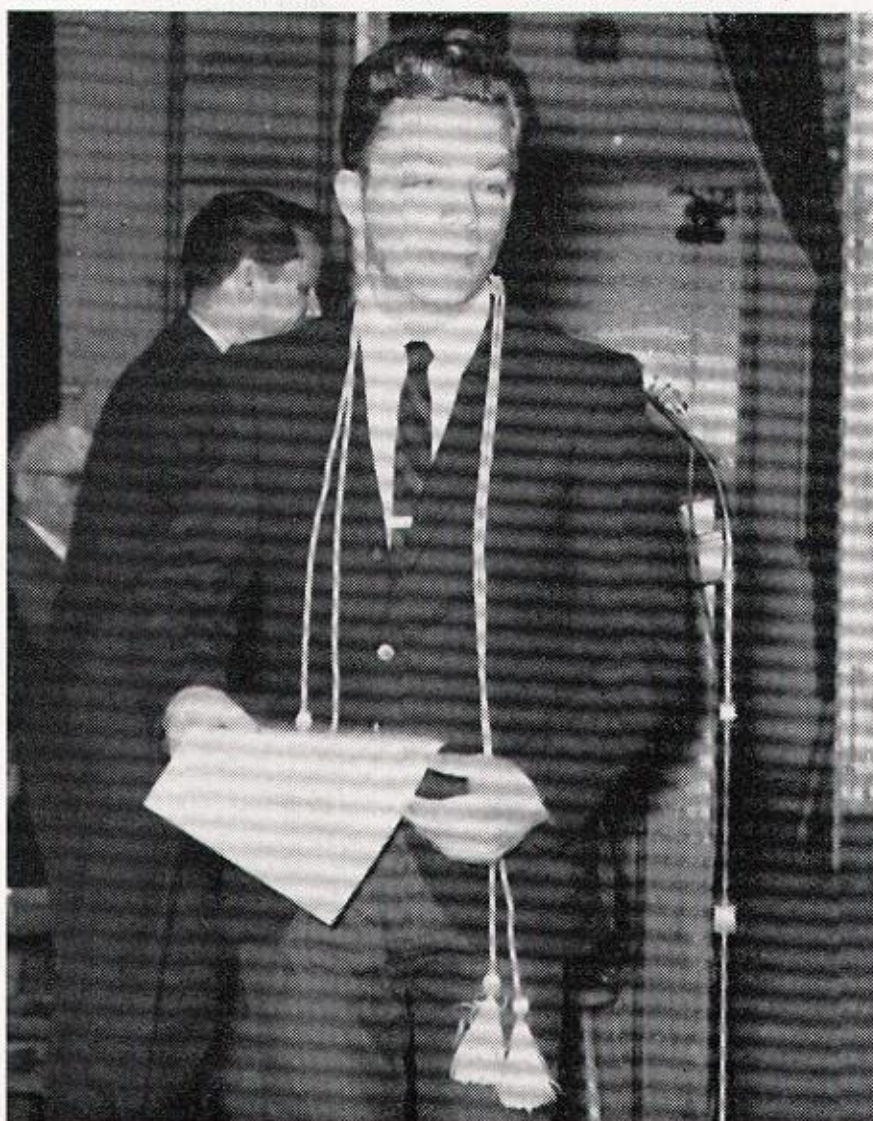

Working in the busy school library leaves little time for reading so Linda Dibelius takes advantage of a few quiet moments.

As the final year rolled around, the faces of Pulaski's seniors beamed with excitement. Tarnished class rings and maroon colored "econ" books aided in their identification. Homecoming brought fond memories never to be forgotten. Proud senior girls wore the traditional homecoming mum which complemented their crimson and navy. At pep rallies the gym vibrated with cheers led by the spirited senior class while underclassmen followed enthusiastically. Able juniors were guided by graduating seniors to fill the positions of club officers. The A.C.T., S.A.T., and other tests devoted to college preparation occupied a share of the senior's time. Making decisions and then filling out applications for future jobs and colleges also kept the graduates busy. With an air of superiority, which they earned during their high school career, seniors strolled through the halls like royalty.

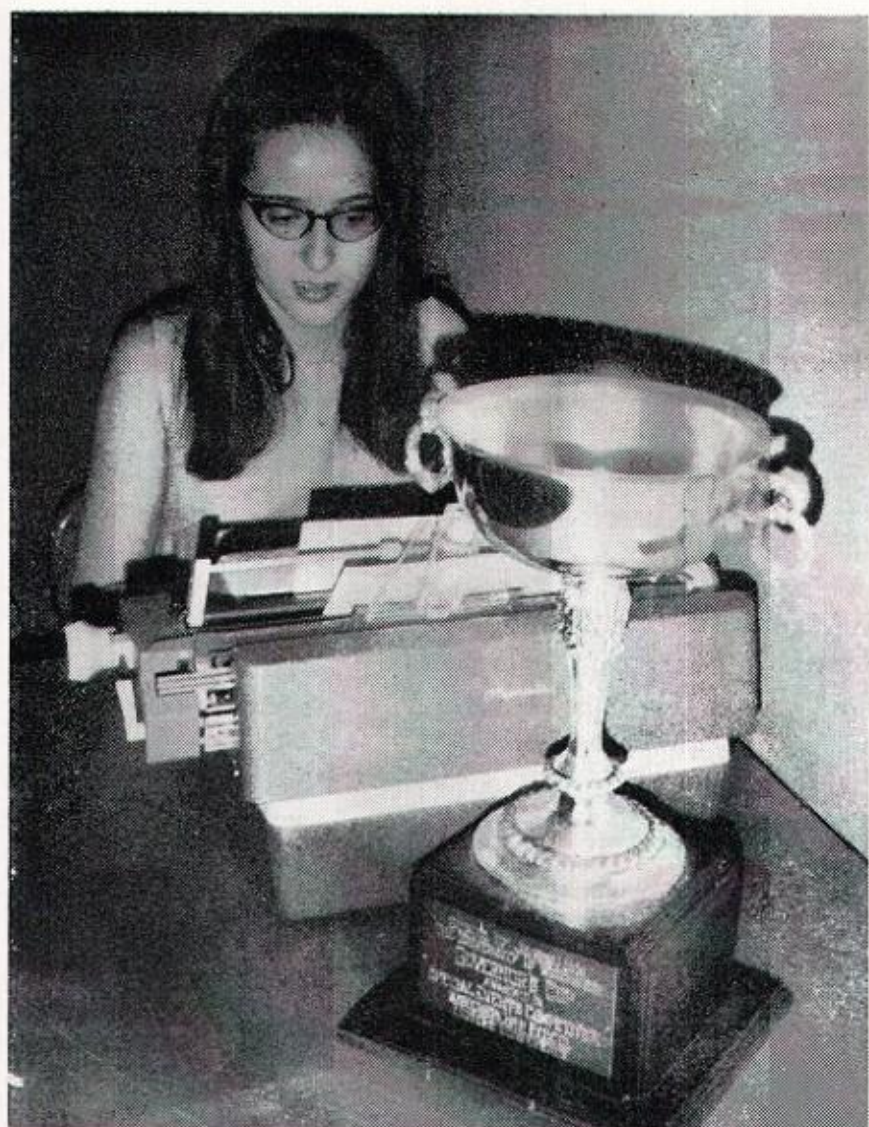

After three years of hard work, fun, and memories, the climactic event of graduation was eagerly awaited. With a world of unlimited opportunities before them, seniors confidently accepted their diplomas and took one step further into their futures.

On Honors Day, Mr. Yesko presents Thomas Hudzinski with the Special Education Graduate Honor Award for excellent achievement.

Assuming a position of authority, DuWayne Stachelski, Student Council President, directs collection of Thanksgiving baskets.

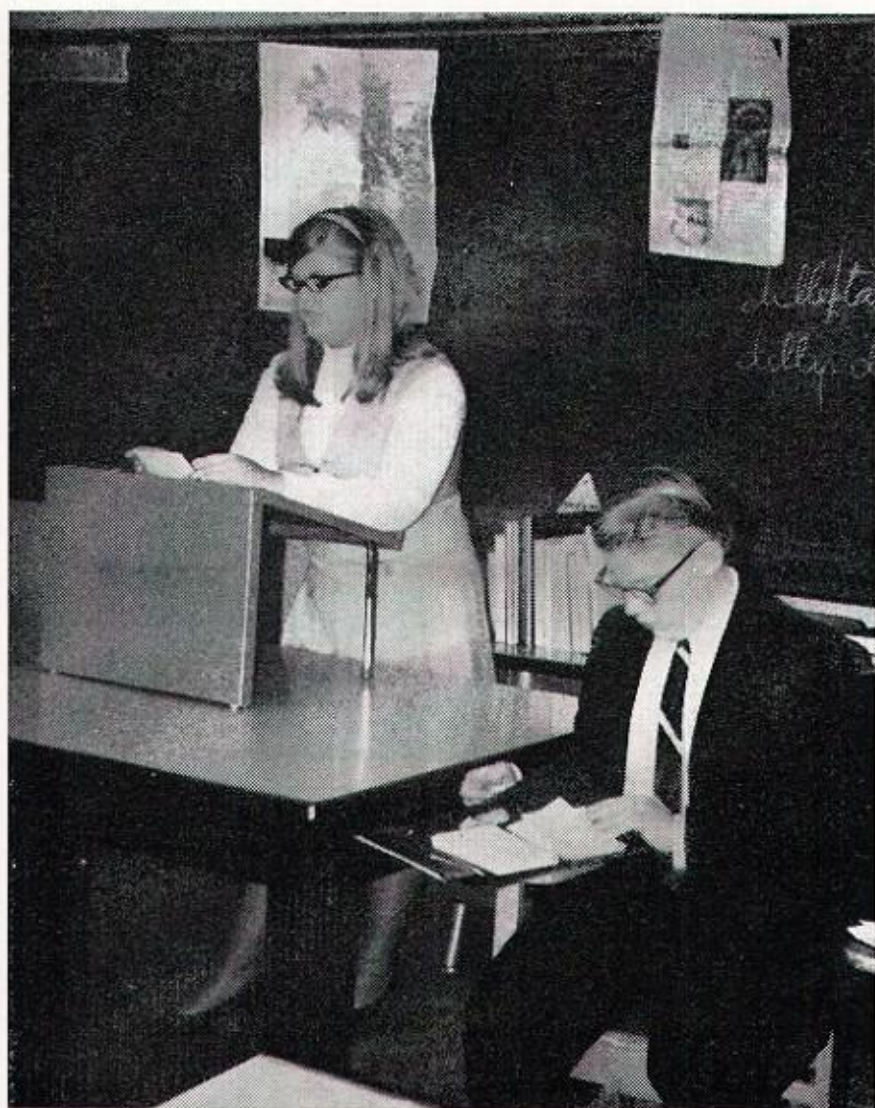

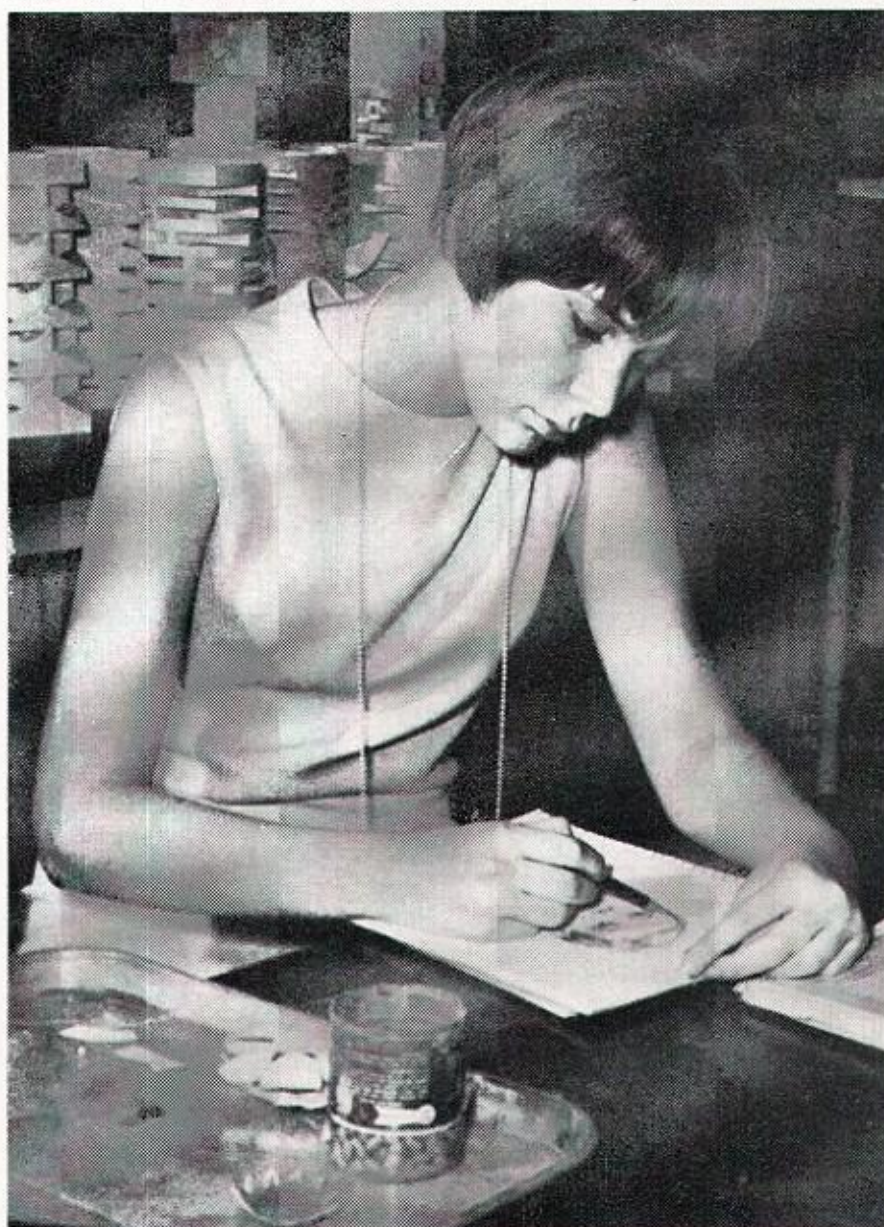

Continuing her role as Copy Editor and Reporter, Marlene Fritz works in the shadow of her prized Governor's Cup.

Homecoming King Doug Czaplewski and Queen Donna Drobac smile regally as they are presented to the student body at the pep rally.

Pulaski debator Marva Ackerman verbally assaults the argument of her affirmative opponents from Bay View.

Mary Richter displays the technique which won her a first place award in the Milwaukee Journal student calendar art competition.

January Grads Get a Head Start

With their total accumulation of knowledge and experiences, 196 Pulaskians bid a sad farewell to their alma mater in January. The multitude of activities surrounding graduation were organized by the senior planning committee along with the elected class officers. Miss Jean Kopp and Mr. Ronald Stram, class sponsors, had the final say on arrangements for the traditional banquet, breakfast, and baccalaureate services.

The words of Dr. Lawrence Blum, professor of Educational Psychology at UWM, sounded as a final but hopeful note on graduation night. The proud graduates turned their tassels, shed a few tears, and left Pulaski for the last time. They left behind only their class gift as a "thank you" for the education gained and as a memory for future generations of students.

Commencement Marks New Beginnings

Marlene Fritz
Valedictorian

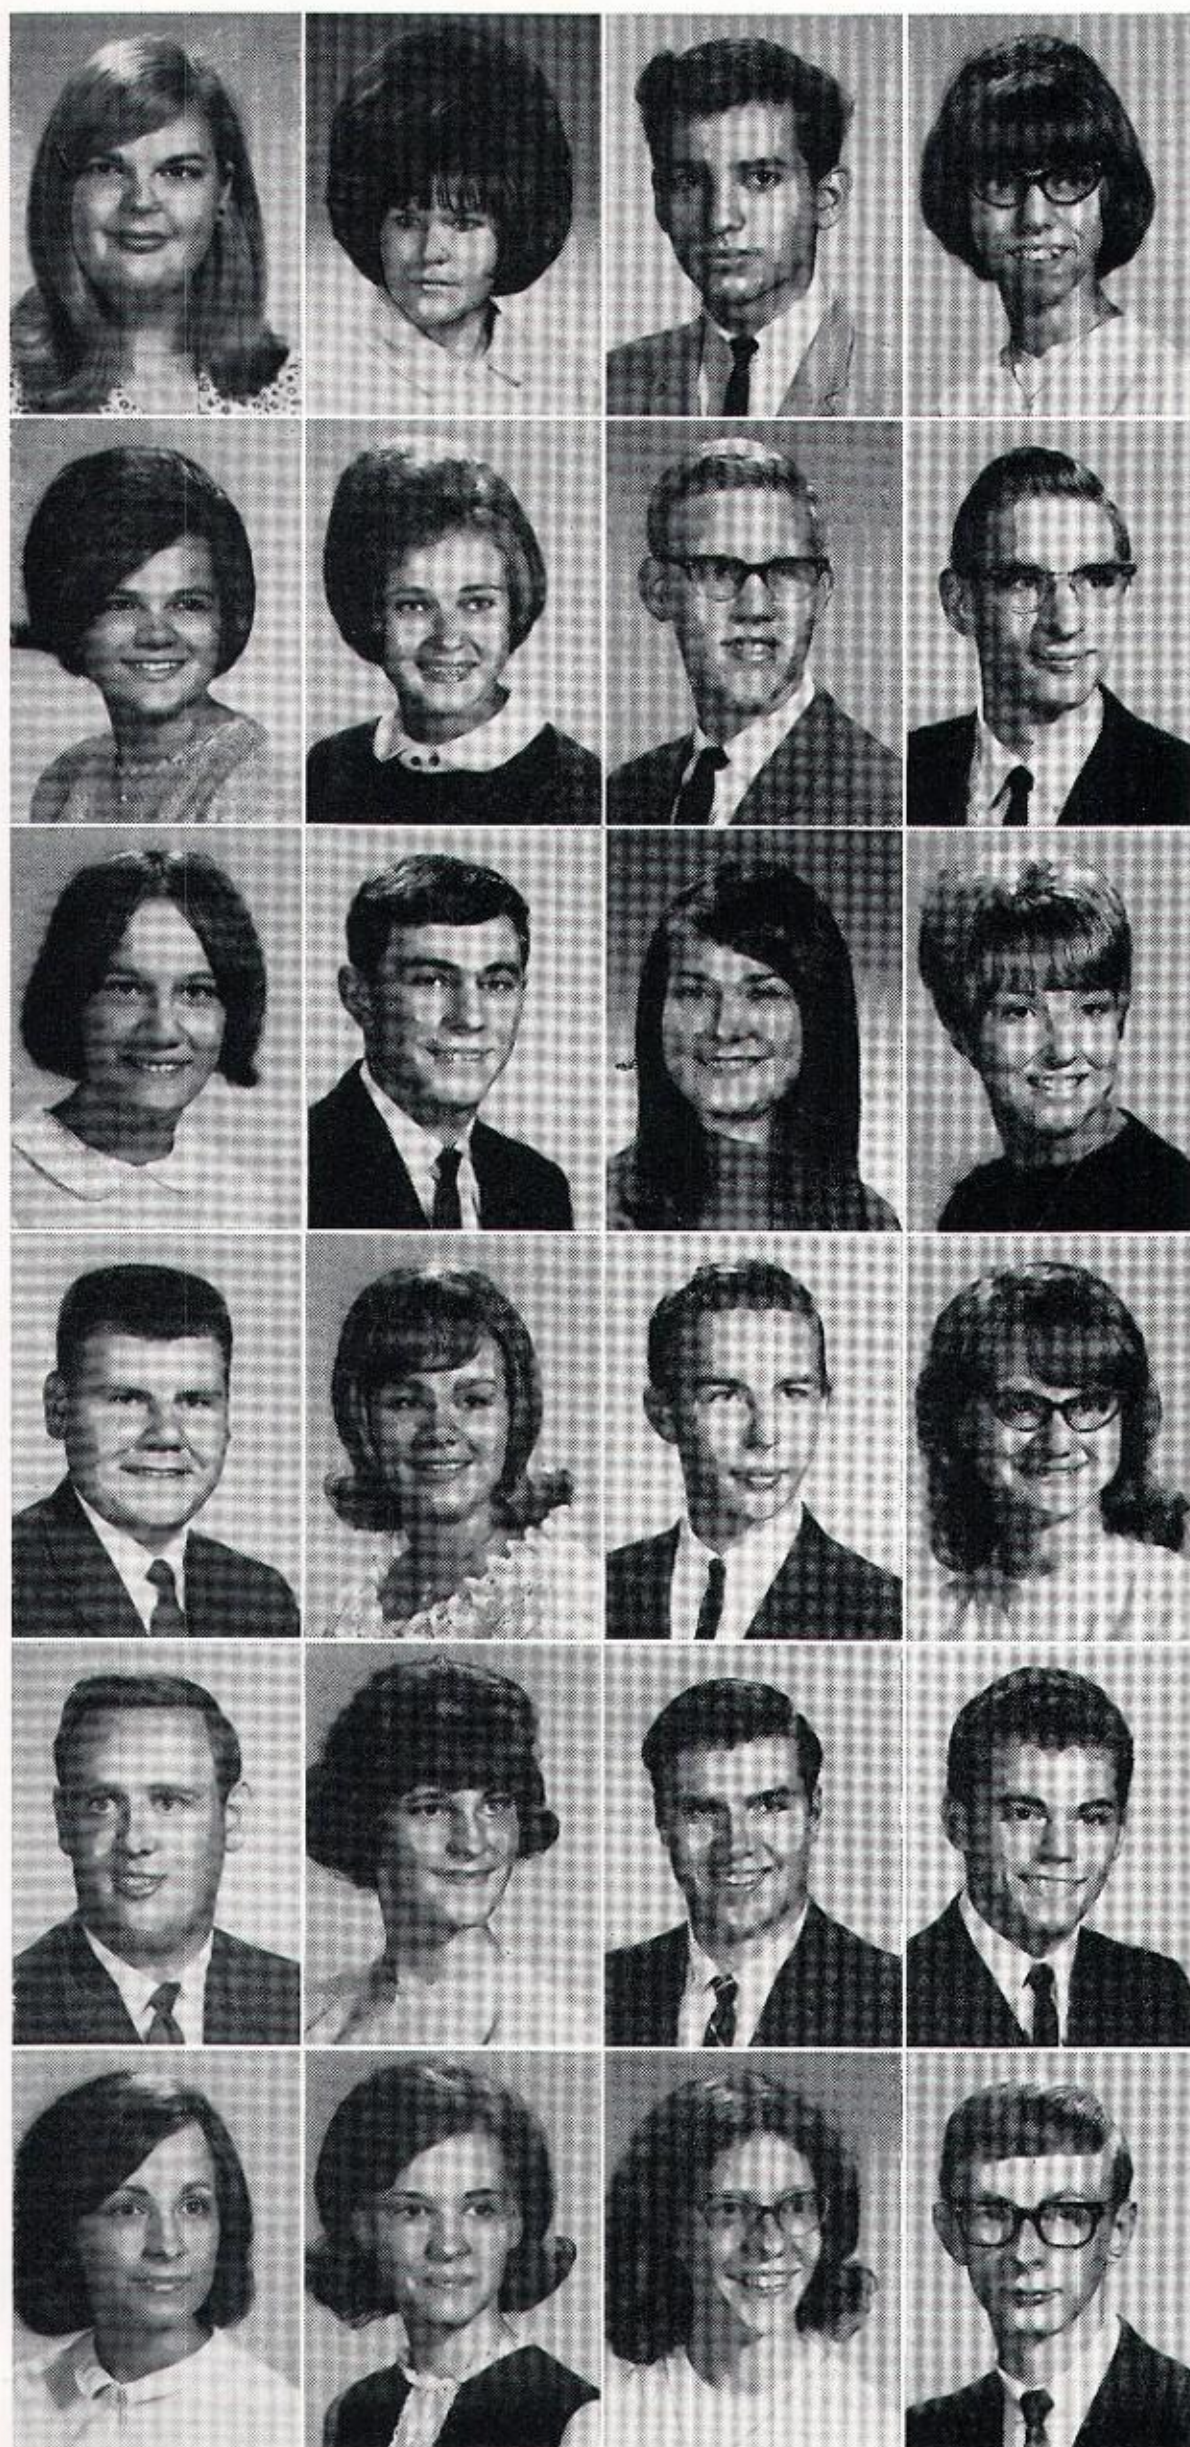

Carter Lupton
Salutatorian

Each year of high school presents new challenges to be met and surpassed. After a two-year struggle, 712 students proved victorious and gained the all important title of "senior." Their last year was traditionally a busy one of preparation for graduation. The senior planning committee, class officers, and class sponsors, Mr. Kenneth Steffen and Miss Rene Gerdes, led in formulation of plans for the important day.

June rolled around at a hurried pace and the graduates found themselves attending baccalaureate services and the banquet. Finally, graduation night was at hand. The guest speaker, Circuit Judge Max Raskin, provided words of advice and encouragement. Chris Reimer, Class President, presented the class gift. While the band played the traditional Pomp and Circumstance, the graduates marched out of Pulaski and up the roads of the future.

June, 1967 – A Time to Close

Time has run out for the 1967 school year,
And, to paraphrase the Bible,
"What gain has the 'student' from his toil?"
Looking back, the accomplishments have been many.
New friendships have started that will last forever.
Careers were selected with counselors' help.
Interests were developed through clubs and sports.
Understanding was reached by working with others.
These gains all stemmed from Pulaski
Whose opportunities gave growth to young ideas.
Pulaski gave each student a time to think
Of life and what it means.
Through the hard times, the cramming times,
Shined the memories of happy times.
There was a time to begin the year with hope,
And now is the time to finish with a feeling of accomplishment.

Leaving with us a cherished memory of herself, Ute Walberg ends her stay and returns to her home in Goslar, Germany.

Waving proudly in the morning breeze, the Pulaski Victory Flag displays her familiar colors for the final time.

The clamoring of the bell is the signal for Pulaskians to make their dash to freedom and greet the fun-filled summer air.

To the
Hon. Secy of the War Dept.
Washington
D.C.

Dear Sir:
I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 10th inst.
and in reply to inform you that the same has been forwarded to the proper authorities
for their consideration.
Very respectfully,
Your obedient servant,
John A. Smith

To Audine
the only gal who could scream at cannon & still get an A
Tom Lila

Audine
Hope to see you up at the cottage this year if I go
Don't know for sure if I will or not. Be good and have fun
this summer

Judy
&
Kenny

Hi Audine,
I think you're a real swimming teenager. Too bad
you're going up north.
What a shame! Demand
your rights!! Oh yeah,
have a blast this summer
& knowing you, I guess
you will shit!! HHH!

WUT,
Lucie *

Best of luck,
to see more of you next year.
Good times in camp & good
to have my B.G. class.
Audine,
An excellent
girl in my B.G. class.
We have had some pretty
good times in camp & good
to see more of you next year.

AUDINE is A
NICE GIRL IN ENGLISH
~~But~~ Don't know for Audie.

A girl in Math class
you beats me up
in Math class and
is into it.
Good luck
Randy
"42"

Audine
a real ex
babe who was a lot of fun
to have in Math class. See you in Sept.

Lynnie

Audine,
I met you
and can't forget
you so I guess
you are ok. Love
you

To the noisest girl in my history class. Thanks for making history such a blast. Looking forward to seeing you next summer.

Connie

To a boss girl
at Pulaski
Good luck
have fun this summer.
Mass

To Audience,
the biggest mouth
in our history class
but your still pretty nice. I wish you
the best of luck in everything you do.

Arvilla

Roses are Redish
Violets are Blush
If it wasn't for Moss
We'd all be Jewel
green
strong

To Audience
I'll never forget
summer school last
year. what a blast
have fun this summer.
and be good. Luck in the future
Tommy

Good bye

To Audience
a very nice

To Audience
I'll never forget
summer school last
year. what a blast
have fun this summer.
and be good. Luck in the future
Tommy

To Audine, crazy nut with
the pennies in history
real blast of a girl
JoAnn

Audine,
To a real fat slob

Audine,
To the most
stupid, idiotic,
nut I know.
You had you have to be a nice
Have fun!!
Donna

To Audine,
one of the best
fat stampers I know
Have fun this summer
and good luck!
Sandi
Gentilli

Snub
your a nut
kid so stay
that way
Meg (college)

Audine,
Cannon's favorite teacher's pet. You had she never knew
the truth about all those pennies! Best of luck next year. You're really a sweet kid.
Nancy Merkel

To Audine,
I hope you've had
fun with your pennies
in Cannon's class.
Good luck in the future.
Linda
Kraft
"67"

To a girl that's out of her mind, has a good humor, and can't stand colleges like me.
Good Luck and I'll see
you around.
Scott

Audience
The swell
girl I've known for awhile. Have fun this summer.
Betty Altstadt

a real nice kid
didn't mind having
locker, honest!
Best of Luck Always and stay good! P/S. Have a fun summer but go easy on those BOYS!
Always,
Tom

To Audience,
To a real cool
kid in my typing
class. Have lots of fun this summer &
be good.

Sharon Mombauer

Don't forget to write to me
often. I'll be happy to hear from you. Love,
Sally

a real sweet babe who talks rather loudly - Guess you have something in common! Don't we??
Don't get into any more trouble
this summer! And remember - be kind to Adam's three year!!

Always,
Bena Baby

Audine, such a rough name for such an excellent babe. Will be suing a lot of such other next year,
so let's try to be friends.

Henry Phillips
"69"

Audine, on lots of luck on
your future!
See you later!

To Audine
Good Luck
Diane

Audine,
you're one of the best friends I ever had. Stay as sweet
as you are O.K!
Just me,
Ginger

to a great spot in English, best of luck
this summer.
O.K. Ginger

Audine,
Have lots of fun this summer, and always be good (even if it doesn't do you any good). Hope to see you next year.
Diane
Bella
